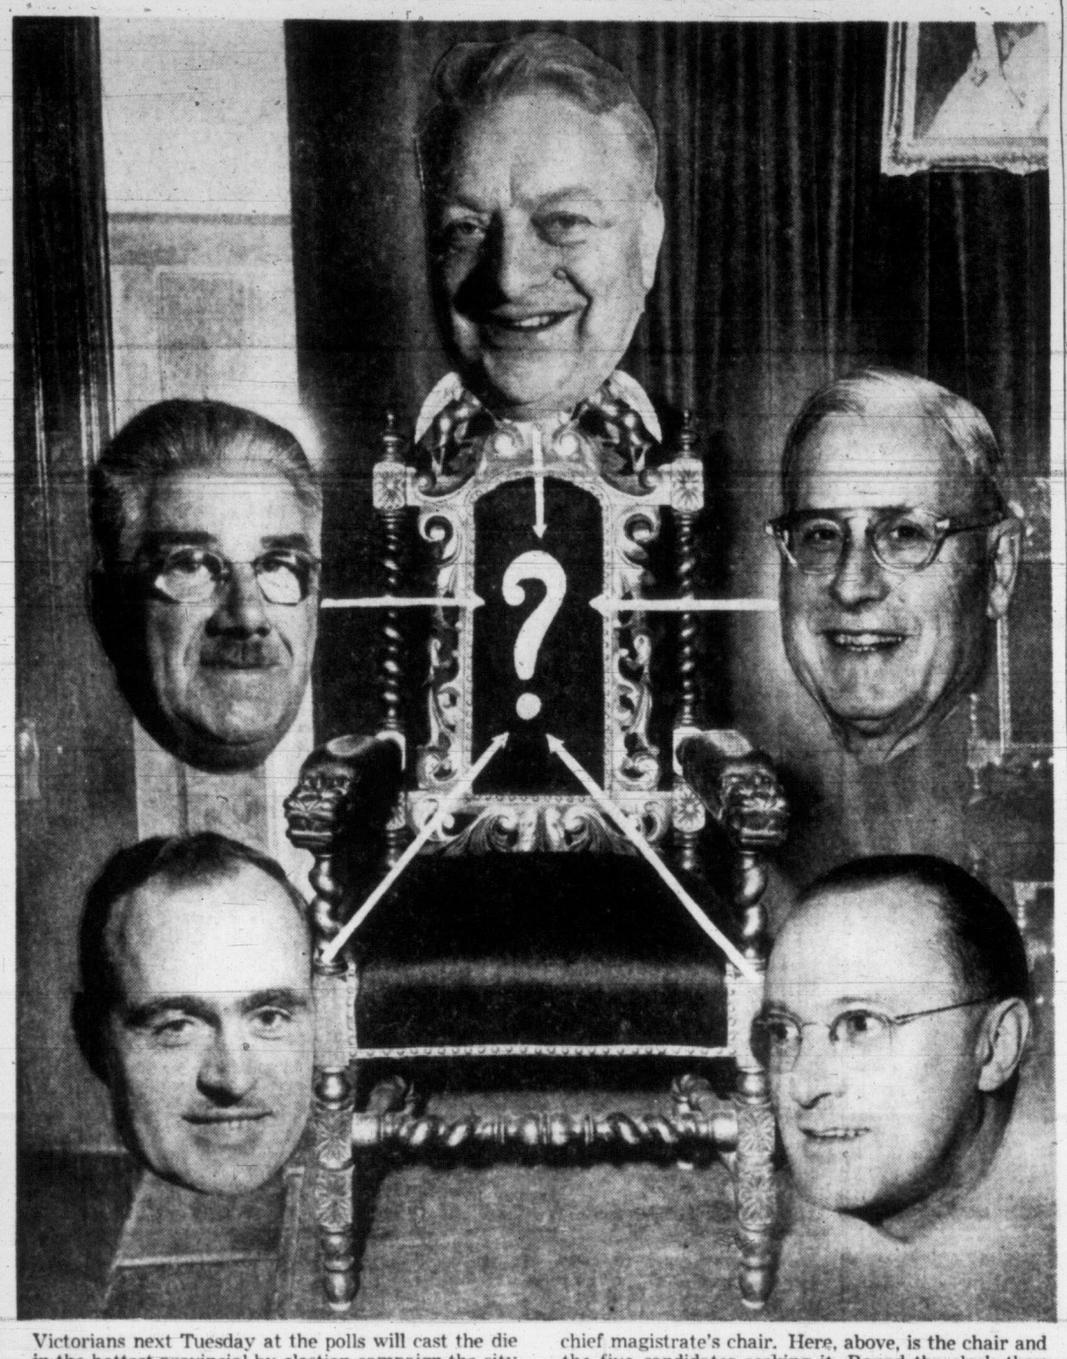
Here We Go for Another Round!



Victorians next Tuesday at the polls will cast the die in the hottest provincial by-election campaign the city has ever known. But that won't end their democratic duties for the year. They will jump immediately into what is shaping up as another sharp campaign for the chief magistrate's chair. Here, above, is the chair and the five candidates seeking it. Round the clock they are: Mayor Claude Harrison, Ald. Percy Scurrah, Ald. Waldo Skillings, Ald. Don Smith and Charles Hunt. (On Page 17 are their biographies and platforms).

Canada Protests Revelation by U.S.

Ottawa Linked to U.S. Spy Probe by FBI Letter

WASHINGTON (UP)—Canada has protested informally about the administration's action in making public a hitherto "top secret" FBI letter that involved information from Canadian sources, it was disclosed today.

Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., declassified the FBI letter and made it public for the first time on Tuesday afternoon before the Senate internal security subcommittee at a hearing on the Harry Dexter White "spy" case.

Canadian Ambassador A. D. P. Heeney called at the State Department and "expressed surprise" over publication of "certain matters offered in testimony before a congressional hearing."

State Department press officer Henry Suydam said Heeney made some inquiries about the matter and the State Department has taken his views under consideration.

"SURPRISED"

Heeney acted under instruction from his government, Suydam said.

The FBI letter which "surprised" the Canadian government was written by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover to the White House on February 4, 1946, two days before White was confirmed as U.S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund.

Hoover's letter said his confidential, highly placed sources in Canada had advised him that White, as either president of the International Bank or as an executive director, "would have the power to influence to a greater degree deliberations on all international financial arrangements."

Hoover's letter also said:

"This (Canadian) source, which is apparently aware of at least some of the charges incorporated in the attached memorandum against White, commented that the loyalty of White must be assured, particularly in view of the fact that the USSR has not ratified the Bretton Woods agreement.

FEAR EXPRESSED

"Fear was expressed that facts might come to light in the future throwing some sinister accusations at White and thereby jeopardize the successful operation of these important international financial institutions."

Hoover's letter said the "comments" on White "originated with sources high placed in the Canadian government."

Meanwhile, Rep. Morgan Moulder (D., Mo.), a member of the House un-American activities committee, protested against the group's decision to call off questioning of former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in the White case. An un-American activities subcommittee had planned to go to South Carolina to hear Byrnes, who declined to honor a subpoena "commanding" him to appear in Washington

Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R., N.J.), a member of the Senate internal security subcommittee which has taken over the White and related espionage investigations, called on Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark to come forward voluntarily to tell what he knows about handling of the White case.

FBI CLAIM MYSTERY TO ST. LAURENT

OTTAWA (BUP) — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said today that to his knowledge no Canadian official had ever given the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation "any information" about Harry Dexter White.

The prime minister promised the House of Commons that a full statement on the case would be made soon.

U.S. Spikes Kidnappers' Plans to Wed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The government today quickly spiked the possibility of a death-house marriage for the condemned kidnap-killers of little Bobby Greenlease.

Carl Austin Hall, 34-year-old play boy, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old alcoholic, sentenced Thursday to die Dec. 18 for their crime, both were quoted as saying they wanted to marry.

The justice department announced in Washington that such a marriage will not be permitted.

Hall and his paramour will be executed side-by-side in the two-chair gas chamber at the Missouri state prison in Jefferson City as soon as possible after 12.01 a.m. CST Dec. 18.

They showed little emotion Thursday as they heard a federal judge, carrying out a jury's recommendation, sentence them to die.

But an Espiscopal priest who visited them later said the kidnappers appeared remorseful.

APPEAL UNLIKELY

There is a small chance of an appeal against the death sentence. Roy Dietrich, court-appointed counsel for Hall, said he saw nothing to warrant appealing the decision of Judge Albert L. Reeves.

Wedding Anniversary Brings Warm Wishes

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh observed their sixth wedding anniversary quietly today preparing for their six-month tour around the world.

The Queen requested that it be a quiet day so she could attend to some important family details before they depart Monday to resume the tour interrupted by the death of her father.

Members of parliament joined in wishing the Royal couple Godspeed Thursday and with their wives went to Buckingham Palace tonight for the traditional eve of departure sherry party.

AND BETTER RED-EYE

Operators Want Music in Pubs

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's hotel owners want music for their beer parlor patrons and a better system of serving them "red eye."

In resolutions passed Thursday by the annual meeting of the B.C. Hotels' Association, the hotelmen recommended that "controlled mechanical music be allowed in public houses for the benefit and enjoyment of patrons."

Under present regulations, all forms of entertainment, including music, are prohibited.

Another resolution asked that beer parlors be allowed to serve a customer with one glass tomato juice with two glasses of beer.

Existing rules, which stipulate that patrons can be served a maximum of only two glasses at a time, mean that patrons must take one glass of tomato juice to one glass of beer, the hotelmen said.

They said many customers did not want their "red eye" mixtures to contain 50 per cent tomato juice.

Federal Pay Hike Dec. 1

85,000 Servants, All Services Affected by Ottawa Announcement

OTTAWA (CP)—Pay boosts, estimated at about $57,000,000 a year, are being granted to Canada's civil servants and armed forces personnel effective Dec. 1.

The civil service commission today announced increases to 85,000 federal employees—about 75 per cent of all classified civil servants under government employment.

Involving about 600 classes of workers in practically all federal government departments across the country, the increases were estimated to average about nine per cent and will amount, roughly, to about $30,000,000 a year.

(Classifications, Page 26)

At the same time the defense department announced pay boosts for all armed forces personnel, ranging from $5 a month for the lowest rank to $100 a month for a major-general or equivalent.

These increases, amounting to roughly 10 per cent from other ranks and 8½ per cent for officers, will total about $27,000,000 annually, bringing the total civil service and defense department boosts to about $57,000,000 a year.

BIG PAY BILL

The boosts will bring the government's annual pay bill for civilian and service personnel to about $687,000,000 a year. This bill may be increased still further later.

The commission said that the remaining 25 per cent of the classified civil servants, not covered in the current increases, are "receiving immediate consideration" on salary changes.

The increases mark the first civil service salary revision and the first basic defense forces pay boost since Dec. 1, 1951.

The civil service order includes "almost all professional classes as well as most of the employees in the larger departments," the commission said.

All-Candidate Debate Set For Monday

The stage was set today for an all-candidate debate at a Social Credit rally at the Royal Theatre next Monday night.

The debate is an upshot of a challenge by Liberal candidate George F. Gregory. He challenged Finance Minister Einar Gunderson to a debate on the government's record on a neutral platform.

Mr. Gunderson rejected the challenge because he had meetings every night this week. He made a counter-proposal that all candidates participate in a debate, under an impartial chairman, at the Socreds' final rally next Monday.

In a letter to Mr. Gunderson, accepting the invitation, Mr. Gregory said:

"I have attacked you from the platform and over the radio for what you have done as minister of finance. But for you as an individual I have the very highest regard.

"You have assured me of a fair hearing, and I accept your assurance without question."

Mr. Gregory asked Mr. Gunderson to inform him of the agenda for the debate.

CRUCIAL FRENCH VOTE TONIGHT

European Army Backed By U.K. Says Bidault

PARIS (UP) — Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, in a stirring appeal for French approval of the European army plan, told the national assembly today that Great Britain has agreed to link itself by treaty to the six-nation European defense community.

The frail and ailing Bidault, who had worked throughout the night to complete his speech, faltered and paled midway through his three-hours long text and was assisted from the assembly chamber.

His foreign office deputy, Maurice Schumann, completed reading the address to the packed chamber.

Bidault's disclosure that Britain has agreed to link herself formally with the EDC answered the complaints of many French deputies who have objected to the army plan largely because of Britain's refusal to ally herself closely to the European army.

Until now Britain has insisted that her commonwealth commitments made it impossible to tie herself militarily to the continent. Bidault's disclosure thus marked a major policy switch by Britain.

"The negotiations carried out by the interim committee," the foreign minister said, "have led our English friends to reconsider their position that their envisaged association (with EDC) should be merely a unilateral declaration, but should lead to a treaty between the United Kingdom and the member states of the EDC and binding the military commitments made by Great Britain in Europe to its co-operation with the EDC," Bidault said.

Socialist deputies who have led the fight for such an association between Britain and the European defense community hailed the announcement as "highly pleasing."

Bidault's masterful presentation of his case was interrupted when he apparently was seized

Culpable Neglect

An inquest jury investigating the death of three men in a Malahat car crash Nov. 10 found truck driver John Keith Dewar, who survived the collision, showed culpable neglect in a verdict returned this afternoon.

It added a recommendation that all such trailer-trucks as he was driving be equipped with a system of synchronized truck and trailer brakes. (See story on Page 17).

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Mabel Alice Osborne died in her gas-filled apartment here Thursday night. She was the 74th person to die from domestic gas poisoning in the city this year.

Last Link in Highway Outlet Under Way Before Christmas

Tenders have been called for construction of the second portion of Victoria's new Island Highway outlet, Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi said today.

The six-mile stretch from Burnside to Goldstream will complete the project.

Work will start before Christmas. Deadline for bids is Dec. 4.

Completion of the job will take about 18 months. Engineers report a considerable amount of rock removal will be necessary.

Work on the first portion, from city limits to Burnside Road, is rapidly reaching completion.

The outlet is being built to Trans-Canada Highway standards, and half the cost paid by the federal government. The pavement will be 24 feet wide, with 10-foot shoulders.

Here's a rough description of the route of the second section:

The highway will go over the CNR track, head up towards Thetis Lake, passing it at the south end, then go in a fairly direct line through virgin country across Millstream Road and Brock Road.

It then will skirt the south end of Florence Lake and proceed through a saddle just north of the highway along the side of Langford Lake. The new road will join the old in the vicinity of the berry farm at Goldstream.

Only 34 Out At Advance Poll

Only 34 Victorians turned out Thursday to vote in the advance poll at the YMCA for the Nov. 24 by-election.

The poll is for persons who will be out of town on election day.

Voting is from 1 to 9 p.m., today and Saturday.

STRIKE THREAT FACES BRITAIN

LONDON (Reuters) — The government may act within the next few days to prevent a 24-hour shutdown by 2,000,000 workers in Britain's vital engineering and shipyard industries, it was learned today.

The strike, called for Dec. 2, was approved Thursday by leaders of the neutral Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions to back claims for a 15 per cent pay increase. It would be the biggest industrial stoppage since the general strike of 1926.

NO ONE LEFT TO STAB HER

He Gave Carmen the Aria And Headed for the Showers

CHICAGO (UP)—A temperamental tenor, who stopped in mid-aria during a performance of "Carmen," stalked off the stage and left the startled heroine with no one to stab her, apologized today "for this bitter thing I have done."

It was, perhaps, the first time in the history of opera that Carmen ever died of natural causes.

Near the climax of the fourth and final act of Bizet's masterpiece, Thursday night, tenor David Poleri of the New York City Opera Company stopped singing and shouted "Finish the opera yourself."

The stunned audience was silent as Poleri, who was appearing in the role of Don Jose, stalked off the stage.

The most dismayed person in the huge Civic Opera House, however, was soprano Gloria Lane, appearing as Carmen.

In a memorable display of showmanship she limped on to the climax and final curtain, singing to an absent hero and falling dead with no one to slay her.

Miss Lane even managed to keep a straight face when she sang "leave me, Don Jose." By this time Don Jose already had gone to the showers.

Earlier in the day the opera company was faced with another crisis when its leading soprano quit her job because she was "scared to death of the Chicago critics."

The feud that touched off Poleri's departure was between the tenor and Joseph Rosenstock, conductor and general director of the New York company, which is here for an extended series of performances.

As Miss Lane later put it, "the tenor was in one tempo and the conductor was in another." Poleri addressed his remarks to Rosenstock in the orchestra pit.

"Impossible behavior," fumed Rosenstock after the opera. "An insult to the public and other performers."

He did not indicate whether he would fire Poleri.

The distraught tenor repented at his hotel.

"If I, only in some way, could apologize to the public for this bitter thing I have done," he said.

"It has always been my intention, and my only intention, to sing, sing, sing!" he said. "The frame of mind between conductor and performer is something I can't explain at this moment."

During Miss Lane's enforced solo another tenor offstage finally took up the aria and sang Poleri's part from the wings.

NEWSPAPERS FLAYED

Deliberate Distortion Says Bennett

Premier Attacks Times Executives, Claims Election Issues Clouded

A tumultuous Social Credit meeting last night heard Premier W. A. C. Bennett hit at Times Publisher Stuart Keate and Times Editor Bruce Hutchison, and defy the paper to print what he said.

"When the publisher of the Times tries to becloud the issue, we accept the challenge," he said.

Mr. Bennett took exception to the editorial stand of the Times in connection with next Tuesday's by-election in which Finance Minister Einar Gunderson is hoping to win a seat in the legislature.

He was also critical of news reporting which, he intimated "left out" certain facts in Socred campaign speeches.

Mr. Bennett said of Mr. Keate: "He said he couldn't sleep (in a recent radio address). Well, when a person can't sleep he must have a conscience to bother him."

(Mr. Keate had said in a man-on-the-street broadcast that he "lay awake for an hour worrying" about the venom of political broadcasts which charged that former government officials "were only in office for what they could get out of the tax-payers."

(Mr. Keate said that it was "nefarious and almost subversive to suggest that every man in public life was a crook," and that Canadians of all parties had been served by men of ability and integrity. Whitworth Stanbury, Social Credit official who participated in the broadcast, commented: "Everything that Mr. Keate has said is true . . . I agree with every word of it.")

Mr. Bennett quoted the Times publisher as saying there were no political machines operating in the province, but said "he doesn't have to talk on the radio to get his propaganda over, all he has to do is ask his colleague, Bruce Hutchison."

Mr. Bennett then referred to a book of Mr. Hutchison's "The Fraser" and quoted from page 189.

The Times editor had written in the 1950 book: "Vancouver has produced some of the worst politics in Canada. The famous machine which has domiated public life without interruption for more than 50 years, has appointed its princelings to Senate and bench, has won elections with more money than prayers and always found that investment profitable, is about as efficient and ruthless as any in the nation. Governments, in both Victoria and Ottawa, have often tried to shake it but they have never succeeded, for it can deliver the votes."

He said of Mr. Hutchison: "It must have burned his inner heart to put it down."

Worley Would Wager on Suppression

Further, "you have the answers in Bruce Hutchison's book. These are the forces we fight."

(At this point the premier's secretary, Ron Worley turned to the Times reporter and offered to bet $10 that the challenge and the premier's statements would not be printed.)

Mr. Bennett said also, "I have nothing personal against Mr. Keate."

Earlier he said, "I ask Social Crediters not to be bitter. Don't fight individuals but policies."

Of newspapers generally he added: "They forget what they write from one day to another. What they can't stand are our smiles."

A somewhat warm session followed in the question and answer period in which W. A. Scott, ousted Social Credit party man, held the floor most of the time.

He told the 75 persons present that "I was purged from the party without a trial. I have nothing against the Social Credit philosophy or principles, even though they drummed me out of the party."

Mr. Bennett replied that he was "glad" Mr. Scott believed as he did, but that he personally had his doubts, particularly as he saw a letter in the paper signed W. A. Scott which was pro-Liberal and anti-Social Credit. And was it his letter?

"That was my letter," said Mr. Scott.

"Mr. Scott is doing everything in his power to defeat Social Credit. He is opposed to us and to Mr. Gunderson in this election," said Mr. Bennett.

"I want to deal with Mr. Scott . . ."

At this point there was considerable furore in the hall, the Victoria West Community Centre. Voices said, to Mr. Scott, who was trying to interject: "O shut up! Question! Out of order!"

Mr. Bennett went on: "You are doing a disservice to Social Cradit, but . . . I feel no bitterness, I forgive."

Said Mr. Scott: "You hurt me first."

Mr. Bennett: "The government is not taking dictation from Mr. Scott or anyone else."

Then the ousted party member brought up the question of the two civil servants suspended for accepting changes in bid for a tender. "Has it been settled?" he asked.

The premier replied that the pair had been suspended one month, that the civil service had not brought up the question of further dealings with the couple, and that the opposition had not mentioned it in the House.

"The action was for the best interests of the people of the province" he said, then called for a standing vote of those present.

All but four persons in the audience stood, endorsing the premier's disposal of the matter.

Mr. Scott did not stand.

Among other points made by Mr. Bennett:

"Now that the debt is down to $157 millions all the other parties are trying to take the credit.

"Hospital insurance was chaos when we took over. It took clerks days to answer letters. We saved $400,000 in staff and operation reductions alone. Hospital insurance is in better shape than it has ever been.

"We have more paid up members than all the other parties put together.

"They try to use a sacred act (concerning Mr. Gunderson's attendance at the Cenotaph and the premier's absence) to blacken the people's government.

"Gregory . . . I think he'll be trying to join Social Credit soon.

"The formula we follow (in taxes) was not thought out by us but by former premier John Hart.

UNANIMOUS CHOICE—Walter P. Reuther (above) today was elected unanimously to his second straight term as president of the CIO. The 700 delegates attending the labor union's national convention returned the 46-year-old president to office by acclamation. The convention also returned other CIO executives to office. Before the election the delegates approved a resolution pledging to lead the fight for the guaranteed annual wage as the new bargaining goal for organized labor.

Generous Citizens Ensure Youngsters Joyous Christmas

There'll be a lot of happy children this Christmas, thanks to generous Victorians.

Close to 500 people flocked to the Ed Farey Christmas Party Fund dance Thursday night, packing the Victoria Ballroom for an evening of modern and old-time dancing.

With two orchestras in attendance, patrons enjoyed themselves dancing everything from hot "jazz" numbers to the most complicated "squares."

All the proceeds from the dance are being used for the Ed Farey Christmas Party for youngsters of the Solarium, the Protestant Orphange, the Nanaimo Indian Hospital, and the two public city hospitals.

Red Officers Refuse Parley With Bolters

3 Korean Soldiers Seek U.S. Protection

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Communist officers today refused a face-to-face meeting with three Korean soldiers who Thursday night bolted from a Red troop unit and were given refuge in an American sentry box.

The three said they were South Koreans and had been shanghaied into the Communist army after being captured.

The Reds insisted that the three be returned immediately, but the United Nations command said they would be turned over to Indian custody. If they refuse to go back to the Reds, all presumably will be liberated in South Korea.

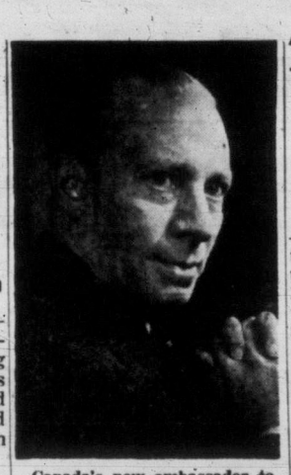
An Indian spokesman for the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission said "no single man on the commission said "no single man on the commission can decide this, and it will have to be discussed at the full sitting of the commission tomorrow."

REFUSE TO APPEAR

Communist members of the Panmunjom joint observer team refused to appear today for an investigation to determine the identity of the three fugitives.

The three soldiers, still dressed in Communist uniforms, talked to correspondents through an interpreter.

They said they were captured by the Communists in 1950 and 1951 and forced into the Red armies as laborers with a North Korean army unit.



Canada's new ambassador to France is Jean Desy, named to succeed Maj-Gen. George P. Vanier, it was announced in Ottawa today. Vanier announced his retirement this week. Desy, 60-year-old Montrealer, who has served in diplomatic posts in Italy, Brazil, Belgium and the Netherlands will take over his new position January 1.

RECOVER BODIES

BONANZA, Utah (AP)—Rescue workers have recovered the first of eight bodies of miners killed in a Nov. 5 explosion and fire at the American Gilsonite Co. mine here. Company officials believe five of the eight men died near the spot where the body was found Thursday, and expressed hope that more bodies will be recovered soon.

'WRITE THIS OFF AS ZERO'

Russia's 'Neutrality' Holds Up Korea Peace Parley Talks

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) —A Communist tirade against the United Nations for questioning Russia's "neutrality" in Korea today halted progress of talks on opening the peace conference.

The Reds used most of their time at Friday's two-and-one-half-hour conference to deliver a bitter "harangue" at the UN and its special ambassador, Arthur H. Dean.

They insisted that Russia and four Asian nations be invited to take part in the long-delayed conference as neutrals, even though the UN has said the Soviet Union would be required to sit with representatives of belligerent North Koreans and Chinese.

Dean went to the latest conference with hope that the two sides would make further progress, since the Communists had changed their attitude and offered to deny the "neutrals" major voting powers.

But Dean told newsmen following the argument over Russia that they could "write this off as zero."

Absolutely no progress was made today," Dean said.

Dean said the Communists were "ambiguous" in their defense of the plan to call in Russia, India, Indonesia, Burma and Pakistan as neutral participants.

Knighthood Conferred on Col. Woodward

GOVERNOR INVESTS SERVANTS OF ST. JOHN

Touch of Sword Makes Woodward Knight of Crusade-Born Order

Three ceremonial taps of a sword on his left shoulder created Colonel the Hon. W. C. Woodward a Knight of Grace in the Order of St. John of Jerusalem at a Government House ceremony here Thursday.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Clarence Wallace, invested the Knight of St. John.

The investiture took place in the stately ballroom. A small group of officials of the order, members of the armed forces, RCMP officers and members of St. John Ambulance attended the historic ceremony.

The investiture is an exact duplicate of the ceremony conducted by the Queen in Buckingham Palace.

Col. Woodward, flanked by senior officials of the order robed in dark mantles bearing the Maltese Cross, was presented to the Lieutenant-Governor.

After His Honor had addressed Col. Woodward, the postulant knelt on a stool and received the accolade of the order.

Col. Woodward remained kneeling until His Honor had placed a neck-band around his neck, a star on the left breast and a mantle on his shoulders.

His Honor then instructed Col. Woodward to rise and said: "Confrere, I receive you as a knight of this Venerable Order."

SIMPLE, DIGNIFIED

The investiture is simple and dignified. It is entirely conducted by the Liutenant Governor, acting as the Queen's representative. The prayers and addresses are all said by His Honor, who is surrounded by senior brothers of the order robed in the mantle of St. John.

Although the knighthood carries no title, to be received as a knight in the Order is a high honor. The Order of St. John is one of the oldest orders of chivalry in the British Empire, having been founded during the Crusades.

St. John Ambulance is a branch of the Order.

The Lieutenant-Governor was assisted at the investiture by Chancellor of the Order C. A. Gray and W. J. Bennett, chief commissioner, of Ottawa.

His Honor also invested his wife and Mrs. Woodward as Dames of Grace in the order, and 21 other workers of St. John Ambulance with various ranks, as follows: Dr. H. R. Mustard, D. N. W. Grubb, W. S. Woods, A. Noble, A. W. Barr, Dr. I. A. Balmer, F. C. Carroll, Mrs. B. H. Chambers, Mrs. D. Cook, K. Carpenter, all of Vancouver; Archie Smith, Dr. W. W. Bell, Mrs. M. Sampson, Mrs. M. H. Aitkin, Miss G. Hewlings, Mrs. E. Humble, all of Victoria; G. H. House, New Westminster; D. C. Miller, Kamloops; Surgeon-Captain T. B. MacLean, Esquimalt; Mrs. R. Shillington, Kelowna, and R. K. Cairns, Duncan.

FOR RISKING his life in bringing aid to an injured RCMP constable at the bottom of a 700-foot canyon on the Nechako River in October of last year, Ken Carpenter received the bronze life-saving medal of the Order of St. John at Government House Thursday. The presentation was made by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace.

Try Balancing Your Budget—Abbott to U.S.

Canadian Minister Gives Tax Pointers

NEW YORK (BUP)—The man who has cut Canadian taxes and still balanced the country's budget told American businessmen today how he does it.

Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, whose financial finesse has drawn the envy of Americans, said his tax system is part of a policy aimed at maintaining high investment while paying for defense and social security without causing inflation.

Abbott explained to the American Management Association that, while making the federal books show a surplus, Canada has tried to develop a corporation tax system "appropriate to our rapidly expanding economy.

"We must maintain a high level of investment in both manufacturing industry and natural resources. At the same time we must gather in revenue sufficient to pay for a high level of defense preparedness and for an expanded social security program," he said.

"Our tax system is part of our policy of achieving this without imposing the unfair burdens of inflation."

Abbott said "tax policy is much easier to devise and to administer when it is backed up by a balanced budget and by the appropriate monetary policies."

Israel Votes to Modify Censure Vote by UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Israel planned an all-out effort in the UN Security Council today to modify a Big Three resolution directing the "strongest censure" against the Palestine nation for the Kibya raid in which 53 were killed.

The resolution, endorsed by the United States, Britain and France calls upon Israel to take effective measures to prevent all such "retaliatory" actions in the future. It comes up for debate today and appeared certain to pass when a vote is taken later this week or early next week.

Israel's delegation denounced the resolution as "one-sided" and "discriminatory" and said the proposal comes "close to condoning armed incursions from Jordan."

An Israeli spokesman claimed that "the draft resolution used language even more extreme and intemperate than was ever applied by the UN, even to aggressive wars causing thousands of casualties, such as the invasion of Israel in 1948."

While the Israelis sought to modify the proposal Dr. Charles Malik of Lebanon, representing the only Arab country on the council, considered the introduction of a stronger resolution which would demand reparation for the Kibya incident and punishment of those taking part in it.

Readjustment, Now or Later

THE DANGER THAT CANADA, by its high production costs, would price itself out of foreign and domestic markets always was latent in the inflationary boom of recent years. Lately it has become real and emergent in some vital industries.

Today every granary on the Canadian prairies is running over with unsold wheat while in the world market wheat is selling below the price fixed by the International Wheat Agreement and asked by our Wheat Board. So far as many agricultural products are concerned, we have set a price which most of the world—almost all of it except the United States—cannot or will not meet.

It is easy for politicians to talk about reviving our old farm markets in Britain, the Commonwealth and Europe but our farmers, naturally, will not accept the prices prevailing in those countries so long as they can sell at much higher prices at home or in the United States. We are in danger of concentrating most of our agricultural industry in North America and North America cannot begin to consume all of some products like wheat.

Our shipping industry has virtually collapsed simply because, with its costs, it cannot compete on the seas of the world. Most of our ocean ships have been transferred to other nations' registry or tied up. The Government, for sound reasons, refuses to undertake the costly and unpromising experiment of subsidizing the shipping companies at the taxpayers' expense, and the world's third exporting nation is in the queer position of using foreign shipping almost entirely for the movement of its goods.

The great minerals industry of northern Ontario remains paralyzed by a long strike, the labor unions demanding more pay and the operators replying that, with a fall in metal prices, they cannot afford to raise their operating costs.

In British Columbia a large part of our interior lumber industry is idle for the same reasons. On the coast our mills begin to feel a drop in demand for some products, notably plywood, and on Vancouver Island have reduced their operations and their payrolls. This is a fractional decline so far, the country as a whole remains at a peak level of prosperity but the danger signals are flying.

When timber products begin to meet a new price resistance and the unions demand higher wages in the interior—which is to say higher production costs—a curious solution of this problem is suggested by the International Woodworkers of America. They have seriously proposed in Vancouver that the Federal Government should undertake a gigantic housing program, at the taxpayers' expense, to absorb the high-cost lumber which cannot be sold competitively in Canada or other countries.

There is always sound reason for the state to encourage the construction of houses and this the Canadian Government is doing by generous housing loans, now offered on easy terms. But if the state is to undertake to subsidize industries like timber where does this process end? What other industries must also be placed on a state dole? How can the taxpayers possibly meet the cost when they are restive under existing taxes? Why, incidentally, should the Government of British Columbia select such a time of difficulty to impose new taxes on our timber as well as our mineral industries?

The sovereign fact of the Canadian economy is that it must export in huge volume, not to buy foreign luxuries like movies, oranges and winter vegetables, which are a small part of our imports, but to buy mainly the raw materials, the very fuel of our own industries.

That fact cannot be escaped by any system of state subsidies, which would simply mean that we would attempt to prosper by taking in one another's washing without taking in the foreign goods that our economy requires. In the end our industries must meet the price offered by the domestic and the foreign market and must adjust their costs accordingly. There can be reasonable, painless adjustments now or drastic, painful readjustments later on. As indicated by the immediate problems of some of our industries, that is the inescapable question that the nation now faces.

Is Debt Being Reduced?

THE BENNETT GOVERNMENT claims credit for reducing the public debt of British Columbia by $34 millions in the last 18 months. As Mr. Byron Johnson has showed indisputably, most or all of the money used to effect this reduction was laid aside by the coalition and Liberal Governments before Social Credit came to office. But has there been in fact any such reduction in debt, even with the use of the former Government's savings?

The public debt does not consist only of the money borrowed directly by the Provincial Government. It also includes every debt contracted by some other authority and guaranteed by the Government. For example, when the B.C. Power Commission borrows money it is expected to pay the interest charges and repay the principal at fixed dates, but its borrowings are part of Government debt though they have not been so regarded in Government bookkeeping. The same is true of borrowings by local school boards when they are given a Government guarantee. In their case the Government not only underwrites the debt but agrees to pay half of the interest and debt retirement costs itself.

Hence in any true reckoning of the provincial debt all these items must be included. In recent months school boards have borrowed heavily, with Government underwriting. The Power Commission at the moment is negotiating a large loan under similar guarantee. All such new borrowings must be counted against the reduction in the direct debt of the Government. At their present rate they will go a long way towards canceling out that reduction, which the present Government is so loudly claiming for itself.

Where, then, does the real debt stand—the amount chargeable to the people at large however it is distributed in theory? On the present scale of new borrowing, with Government guarantee, will the debt, a few years from now, be smaller than it was when the Liberal Government left office? Is it not likely to be as large or larger? In all the recent confusion of figures is British Columbia reducing or expanding the general mortgage on its people?

These are legitimate questions to be addressed to Mr. Gunderson. When he asks the right to manage provincial finance he should answer them. Unfortunately, no clear answer on this matter or on the Government's policies of increased taxation have been given in the present by-election campaign.

Shall We Feed the Starving?

J. CAMPBELL McNABB IS THE editor of the Alliston Herald, an Ontario country weekly. Through the editorial columns of his newspaper he has asked Canadians to share with him a great ideal. It is simply phrased.

He asks the Prime Minister and the Government of Canada to feed the hungry wth our surplus food.

Mr. McNabb lists the millions of bushels of wheat stored in Canada and unable to find a market. He asks Canadians to write to the Prime Minister and urge him to take "whatever measures are necessary to place Canada's food surplus in the hands of the starving peoples of the world."

The appeal is simple and direct. It should touch the heart of everyone in this country. But the mechanics of the project are complex. Quite apart from the influences such an undertaking would have on the world wheat price—even though the product were shipped to countries which cannot afford to buy it—there is the vital consideration of paying the farmer for his harvest.

In the letter which Mr. McNabb suggests that our citizens send to the Prime Minister he included the paragraph:

"Someone has to pay for it, of course, and as a taxpaying citizen I am prepared to pay increased taxes, if necessary, to finance the project."

There is the kernel of the entire proposal. No wheat can be given away free. Someone must pay for it. If Canada makes the gift, it will be financed by the taxpayers of the nation.

Mr. McNabb is perfectly correct in his assessment of the need. People are starving in other lands. Canada presently has a surplus of food. The challenge is to the individual Canadian. Is he prepared to buy the gift which could mean the difference between life and death to men, women and children in alien lands suffering from standards below the subsistence level?

It should be remembered, of course, that while Canada now has a surplus of wheat, that surplus may evaporate within 18 months or two years. Poor seasons may produce small harvests. There may be a closer need than is apparent for the amount now on hand. And it will be further recalled that Canada has never wasted its wheat. The cereal, even when in apparent surplus in other years, has found its way to mouths of humans or animals. None has been destroyed.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

OUR weekly char (and our very good friend) makes fun of her sister for being vague and casual. For example, her sister lately mailed her some jam in an ordinary brown paper parcel. I don't mean the jam was in tins or even bottles inside the paper. It was just loose in the paper . . . poured onto the paper and then wrapped. Naturally the post office wasn't so amused as our friend was. But our friend herself can do that type of work too. Do it on her head.

Brock

For example, speaking of doing things on her head, her daughter was always urging her to try lanolin on her hair, and one day last week she yielded, and got some out of the tube and smooched it all over her scalp before going to bed. In the morning she didn't think her hair was a bit the better for the lanolin. In fact, it seemed much worse. It was half dried-out and half sticky, and it smelt of peppermint, and there were white streaks all over it.

She complained to her daughter that she'd have to have a shampoo and be late for work. The daughter didn't like the look of the old lanolin treatment herself, till she realized that her mother had used the toothpaste tube by mistake. Now the mother feels the daughter has somehow played a dirty trick on her.

THE LITTLE BOOK WHO WOULDN'T CLICK

ALREADY the bookshops are filling up with children's books for you-know-which season. (I never mention Christmas in this space until December. But don't thank me, it only embarrasses me; and anyway, you're quite right, manners aren't everything.) I see there is still a pretty good line of such stuff as Little Sam the Cement Mixer and Little Freda the Ferryboat and Little Hot-box the Freight Car.

These inanimate objects with Christian names and personalities are not a new thing, of course. Nor are they always aimed at children exclusively. Poets do it all the time. . . Ol' Sis Roof says to Ol' Brer Rain "Don't splash me, Bub." Only in fancier talk. I believe this is called the Pathetic Fallacy, crediting nature, etc., with human emotion.

YOU might call Kipling the father or uncle of the kind of story which deals with the struggles of Little Ernie the Engine and Leo the Loco. He wrote a short story (for grown-ups) consisting entirely of dialogue between locomotives in a railroad roundhouse. I consider it one of his few really grotesque flops. (All right, all right, you devout adorers. I am one of yourselves, most of the time. And even Shakespeare wrote tremendous and resounding flops. Is Kipling higher than Shakespeare?)

Incidentally, why is it that when Kipling makes a story more "vivid" by pasting in a lot of technical jargon and giving you a short lesson in mechanical engineering, etc., this sometimes has the opposite effect to the one he intended? It destroys belief rather than encouraging it. Also, it is sometimes embarrassing. It sounds like a story in the Post, or a radio play by Joseph Schull about life in a sailing vessel.

CONRAD didn't devote whole chapters to men whose whole dialogue was "Better bend fresh cringles and grommets on the drogue, Mister. The garboard strake is spewing her oakum all down the mizzen cat-head. Better goose-wing the binnacle too." I mean, not when it had little to do with the development of character or plot. Yet Conrad not only held his master's ticket in sail and steam but (according to many) had something like an extra-master's ticket in narration also. I fancy Shakespeare was trying a little of this technical word-painting in Act I, scene 1 of The Tempest. But even he didn't like it, which is rare among authors, and he soon left it alone. Prospero doesn't say "Abracadabra!" or "So quick the hand deceives the eye!" In the Post he would.

I've sometimes thought it might be a pleasant exercise in parody to imagine a Post editor fixing up a story by (let us say) Maupassant. To begin with, the story is probably too short. It should be over 5,000 words. And this is easily remedied, because the story lacks not only mere quantity or roughage, but lacks any sort of how-to-be-a-farmer-in-one-easy-story instruction. Farmer, or whatever the story's about. In a Maupassant story you often find a Norman farmer climbing onto a horse-drawn bus. This gives you a splendid chance to give a correspondence course in farming, marketing, driving, and the care of the horse in sickness and health.

THE original would begin: "Jules climbed into the bus and sat down. Opposite him sat a fat old woman. In between drinks of cider she belched thoughtfully." As amended, it would begin: "The bus driver cast a practiced eye over the horse's glanders. 'Looks like a case of the botts,' he moaned. But Jules didn't hear him. Jules was thinking of his Gloire de Cherbourg peaches which he had trained on the wall, espalier. Should there be one to every ten square inches? The horse gave a dry heave, puffing his martingale till the surcingle creaked."

But I haven't time to write it myself this morning. I am engrossed in writing some children's stories for Yuletide. The first is about a little toothbrush who took a terrible pasting. The next is about a little mixmaster who got dizzy. The third is a dilly . . . it is about the little steam-shovel who wouldn't eat dirt. But they all surmounted their difficulties in the end.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"WHY DID HE LAUGH WHEN YOU TOLD HIM YOU'D GIVE YOUR BUSINESS TO ANOTHER BANK?"

From Our Files

Nov. 20, 1893—The pumps at the San Pedro wreck on Brotchie Ledge are working again. Two of them which had broken-down were repaired. The new effort started two days ago.

Nov. 20, 1913—Emilio de Gogorza, baritone, "captivated his audience at the Victoria Theatre last night," wrote the Times' critic. The great singer never had a teacher.

Nov. 20, 1933—The Liberal policy of "Work and Wages" was no mere election slogan, Hon. T. D. Pattullo declared at his desk as he commenced his duties as premier of British Columbia.

Speaking of Politics

AT THE CENOTAPH

From the reports, Premier Bennett and Mr. Einar Gunderson appear to have misunderstood entirely the point of the wide-spread criticism of the substitution of Mr. Gunderson for Premier Bennett at the cenotaph ceremony.

The indignation was not aroused by the war services of either Premier Bennett or Mr. Gunderson. It was aroused by the suspicion that the sacred ceremony was used for political advantage.

DONALD H. SEYMOUR.
3259 Quadra Street.

POINT OF LAW

Is the 3 per cent tax legal when it applies to purchases from the Liquor Control Board? The stock of the board is "Crown" property which is not subject to taxation.

It may be claimed that, before the tax becomes operative, ownership has passed to the purchaser. However the act governing this tax provides that, failing payment of the tax by the purchaser, the vendor (in this particular instance the "Crown") shall be held responsible.

Perhaps some gentleman "learned in the law" might be good enough to give his views on this point.

CURIOUS.

'I FAIL TO SEE'

I would like to say a few words on the supposedly high taxes which the Socred government has levied.

I fail to see heavy taxation. There is a 10 per cent tax on liquor served in clubs, which does not amount to much. Now a 10 per cent tax on profits of $25,000 and over on the logging and mining industries. Why should these logging magnates make these huge profits and government get nothing?

This tax is deductible from federal income tax. This is a step in the right direction to combat this monopoly. There is no mention about the taxes that the government has taken off, namely 10 per cent reduction in car licenses and meals up to a dollar 3 per cent off. This tax reduction is a loss to the government of about $3,000,000. I hear no mention of this except condemnation of the Socred government.

JACK JOHNSON.
RR No. 1, Victoria.

QUESTIONS

The Times can no doubt get along without the subscription of Mr. Jack Johnson, RR 1, Victoria.

Speaking of "fair play" Mr. Johnson, what about the civil servants who after many years of faithful service have been fired and suspended without stated cause? Why is it that the whole civil service in B.C. is tongue-tied and afraid to express itself due to the fear of the Socred government in power. This is a recognized fact to all who know.

What about the half-truths and the juggling of figures indulged in by the Premier and Mr. Gunderson?

Where did the $34,000,000 come from? Why did the Socreds pass legislation to borrow $37,000,000 at the last session? Why did they say they are not borrowing when they have to guarantee the loans? What's the difference? It seems to me they stay awake nights trying to think of ideas to fool and confuse the people.

FRANK PARTRIDGE.
151 Beach Drive.

PROOF, PLEASE

The local broadcasts sponsored by the Social Credit party and voiced by that character known as Don Wilson, are the most contemptibly despicable utterances that anyone could make. When this gentleman, and I use the word with reserve, tells the citizens of Victoria that Liberal politicians and others lined their pockets when in office, he should be forced to prove his statements or forced off the air.

The Victoria voters should take note that all this malicious innuendo comes from a party that fanatically boasts of its fine, pious, Christian principles.

Little wonder that it is becoming more and more difficult to obtain decent and honorable men and women to run for public office.

DISGUSTED.

NO RAMRODDING

I have never been in print before but for a week now I have been wanting to say something about the Socred's mouthpiece who burns up the air six or seven times a day with hot air.

No wonder members are resigning. He puts one in mind of a soap box orator at his best. When anyone tries ramrodding into me what I should do, that is when I think for myself, and oh, if he had power his tone of speech would shame Uncle Joe.

FREETHINKER.

CLOSE NOT YOUR EYES

The most rabid Social Crediter cannot deny the incontrovertible fact that under former Liberal and Coalition administrations, British Columbia has achieved its magnificent and phenominal era of outstanding prosperity — labor, business, industry and the underprivileged all having benefited as a result of former good governments directed by men of dignity, high repute and proven business acumen.

To those gullible and easily influenced believers in the newly imported cult, let me ask that they compare honestly the present leaders with such men in past history as Pattullo, Hart, Anscomb, Pearson, Johnson and others who so ably piloted this province through the vicissitudes accompanying British Columbia's growth.

Make your comparison as you will—character, dignity, ability, personality—and judge the calibre of the makeshift "movement" so deadly shaken by the advent of a young man who, with best Liberal traditions, a splendid war record and local birth has brought the so-called Social Credit "movement" to a sharp halt.

Perhaps we should credit Mr. Gunderson with having reduced hospital insurance rates by less than one cent per day, but other taxes newly imposed far outweigh these "reductions."

The battle for Victoria would appear to be primarily between Gregory, a Liberal candidate, and Gunderson of the Socred "movement." Under such circumstances the present might be opportune to forego allegiance to other respected parties—Socialism and Conservatism—and pull heavily for either Liberalism or Social Credit. And let it be said in all fairness and with the greatest respect for the CCF and Progressive Conservatives that the surest method of preventing growth of this strange, incipient, pseudo-religious cult is to pull strongly at this time for Liberalism—the kind of Liberalism practiced in Canada-at-large — the kind of Liberalism which made this country great and magnificent and the envy of the world.

SIDNEY RIDEN.
985 Wilmer Street.

NO GUARANTEE OF PERMANENCE

There has been a good deal of publicity given to the fact that several members of the Social Credit group have seen fit to resign as members. That is their own business. May I suggest that your paper shall print a list of all the so-called Liberals who have either left or deserted the Liberal party in this city, and where possible, give the reasons.

There is no guarantee of permanence to any political group, as witness the once great Liberal party in England, of Gladstone, Harcourt, Morley, Asquith and Lloyd George. Who killed Cock Robin? I said Mr. Lloyd George, with my patronage bow, I killed Cock Robin.

The same thing has happened in British Columbia, and soon we shall witness the flowing tide of Social Credit, with its finer economic principles, extending across the Dominion, from Alberta and British Columbia to the Atlantic seaboard. Those who attended our recent Social Credit convention in Vancouver, and heard the great Premier of Alberta, Mr. Manning, speak, are convinced that Social Credit principles are being heralded in every province of Canada. "The old order changeth, giving place to the new."

HARRY LANGLEY.

DEBATE DECLINED

Among the blessings of modern science, radio is generally conceded to be the most popular. It enables news, knowledge, and entertainment to circle the globe with the speed of light, and provides a 24-hour outlet for the propagandist, each day.

In Canada, through the CBC, we try to curtail the possible damage to minds and morals that unbridled radio broadcasting could cause, but apparently the law does not require private stations to furnish copies of broadcast scripts to the victims of such broadcasts, when requested.

A local commentator, famous for his unctuous pontifications, was asked by us for a copy of his latest tirade against the CCF. Mr. Pashley would not supply a copy, or even let us read what he had read over the air. We were hoping that Mr. Pashley would let us read his statements, and then meet us in public debate. We should like to meet Mr. Pashley in debate, using his statements as the subject for the debate, but since Mr. Pashley will not let us see his script to check the statements we have heard about it, we can only assume that he has not the courage of his convictions. We do hope though that in future, he will confine his gratuitous mouthings to subjects with which he is more familiar.

F. BEVIS.
President, Victoria Oak Bay Constituency Association CCF.

'WE ARE LAZY'

Responsible government has been the too-easily accepted "treasure" by all of us, yet every four years we have a hand in its making! What have we demanded of it? expected of it?

We are lazy! lazy in our evasions and indifferences towards what our vote begets, and irresponsible in our expectations. This is the era of "serious youth" that went to war and served this Canada of ours!—the youth who "study" rather than "cling" to illusion, who skip losses to make the unknown tomorrow a better place for another generation, a youth that has a feeling for evolution—that deals in truths! We (relics of two world wars) know that a party brewed from political pique and opportunism, and leaning upon the pseudo-philosophies of those named Socreds, has no future in B.C. or Canada.

This is a democracy peopled by those desiring progress with freedom. Strange provincial history has been made, but in this coming by-election let's be Canadians building up and strengthening an opposition representing balanced government. George Gregory personifies our needs, he is of the stuff of this generation and of this city.

ALBERTA PARALLEL

I would like to point out that in some respects the present political situation in B.C. is distinctly similar to the kind of thing that happened in the early days of Social Credit in Alberta.

In those days Mr. Aberhart, in the course of a political campaign, would make some quite preposterous statement. It would then be publicly proved that this statement had no foundation in fact and was fundamentally untrue. In spite of this the Social Credit leader would continue to repeat the statement in question—being justifiably confident that his supporters would pay no attention to the refutation.

Here in B.C. we have been informed by Mr. Bennett that the SC government have reduced the public debt by $34,000,000 since they came into office.

This statement, in spite of the fact that it would appear on the face of it to be impossible and also that it has been proved to be quite without genuine foundation, has, nevertheless been repeated many times.

Here, however, I would think the situation in B.C. differs from the one that prevailed in Alberta. I do not think that Mr. Bennett can get away with it. In fact what we are entitled to from the gentleman in question is an ejaculation something like the "uh-uh" which Charlie McCarthy produces when Edgar Bergen has caught him out in some piece of particularly outrageous effrontery. Up to the present this has not happened. Let us hope that November 24 may produce something of the kind.

May I suggest that the most likely method of arriving at this desirable result is to vote for Mr. Gregory—even if only because he is the most likely person to be able to bring this about. If elected he will certainly not disappoint us.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Golf From the Armchair

YEARS ago, when the youth-about-town affected plus fours for casual wear, I played nine holes of golf. I thought it necessary to do that to justify my baggy pants. Later, when anyone drew attention to my over-sized knickers and asked if I played golf, I could dismiss the question without embarrassment, drawling casually: "Used to."

It wasn't very prepossessing golf. I played with a friend at Cedar Hill. The buffalo had disappeared by that time, but you got a rugged plainsman feeling just from walking around that prairie. We ran out of balls at the sixth hole and had to hide until another couple drove over the rise before we could use their rolling stock to finish the round.

Stott

In that way I equipped myself to cover the Marvin "Bud" Ward exhibition at Oak Bay, when "Bud" was U.S. amateur champion—also a few years ago. As an expert on golf, I have my limitation. There are people who know less about the game, but you don't meet them often.

Still, I do know some good golfers—some of the best. In fact, during my term at Oak Bay High that school turned champions out by the bucketful—Bob Morrison, Harold Brynjolfson, Dick Moore, Goldie Terry. You couldn't shift a Latin text without finding a future champ under it.

So I don't know the techniques, but I do know the technicians. And I'm partial to Marg Todd, who is among the top half-dozen women golfers in Canada.

PACKING THE TOURNAMENTS HOME

It wasn't particularly surprising when Marg made the Canadian women's team for play in the British Isles last summer. There's nothing home-townish in saying she earned her place. But it is pleasing to know that she brought a good portion of the tournaments back home with her in colored moving picture film.

Marg packed a camera and a telescopic lens with her as she played. Since I viewed the reels she took, I've wondered how she concentrated. When she said to herself "There's a shot I should make," was she talking about an approach or a scenic?

On the record she did very well, thank you. On the screen she did even better. Some of the views in England, Scotland, North Ireland and Wales are breathtaking—and that is not a comment on an elegant little Belgian girl who played in the major contests.

Since she came home from the British golf swing—and a side-trip to Switzerland—she has given a lot of Canadians some appreciation of the attractions and the atmosphere of the spots she visited.

FRIENDS YOU DON'T KNOW

It's more than ordinarily gratifying to sit in the Mr. and Mrs. Jack Todd living room—which must have a record for hospitality among rooms so young—and hear Marg describe the pictures on the screen. You get to know the people who made up the different teams, know them on terms shared only by team-mates. You hear the little side-light stories—the things that don't make the newspapers, but give you a better appreciation of the folk you're looking at.

And you find yourself recognizing the value of such trips by such teams. Our folks and their folks are rubbing shoulders, eating together, playing together, exchanging ideas on the level of ordinary people with a common interest.

Maybe you don't like the term "goodwill ambassador." It sounds a bit corny and far too trite. But you feel you know people better and can admire their country more because you have a friend who went over there, who had the ability to make friends with the people she met, and had that capacity to give them a pretty favorable impression of the place she came from.

That's what Marg Todd has done. Somehow I'd rather know golfers like her than know a great deal more about golf.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

If You Have a Blind Child

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

The U.S. Children's Bureau, in Washington, has prepared a booklet on "The school child who is blind." In it parents of such a child will find much good advice to help them. As the writer says, give the blind child plenty of attention; pick him up as often as you can, romp with him, talk to him, shower him with love just as you might with a seeing child. He will respond happily, just as would a seeing child.

Alvarez

Start early to teach him all the things he must learn if, later, he is to take care of himself. Teach him to eat well at the table, to dress and undress himself and to be helpful in the home.

If anyone is interested in seeing this booklet, don't write to me; write directly to the Children's Bureau, in Washington, D.C.

Many persons have an idea that by doing something or other they can make sure that their wife will give birth to a boy or a girl, but no scientist believes that this is possible. It is a rare theorizer on the subject who knows that the sex of the child is determined at conception, weeks before the woman even knows that she is pregnant. Nothing that she can do afterward can have any effect on the sex of her baby.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST PHYSICIANS

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, there is a report of a committee which asked many persons what complaints they had to make against doctors. Eighty-eight per cent of the criticisms fell into 10 categories.

One hundred and five persons were concerned because so many doctors do not care to make house calls or night calls. Forty-six complained about high fees; 24 about having to wait too long in a doctor's office. It is true that many of us are remiss in regard to this, and yet I sympathize with the doctor because it is so hard to keep up to a schedule of appointments.

Twenty-two persons complained about to slow a response to house calls. Fifteen felt doctors were too mercenary; 14 objected to too much specialization; 12 objected to paying extra for house visits made after six or midnight; 12 objected to doctors who are too cold and impersonal; 12 objected to doctors who are too hurried or too busy to give them time; some objected to the common practice today of sending the patient to a hospital for an examination or for a slight illness.

One hundred and five persons wished that there were more hospitals. Eight-seven wished there were more family doctors; 46 wished there were more nurses available; 21 objected to red tape on being admitted to a hospital; 13 wished there were more interns and residents; 10 wished there were more free or low-fee clinics. Perhaps one of the greatest needs today is for part-payment clinics where people could pay what they could afford.

Some people objected to diagnoses made over the telephone by a physician trying to avoid making a call. Probably, in most cases, the physician would have been wiser to go out, and see what was the matter with the patient.

Some people made a good suggestion and that was that when a very busy physician cannot find time to take a new patient he should try to refer him to a younger colleague who will not be so busy and may be glad to get work. We doctors are often remiss in this regard.

Interestingly, statistics presented by the United States Department of Labor for the third quarter of 1952 showed that living costs have increased 90.8 per cent as compared with the years from 1935 to 1939, while medical costs have increased only 65 per cent. Interestingly, also, recent surveys indicate that only 3 per cent of American families had medical bills over $200, and 80 per cent of the families had no medical debts of any kind.

ISLAND DIGEST

NANAIMO — It was announced at the City Hall here Thursday that Ald. P. J. Piper has been disqualified from holding office because he rented some of his own property to the school board last June.

Municipal officials said he was "innocently involved," but that he likely will not have time to remedy the situation in time to run for office in the December election.

SIDNEY—C. M. Crawford, administrator at Rest Haven Hospital for the last seven years, will take a new position in Washington, D.C. His successor will be A. G. Rodgers, formerly with the Seventh Day Adventist Church Ontario-Quebec Conference, who served the church in the Far East and was a prisoner of war of the Japanese.

★ ★ ★

DUNCAN — Patrolas Lake, better known as Dougan's Lake, and the sandy delta plains of Cowichan and Koksilah Rivers, have been considered by Hugh Nasmith as the only water sources in the district that could be used for irrigation and domestic purposes.

Mr. Nasmith, B.C. mines department geologist, has included the information in an interim report on a water survey of the area.

★ ★ ★

LADYSMITH—Funeral services were scheduled for today for William Leask Work, 66, who suffered a fatal heart attack while visiting his wife during her stay in Ladysmith Hospital.

A master mechanic for Comox Logging & Railway Co. Ltd., he worked at several points on Vancouver Island.

COURTENAY — The poppy fund drive conducted here by the Canadian Legion resulted in collection of $1,351 through wreath and poppy sales and donations.

Fine, Jail His Choice For Unauthorized Ride

Seventy-five dollars fine or a month in jail was imposed on William Drone, 3647 Cedar Hill Road, in Saanich police court Thursday for taking a car without the owner's consent.

He was arrested by RCMP at Nanaimo and the car was found abandoned at Cedar, November 18. It was owned by a man living in the same house as Drone.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Jury Discharged In Murder Trial

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Jurors hearing a murder case here were discharged Thursday and a mistrial declared because they had access to a newspaper account of a document read while they were excluded from the court room.

Mr. Justice Samuel Freedman in court of Queen's bench at this northern Manitoba community said the case of Arthur Joseph Dorion, 45-year-old treaty Indian, will be traversed to the next criminal assizes to be held at The Pas.

He said the guards in charge of the jury bought four copies of the weekly Northern Mail carrying the trial-within-a-trial account "for the express purpose of distribution among the members of the jury."

10 NEW POLIO CASES

EDMONTON (BUP)—Alberta health authorities Thursday reported 10 new cases of polio, boosting the province's 1953 toll to 1,200 cases.

Four of the new cases occurred in Edmonton and two in the suburb of Jasper Place. Medical health officer Dr. G. M. Little said the city would increase the chlorination of its water supply during the current polio outbreak.

Alberta has had 83 deaths from polio so far this year, the heaviest death toll of any province.

COUPLE GASSED

SASKATOON (CP) — The first accident from Saskatoon's natural gas system, which has been in operation six weeks, was reported Thursday by the Saskatchewan Power Corporation, owners of the system.

An elderly couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Magee, were taken to hospital with possible carbon-monoxide poisoning caused by incomplete combustion in their newly-installed gas furnace.

Mr. Magee was released on Thursday but his wife still is under observation.

WOULD REVIEW ACT

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two more Manitoba associations, holding annual conventions in Winnipeg, are in favor of requesting the government to review the provincial liquor act.

The Manitoba Tourist Association passed a resolution on Thursday asking the government to make an "intelligent study" of the laws with a view to amending them.

The Manitoba branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association may ask the government for permission to serve "legal beverages"—beer, liquor and wine—with meals to mixed parties.

WHEAT CROP BOOST

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's late September frost helped boost the province's estimated total wheat crop 10,000,000 bushels to 163,000,000 bushels, the extension service of the provincial department of agriculture announced Thursday.

Although 12,000,000 bushels below last year's record crop, the figure is above the province's average of 107,540,000 bushels from 1945 to 1949.

The report increased the estimate of the province's oat crop but lowered the estimate of barley, rye, flax seed and mixed grains.

Northern Province Of 'Precambria' Wanted for Canada

WINNIPEG (CP)—The province of Precambria—an idea sent down by the north—was greeted with caution Thursday by the Manitoba Chambers of Commerce.

A resolution on the creation of a big province across the north of the prairies called Precambria as at least a temporary label, was referred to the incoming executive near the close of the two-day convention of the chambers.

Sponsored by the Flin Flon Chamber of Commerce, the resolution asked that a committee be set up to study the feasibility of furthering northern development by changing the map to add Precambria.

HE'D HAVE BEEN THERE A LONG TIME

MAINZ, Germany (Reuters)—Villagers at nearby Ginsheim fed and sheltered an American Army sentry who stayed at his lonely outpost on the Rhine for nearly a week after the end of manoeuvres because his unit forgot about him, it was reported Thursday.

The villagers tried unsuccessfully to persuade the soldier to give up his vigil over a pontoon bridge. Finally they told the local police.

A few days later an army truck came to take the sentry back to his unit.

Power Brownout Threat In Ontario Ended

TORONTO (BUP) — The threat of a power brownout ended here today with an announcement that a dispute between the International Union of Operating Engineers and the Ontario Hydro had been settled.

The dispute involved some 200 hydro employees at the Toronto and Windsor steam generating plants who voted to strike if their wage demands were not met. The strike would have resulted in power cuts during hours of peak consumption.

'TRIUMPH AND TRAGEDY'

Tito Planned Trieste Grab

(This is another installment of Volume VI of the war memoirs of Winston Churchill, Britain's Prime Minister. Other installments will be carried daily.)

By WINSTON S. CHURCHILL

As the German armies in Italy retreated Tito's forces had pushed rapidly into Italian territory in the northeast. They hoped to seize the lands which they claimed in this area, and in particular to capture Trieste before the Anglo-American troops arrived. Both the Americans and ourselves were not only determined to prevent any frontiers being settled in this manner before the peace treaty, but also intended to secure Trieste, with its splendid port, as the essential supply point for our future zones in Austria. We were clear on these issues, and General Alexander, who had visited Tito at Belgrade in March, was accordingly authorized to take the steps necessary to secure the position.

Alexander telegraphed to Tito informing him of his plans. "They are similar," he said, "to those we discussed at Belgrade . . . I presume that any of your forces which may be in the area affected by my operations will come under my command, as you suggested during our recent discussions in Belgrade, and that you will now issue orders to that effect."

Tito's troops had in fact entered Trieste on April 30 (1945) in the hope of not only securing the city and surrounding area, but also of obtaining the surrender of the German garrison of 7,000 men with all its equipment. It was not until the afternoon of the following day that the Yugoslav forces made contact with the advance-guard of the 2nd New Zealand Division just west of Monfalcone. On May 2 General Freyberg and his New Zealand troops entered Trieste, took the surrender of the German garrison, and occupied the dock areas.

On May 5 Alexander telegraphed:

Military Position Much Strengthened

"Tito . . . now finds himself in a much stronger military position than he foresaw when I was in Belgrade, and wants to cash in on it. Then he hoped to step into Trieste when finally I stepped out. Now he wants to be installed there and only allow me user's right.

"We must bear in mind that since our meeting he has been to Moscow. I believe he will hold to our original agreement if he can be assured that when I no longer require Trieste as a base for my forces in Austria he will be allowed to incorporate it in his New Yugoslavia."

The last sentence of Alexander's message made it necessary for me to make our political view clear.

I replied on May 6:

"There is no question of your making any agreement with him about incorporating Istria, or any part of the pre-war Italy, in his 'New Yugoslavia.' The destiny of this part of the world is reserved for the peace table, and you should certainly make him aware of this."

A week later, on May 12, after the great events had happened in the Western theatre, there arrived from President Truman a most welcome and strong message. He said he was becoming increasingly concerned at Tito's actions in Venezia Guilia. Tito seemed to have no intention of abandoning the territory or letting this ancient problem await a general post-war settlement. We must decide, said the President, whether to uphold the fundamental principles of territorial settlement by orderly process against force, intimidation or blackmail. We should insist, he urged, on Field-Marshal Alexander obtaining complete and exclusive control of Trieste and Pola, the line of communication through Gorizia and Monfalcone, and of a big enough area to the east to ensure proper administration. Mr. Truman said we should be prepared to consider any necessary steps to effect Tito's withdrawal.

He suggested informing Stalin of our plans in accordance with the Yalta agreement and concluded as follows: "If we stand firm on this issue, as we are doing on Poland, we can hope to avoid a host of other similar encroachments."

Churchill's Stand Backed by Truman

I need not say how relieved I was to receive this invaluable support from my new companion.

Prime Minister to President Truman.

12 May 45.

"I agree with every word you say, and will work with all my strength on the line you propose . . . If the situation is handled firmly before our strength is dispersed Europe may be saved another blood-bath. Otherwise the whole fruits of our victory may be cast away and none of the purposes of World Organization to prevent territorial aggression and future wars will be attained.

"I trust that a standstill order can be given on the movements of the American armies and Air Forces from Europe (to the Far East), at any rate for a few weeks. . . . In accordance with your suggestion, I am instructing our ambassidor at Belgrade to address Tito on the lines which you have set forth . . ."

It seems probable that a somewhat violent internal reaction at Washington followed the new President's bold telegram to me. The argument "Don't let us get tied up in Europe" had always been formidable. It had undoubtedly led to the Second World War through the ruin of the League of Nations by the withdrawal of the United States. It was now to play almost as deadly a part at a moment when the future hung in the balance.

On May 14 he said he preferred to see what happened before considering a continued though temporary occupation of the Soviet Zone in Germany by the Western Allies. As for the Yugoslavs Mr. Truman declared that we should await reports about our messages to Belgrade before deciding what forces to use if our troops were attacked. Unless Tito did attack it was impossible to involve the United States in another war. Two days later he declared he was unable and unwilling to involve his country in a war with the Yugoslavs unless they attacked us, in which case we would be justified in using Allied troops to throw them back far enough to stop any further aggression.

On May 19 I replied to the President.

Prime Minister to President Truman.

19 May 45.

"I hope you will not mind my putting to you, with great respect, the need for some further consideration of the words "a war with the Yugoslavs," and secondly "attack us." I do not envisage a war with the Yugoslavs, and, short of war, I do not consider Ambassidors should be withdrawn. It is at critical junctures that Ambassadors should be on the spot. Meanwhile Tito's answer has arrived, and is completely negative. We clearly cannot leave matters in this state, and immediate action will now be necessary. Otherwise we shall merely appear to have been bluffing, and will in fact be bluffed out . . .

"In these conditions I should not consider action by Alexander to ensure the proper functioning of his Military Government as constituting "a war with the Yugoslavs." But I certainly think that pressure should be put upon them to quit Trieste and Pola and return to the lines marked out, and that this pressure should be regarded as in the nature of frontier incidents rather than as principal diplomatic decisions . . ."

On May 21 Mr. Truman said he agreed we could not leave matters as they were. We should reject Tito's answer and reinforce our troops at once so that the Yugoslavs should have no doubts about our intentions. He proposed that Eisenhower and Alexander should make a show of force by land and air, and time it to coincide with our rejection of Tito's demand's. The President thought that a heavy demonstration might bring Tito to his senses, but if hostilities began he doubted if they could be treated as frontier incidents.

He accordingly sent me the text of appropriate instructions for Alexander and Eisenhower, but he ended his telegram with a revealing sentence: "I must not have any avoidable interference with the redeployment of American forces to the Pacific."

General Morgan, Alexander's Chief of Staff, eventually agreed with the Yugoslavs upon a line of demarcation around Trieste.

It was not until a month had passed of increasing friction with the Soviets and with Tito that Stalin himself addressed me on the Yugoslav problem.

Marshal Stalin to Prime Minister.

21 June 45.

"Notwithstanding the fact that the Yugoslav Government accepted the proposal of the American and British Governments with regard to the Istria-Trieste region, the conversations in Trieste seem to have reached a deadlock. This is principally to be explained by the fact that the representatives of the Allied Command in the Mediterranean are unwilling to take account even of the minimum wishes of the Yugoslavs. Yet the Yugoslavs earned the merit of liberating this territory from the German invaders, and in that territory moreover the Yugoslav population is in a majority. This position cannot be regarded as satisfactory from the point of view of the Allies.

"In my desire not to make matters worse, I have hitherto not drawn attention in our correspondence to the behavior of Field-Marshal Alexander; but now it is time to emphasize that I cannot accept the supercilious tone with regard to the Yugoslavs which Field-Marshal Alexander has occasionly adopted in these conversations . . .

"The Soviet Government also found unexpected the tone of ultimation in the declaration which the Anglo-American representatives presented to the Yugoslav Government on June 2. How is it possible with such methods to secure solid and positive results?"

I replied:

Prime Minister to Marshal Stalin.

23 June 45.

"I thank you for your message of June 21. Our joint idea at the Kremlin in October was that the Yugoslav business should work out around 50-50 Russian and British influence. In fact as it is at present more like 90-10, and even in that poor 10 we have been subjected to violent pressure by Marshal Tito. So violent was this pressure that the United States and His Majesty's Government had to put in motion many hundreds of thousands of troops in order to prevent themselves from being attacked by Marshal Tito . . .

"I do not consider that it can be said that Marshal Tito has conquered all this territory. It has been conquered by the movements of far greater forces both in the west and in the east which compelled the strategic retreat of the Germans from the Balkans.

MARSHAL TITO
. . . he wanted Trieste

Allies Prepared To Enforce Pact

"At any rate we have reached an agreement which it is proposed to enforce. We think that any permanent territorial changes should be settled at the peace table, and Marshal Tito is in no way prejudiced by accepting the present line which we demand until that meeting takes place. In the interval we can talk all these matters over together at Berlin.

"The actual wording of Field-Marshal Alexander's telegram has been largely taken from the President's draft. We do not see why we should be pushed about everywhere, especially by people we have helped, and helped before you were able to make any contact with them. Therefore I do not see any reason to make excuses for Field-Marshal Alexander, although I was not aware that he was going to draft his telegram exactly in this way.

"It seems to me that a Russianized frontier running from Lubeck through Eisenach to Trieste and down to Alabnia is a matter which requires a very great deal of argument conducted between good friends.

"These are just the things we have to talk over together at our meeting, which is not long now."

Here for the time being in these pages we may leave the problem of Tito and Trieste.

GALLUP POLL SHOWS

B.C. Residents Take Gloomy View Of Employment

Weight of opinion in Canada is that there will be an increase in the number of jobless people in the next few months.

Gloomiest in their outlook are the people of British Columbia, where about six in 10 persons interviewed in a national Gallup Poll answered "more out of work" when interviewers asked a cross section of adults:

"Looking ahead, do you think there will be more people out of work in this community in the next few months, or do you think three will be fewer people out of work?"

The national results:

More out of work	48%
Fewer out of work	15
Just about the same	29
No opinion	8
	100%

The last time this question was made the subject of a national Gallup Poll was in June of 1950. Figures obtained at that period of the year would undeubtedly reflect seasonal employment, usually more favorable in summer. However, even with this in mind, the contrast is interesting. In June, 1950, only twenty per cent of those interviewed thought there would be more people out of work in the next few months, while 63 per cent felt there would be fewer out of work. Eleven per cent in 1950 thought there would be no change, compared with 29 per cent today who expect no change.

In most previous opinion studies, evidence has been that people living in the Maritime provinces are more concerned with the unemployment picture than people living in other areas of Canada, with the exception of British Columbians. In the current Poll, however, fears of greater unemployment are found to be higher in Western Canada than in Eastern Canada.

People who are members of a labor union, or who have someone in their immediate family in unions, reacted in much the same way to the question as did non-union members, except for a slight decrease in the number of "undecided" in the ranks of union members.

There is evidence for believing that the comparatively high figure of 48 per cent expecting an increase in the number of jobless, can be attributed to seasonal conditions. One is the contrast with the June, 1950, figure cited above. Another is that in a study released last week, the Institute found no diminution in buying plans among Canadians, compared with a year ago. This would indicate that the outlook for employment is not considered too serious by the general public.

Looking back over the past 12 years in Institute files, evidence is clear that Canadians were most fearful of unemployment at the time World War II was ending or just after it had ended. Again, in 1949, Canada's seaboard provinces rated unemployment as the greatest single problem facing their governments.

Canadian Film to Aid Operation on Twins

LONDON (Reuters) — A motion picture made at an operation to separate Siamese twins is being flown from Canada to help one of Britain's top surgeons decide if a similar operation would save a pair of Siamese twins here.

The film was made by a Canadian surgeon, Dr. Eardley S. Allin of Edmonton, who operated on similarly-joined infants two years ago.

London's twins, three and one-half-month-old Nigerian girls flown here last week, are joined at the lower abdomen, facing each other.

EX-RED TELLS HOW AMERICANS LEARNED TO ABDUCT PRESIDENT

DETROIT (AP)—A Communist of the 1930's testified Thursday that he and other American party members were taught in a Moscow "civil warfare" class how to abduct the president of the United States in event of a "revolution."

Members of the president's cabinet also were to be seized and held as hostages with the president, the witness said.

The testimony came from ex-Communist William O'Dell Nowell, 49, consultant to the U.S. immigration and naturalization service.

Real Socred Aim Hides Under Religious Cloak Says Deane Finlayson

Electors Warned That Government Party Tactics 'Are Wrong and Dangerous'

Charging that some Social Credit Party members are using "religion to cloak their personal ambitions," Deane Finlayson, B.C.'s Progressive-Conservative leader and the party's candidate in the Nov. 24 by-election, warned people not to fall for Socred religious propaganda.

"I know that religion can be a tremendous force in a political campaign," Mr. Finlayson told an election meeting at South Park School Thursday, "but remember many crimes in the past have been committed in the name of Christianity.

"I do not believe in using religion to win an election campaign," he added. "Such tactics are wrong and dangerous."

Criticizing the new Liquor Act, Mr. Finlayson said Premier Bennett had completely "messed up" plans to institute good liquor reforms by yielding to pressure groups who are against people drinking in any form or manner.

"The 10 per cent tax was unnecessary," he said. "It was instituted to please groups who would like to punish people who drink."

He also lashed out at the Social Credit government for imposing a 10 per cent tax on the lumber, mining industries, and on machinery, claiming it would harm many small businesses in British Columbia.

Mr. Finlayson also claimed that the people of British Columbia are in danger of losing their freedom under a Social Credit government.

"Look at the way they rushed through the legislation at the last session of the Legislature," he said. "They completely ignored the opposition."

Mr. Finlayson said the Conservative party believed in freedom and preserving the traditions of the legislature.

"Our party was not born in Calgary Bible Institute," during the depression years," he said. "We have a long tradition, we belong to the people, and we stand for the rights of man."

Referring to the conduct of the various candidates in the by-election campaigning, Mr. Finlayson said much had been said in the campaign about "dirty" politics.

He said with regard to himself he had no regrets of what he had said about anyone. "I feel justified in the charges I have made," he said, "and I make no apology."

Earlier, Clarence Goode of Sidney, spoke on behalf of Mr. Finlayson.

He said he felt that many of the Socred MLA's were more suited to run Sunday schools than a government.

He referred to Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi as a man who had more experience in running a Sunday school than a government department.

"Do you know he once came to Sidney and told us he would complete a road in the district or make an apology in a year," said Mr. Goode. "He has never completed the road and now we are waiting for the apology."

He said Mr. Gaglardi had no right to make promises when he knew he could not carry them out.

Wife Kills Husband, Didn't Want to Move

NEW YORK (UP) — A 42-year-old housewife killed her husband with a sledge hammer early today because, she told police, he announced they were going to move again only two weeks after they had unpacked in their new apartment.

Police said Mrs. Dorothy Renner admitted she crushed the skull of her husband, Richard, 42, during a quarrel in the bedroom of their attractively-furnished apartment.

"He came home Wednesday night and said we were going to move to Oregon," Mrs. Renner said.

JACKSON, HUME DEDICATE NEW CITY HALL

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—Mayor Fred Jackson and ex-mayor J. J. Johnston teamed up Thursday to dedicate the new three-story $600,000 city hall here.

Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver, for 18 years chief magistrate of the royal city, was also on hand for the ceremony.

Weekly Editor True Historian, Speaker Claims

Stimulates Thought Highroad to Truth

Weekly newspapers across the country are the "unofficial and unsung historians of our times," John A. McNaughton, editor of the Ladysmith Chronicle and Chemainus Herald, told the Rotary Club here Thursday.

Speaking on the place of the weekly newspaper in the community, Mr. McNaughton said that the total of weekly newspaper files across Canada provides a grass-roots history unobtainable from any other source.

He said that editorials should stimulate thought, but not necessarily instruct. Thus between the reader and the editorial something like the truth might be arrived at.

Editors, once thought of as kindly old gentlemen in green eye-shades peering out at a small segment of the world, now kept pace with the increased tempo of towns. While weeklies have the same sense of community responsibility as the dailies, their particular fuction lay in recording the minute details of town activity from the parochial viewpoint.

Weekly newspapers in B.C., he said "set a high standard."

Mr. McNaughton has been on the Island only two-and-one half months.

Introduced by Douglas Hartley, he was thanked by Times publisher Stuart Keate.

NEW PRESIDENT of B.C. Division, Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, is Ronald White, publisher of the Kamloops Sentinel. He was elected at the division's 35th annual convention in Vancouver. About 100 publishers, editors, and their wives attended.

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—Quebecers had their first new mayor in 15 years today.

Wilfred Hamel, 58-year-old former member of the provincial legislature, was elected to succeed veteran Lucien Borne, who held the job since 1938 and has retired.

Christmas IN THE KITCHEN

Little folks love popcorn balls! Cook taffy syrup till it forms a very hard ball in cold water. Remove from heat and add a teaspoon of Shirriff's True Vanilla, Maple, or Butterscotch flavouring. Tint with a few drops of Shirriff's red or green food colouring. Decorate with fruit, cellophane straws, paper cup hats.

Surprise! It's a red-currant jelly candle to serve with the turkey. Shirriff's tangy True Fruit Jellies can be loosened with a knife and rolled right out of the jar. Cut in half to make a pair of candles. The wick is cream cheese on a toothpick. Another favourite with turkey is Shirriff's Old Time Cranberry Sauce!

Now's the time for candy-making. For melt-in-your-mouth divinity fudge, add a teaspoon of Shirriff's fragrant almond extract, and a few drops of Shirriff's red food colour. Merry eating!

Make all the food you prepare for Christmas more wonderful with Shirriff's Flavouring Extracts, Pure Food Colouring, or Shirriff's glittering True Fruit Jellies.

13,620 Socreds Quit Since May Says Laing

Liberay Leader Claims Social Credit Has Passed Its Peak of Momentum in B.C.

The Social Credit party has lost 13,620 members since mid-May of this year, Liberal leader Arthur Laing said at Victoria High School Thursday night.

"That was when they hit their peak," he said in an address in support of George Gregory, Liberal candidate in the Tuesday by-election.

"People who voted for Social Credit wanted a better degree of living," Mr. Laing said, "but I think I know some of those people better than Premier Bennett."

He criticized Social Credit statements that "the people tell the MLA's what to do" and credited one such remark to Ald. Waldo Skillings.

"I wonder if we should elect Mr. Gunderson if Waldo Skillings is going to be telling him what to do," he suggested.

"We Liberals say an elected man is on his own feet, and is not part of an instructed machine," he said.

TOO FEW LAWYERS

Mr. Laing admitted he used to say there could be too many lawyers in the Legislature, but claimed there could also be "too few."

"There are only two in the House now — Liberal Bruce Brown from Prince Rupert and Attorney-General Robert Bonner," he said.

"I don't know what the Social Credit government would do without Mr. Bonner."

"Aged just 35, he conducted all business through the House and was the only one of the lot that knew anything about it. He is the only one there with whom you can talk sensibly about anything," he said.

"You will get better government if Mr. Gregory, a lawer, is elected, rather than Mr. Gunderson," he said.

HARD TO GET

Of Social Credit monetary theories he said, "if money is not hard to get it's not real money."

He referred to what he called Premier Bennett's stand as the protector of private enterprise by repeating a Bennett statement of 1944 that "the province should take over the B.C. Electric."

Mr. Laing quoted newspaper clippings to enforce his argument that the 10 per cent tax on logging and mining was unsound.

"I warned Arnold Webster that the CCF should not support the Socred tax program," he said. "No matter how a tax is imposed either the consumer pays, the producer operates at a loss, or he loses out to outside competition."

"After the legislation was passed Ed Kenney, Portland, an economist employed by the International Woodworkers of America, wrote: 'This is a regressive and vicious tax, highly inimical to the interests of labor.'"

Mr. Gregory spoke briefly, stating he would support a reduction in the scope of the sales tax and revision of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

"Nothing would bring this government to its senses like having me elected," he said. "If the voters reject Mr. Gunderson, Premier Bennett will think twice about letting the government impose any more ruinous and unnecessary taxes."

EASY COME, EASY GO?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When Rogers Harris won $28,000 last month in the Irish Sweepstakes, he happily told newsmen "the first thing I'll do is get my divorce troubles cleared up." Harris' wife, Hazel, took the first step in that direction Thursday. She filed suit for divorce and asked the $28,000 sweepstakes winnings as part of the settlement.

TOP RANK

The rank of field marshal was introduced in the British Army by George II in 1736.

CCF Leader Asks Fast Mediation In Strike of 8,000 Woodworkers

Provincial government should appoint immediately someone like Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to mediate the strike of 8,000 interior woodworkers, CCF Leader Arnold Webster said at a Britannia Hall meeting Thursday night.

The IWA and the operators, he said, have reach d a stalemate and the government has failed to name a mediator.

"The time has ome for the government to use its influence to get the two parties together," the leader stated.

Mr. Webster didn't think Labor Minister Lyle Wicks is a strong enough man for the job. Everyone by-passes him and goes to Premier Bennett, he said.

"If you ever met Mr. Wicks, you'd know why he's by-passed by labor."

Union and company officials met Premier Bennett, Labor Minister Lyle Vicks and Attorney-General Robert Bonner on Thursday.

The premier said he has asked both groups to give the government answers to certain questions.

Another meeting will be held Wednesday.

Pour Fish!

Being boy-handled here are pair of Pearl Gurmays, tropical fish belonging to G. C. McKay, 632 Constance Avenue. Fish were on display at a meeting of the Victoria Aquarium Society Wednesday. Society has junior members, including David Gilbart, 15 (left) of 1618 Wilmot Place, and Donald Sherwood, 15, 1447 St. David Street. Mr. McKay has 96 Pearl Gurmays.

JUST FISH FANCIERS

Daphni Hunters Aren't So Daffy

By TONY DICKASON

If, perchance, the family cat coyly drags a small fish into the living room, examine the fish carefully. It may be of a tropical species and, resuscitated, the beginning for you of a quickly - spreading hobby—raising of tropical fish.

This, of course, is the hard way. The easy method is to contact any one of the 50 adult or 12 junior members of the Victoria Aquarium Society, where tropical fish are the topical dish.

The society, founded four years ago by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, is, as will perhaps be realized 'ere now, "devoted to the raising and breeding of tropical fish." They meet the third Wednesday of each month, usually at 717 Courtney Street, to talk about such things as infusoria —the raising of "cultures" as food for their little friends.

Fish are raised locally by society members and some are imported from the United States and from as far away as South America.

Why fish?

Well, as members explain, persons may receive a pair of guppies as a gift and rather than see them die keep the fish alive. And guppies reproduce with alacrity. First thing you know you are in the tropical fish business.

Then there are the scientific minds which get a lift from raising fish.

Then come the artistic people who like to have the piscatorial playmates because they are "so pretty."

"ALL IS NOT GOLD . . ."

True tropical fish breeders look askance at persons who raise gold fish . . . in much the same way as a breeder of fine dogs would consider a mongrel.

The hobby is not necessarily an expensive one. All that is needed are a couple of fish, and a tank which can be self-built. If the member has money to spend he can pay from $8 up to almost any amount for a tank. One member has 12 tanks.

Typical of fish costs is the Pearl Gurmay. A pair cost $4 in pet shops.

While fish can exist happily on dry fish food, group members prefer to grow their own cultures. One method of doing this is to go to Beacon Hill Park, net in hand, and scoop away at the water. This picks up minute organisms called daphni.

Daphni, which looks like water fleas, grows into fish fodder.

Observers think the people with the nets are a little mad. And is daphni their little girl and did she fall in the pool? Tut, tut!

Fish can be tamed sufficiently to eat out of the hand. But as one member explained it, for the most part they "live in a little world of their own."

Socreds Not a Party? Balderdash, Says CCF

Government 'Just Another Coalition,' Conservative-Dominated, Says Webster

The childish contention that Social Credit is a people's movement, not a political party, is "balderdash and poppycock," CCF Leader Arnold Webster said at a Britannia Hall meeting Thursday night attended by 100.

"Socreds suggest with childish satisfaction that they don't belong to a political party," the party leader said. "They're in politics as much as anybody. They have an organization, elect officers, collect money—and how they collect money."

He scoffed at Socreds who say they are holier and purer than others.

"Social Credit uses all the old political tricks known to the old-line parties, and some the old parties never even heard of, he said.

"Premier Bennet would have been Tory leader today if he'd had his way. He wanted to be a party leader so he found Social Credit. Mr. Bonner was not even supporting Social Credit in the 1952 general election," the Socialist leader said.

"Real Socreds," he said, had no influence in the Legislature.

"The present government is just another Coalition dominated by Conservatives."

NO TRIBUTE

Premier Bennett's insistence on having Mr. Gunderson as finance minister "is certainly no tribute to the other members."

Keeping Mr. Gunderson in office so long after his defeat in Oak Bay, he said, was legal but the action was not in the spirit of the constitution. The by-election should have been held before the last session, he said.

Mr. Webster said Premier Bennett apparently doesn't think education in B.C. is important because he doesn't even appoint a full-time minister to the portfolio.

Ray Williston, Socred MLA from Prince George, should have been named, he said, because he understands education.

Mr. Webster wondered if the decision means the attitude towards the education system shown by Salmon Arm's J. A. Reid still dominates the Bennett government.

IN SUMMARY

The leader reviewed the recent session. Here's a summary of his remarks not necessarily in direct quotes:

Doukhobors: The Socreds led the people to believe they were going to do something courageous and wise, but instead practiced delay and evasion. They disregarded advice of the experts.

Liquor: The Socreds refused to earmark 2 per cent of liquor profits for alcohol education and rehabilitation. They refused to name a three-man liquor control board, and disregarded a Stevens Commission recommendation for a continuing inquiry into the liquor situation.

Ten per cent sales tax on drinks: It is a punitive tax and will drive drinkers to under the table and parked car methods of drinking.

Equal pay for women legislation: It's "loaded" for the employer and won't affect women's pay much because there are so many ways employers can get around the law.

Candidate Alfred Matthews said the government's equal pay for women law is typical of Social Credit insincerity. The law is unworkable—just the way the government and industry wants it.

Fall Kills Granville Street Bridge Worker

VANCOUVER (CP) — Louis Malbouf, a steelworker on the new Granville Bridge in Vancouver, was killed Thursday when he fell 40 feet from the structure to a building below. It was the first fatal accident in construction of the $17,000,000 bridge spanning False Creek.

FRANCE'S 1960 NAVY TO TOTAL FOUR WARSHIPS

PARIS (Reuters)—France will have only two battleships, one aircraft carrier and one cruiser still in service by 1960 unless the government undertakes a vast shipbuilding program soon, the navy ministry reported today. The ministry said France's fighting fleet will become "non-existent" within a few years unless parliament votes funds for a new aircraft carrier and cruiser.

Attempted Murder Case Delayed

A case of attempted murder scheduled to be heard in Saanich police court Thursday was adjourned by Magistrate H. C. Hall for one week.

The request for additional time was made on behalf of Edward "Ted" Lore, 48, Saanich Chinese Canadian, by defense counsel Ronald Grant.

Lore was charged following wounding of Robert Davis, 1242 Johnson, with a shotgun blast at the Lore home November 8. He is at present free on $7,500 bail.

Ti-Cats Face Jinx

Favored Over Als In Big Four Final

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats, on the threshold of their first crack at the Grey Cup in 18 years, leave tonight for Montreal and the second game of the Big Four final, eager and confident that they appear to have reached their peak form at the right time.

They have reached that stage after starting the season in exasperating fashion with coach Carl Voyles going through five quarterbacks.

The seson was well under way before Voyles decided Ed Songin was the man who could do the best job. With the pivot men coming and going, the Tiger-Cats were written off by nearly everyone who dared try to pick the Big Four champion.

But Bengals surprised everyone and kept right in the thick of the schedule. They ended up in a tie for first place with Montreal Alouettes, and today, on the heels of a shattering 37-12 win Wednesday over the Als in the opening game of the series for the league title and the eastern crown, they appear headed to represent the east in the Grey Cup classic.

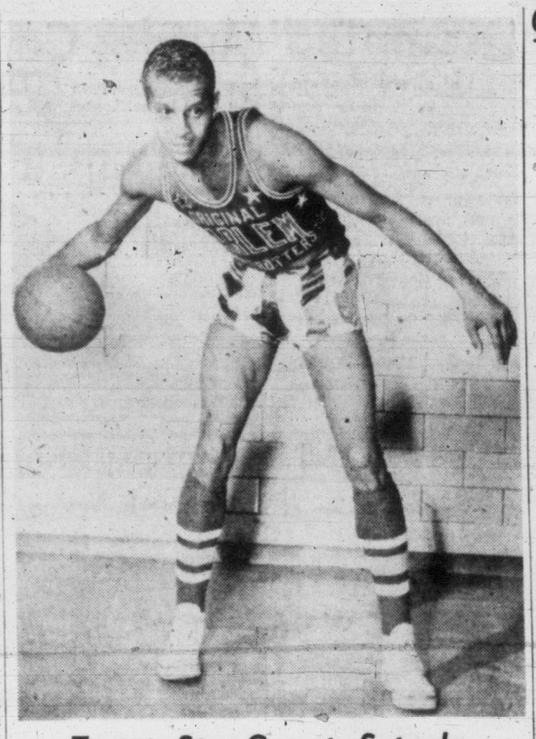
INJURIES HIT HARD

The injury-riddled Alouettes will have to come through with a tremendous reversal of form to prevent it, starting with the second game Sunday in Delorimer Stadium and again the third game there should they force a deciding encounter.

Tiger-Cats, beaten in Big Four playoffs the three previous seasons, last played in the east-west final in 1935, the year Fritz Hanson won the hearts of the west by running 70 yards for a third-quarter touchdown that broke up the game and gave Winnipeg Blue Bombers an 18-12 victory.

Hamilton faces one disconcerted feature: They haven't won in Montreal since Oct. 18, 1952.

The Tiger-Cats' showing in the last quarter of the regular schedule and the opening playoff game indicates they are at about their peak form and the Als' advantage of the home crowd and field may not count for much.



Trotter Star Cavorts Saturday

A sell-out crowd, somewhat of a basketball rarity in Victoria, is expected Saturday night at Bay Street Armories when Abe Sapperstein's world-famous Harlem Globetrotters meet Boston Whirlwinds in the feature part of a top-notch basketball card sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Victoria. Trotter stars like Bill "Rookie" Brown will provide the crowd with laughs and thrills and the program also includes a preliminary game between Esquimalt and Victoria High School and colorful half-time entertainment.

HALF-TIME TREAT

Double Feature To Grid Playoff

Ray Mitchell will have three teams to worry about Saturday in the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League sudden-death semifinal game between his Vampires and Royal Roads at Heywood Avenue Park.

RAY MITCHELL
. . . double-header for him

However, for Mitchell, it will be a pleasant duty.

Mitchell will be in uniform for the feature game at which time he will be in charge of his 1953 team. But at half-time of the feature game he will be handling a flock of eager kids who are the Vampires of the future.

Saturday's novel half-time entertainment will be in the form of a short game between two juvenile teams that faithfully attend all Vampire workouts, picking up fundamentals along with the regular team.

The kids range in age from 12 to 16 and have been working out all season with the hopes of applying their new-found grid knowledge on a playing field.

Although some of the kids are not big enough to hold a football, they are religious in their devotion to the game, turning out to football practices in all kinds of weather, standing on the sidelines and waiting patiently for their big chance.

A berth in the Tommy Douglas Trophy final with Navy rides on the feature game, Navy having entered the final as a result of their sudden-death 6-5 victory over Oak Bay last week.

RUBBER GAME

This will also be the rubber game between the two clubs, who have a rather remarkable record against each other in that no touchdowns have been scored in either of their two games. In the first meeting of the season, Royal Roads ground out a 2-0 victory on two deadline kicks while Vampires evened the set with a 1-0 win in the second meeting, the deadline kick again supplying a victory margin.

Game time Saturday is 2.

Other officers elected were: Committee members, J. Dawson, W. L. Luney, R. Ranson, D. G. Ross, H. W. Doherty; officers, E. Badminton, J. Dawson, H. W. Doherty, J. D. Ferguson, S. G. Hill, W. L. Luney, G. S. Pellow, F. Ranson, D. G. Ross, R. F. Williams.

Budge-Sedgman Pro Net Champs

LONDON (AP) — Veteran Don Budge of New York and Frank Sedgman of Australia on Thursday night defeated Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles and Pancho Segura of Ecuador, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2, to win international professional indoor tennis doubles championship.

Gonzales, winner of singles crown for the last three years, will meet Sedgman for the 1953 title today.

BOMBERS ODDS-ON CHOICE

Fan Interest High For Cup Semifinal

WINNIPEG (CP) — Billed only as a "warm-up" for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Saturday's Grey Cup semi-final between the western champions and Toronto Balmy Beach is drawing plenty of spectator interest.

About 16,000 fans are expected for the game which gives the winner the right to advance into the Grey Cup final at Toronto a week later against either the Hamilton Tiger-Cats or Montreal Alouettes.

The powerful Bombers will go into the contest against the Ontario Rugby Football Union champions, first time staged in western Canada, as odds-on favorites. Latest reports indicate there is little or no betting.

Bomber coach George Trafton predicted during the western semifinals that his club was "going all the way," and he sees no reason to change his mind now. However, he still respects the light-but-speedy Beaches.

When a couple of the boys stepped out of line at Thursday night's practice, Trafton bellowed:

"Let's not get smart. You move like that Saturday, and that club will run around you like a hoop around a barrel."

Trafton's barbed tongue and a cold north wind during the close to 20-degree temperature soon had the club running at full steam again.

COUGARS FACE IMPORTANT DOUBLE DATE WITH ROYALS

Billy Worried and for a Reason

By BILL WALKER

Lester wasn't there.

That's why Billy Reay popped his feet up on the desk, an enterprising reporter did likewise, and a second carelessly spilled ashes on the blotter (then carefully blew them off on the floor).

It was the Cougar hockey office, naturally. Where else would there be a picture of 1950-51 championship Cougars on one wall and this year's Western Hockey League schedule on the other?

Coach Reay of the 1953-54 Cougars had taken over the swivel chair, club owner Lester Patrick's swivel chair.

"Never saw a team look so bad," he said of the Cougars and their latest training sessions.

"What a great story that'd be," exclaimed one scribe. "Imagine saying 'Coach Billy Reay says Cougars at worst yet for tonight's game against Royals'."

"That's right," said Reay. "I think we look worse now in practice than we did at the start of the season. But maybe it's better that way.

"What's our record lately—two defeats in the last how many games?"

"Twelve." A listener supplied the answer.

"Yeah, twelve," said Billy. "Two defeats in 12 games and we look terrible. I mean it."

"This a big week-end," someone volunteered of the home-and home series with Royals and Sunday's visit to Seattle.

"Yes," admitted Billy. "We need four points against New Westminster. But everybody's been going so bad in workouts, I don't know who to start. And we could do with three straight victories."

"You've already won three in a row," he was reminded.

"Yes, I know," Billy said. "But we need three more."

"How about the line-up?" Billy was asked.

"Well, he said smiling, "we'll need a goalkeeper."

"Almas?", it was suggested.

"Yes, and four defensemen with the numbers 2, 4, 5 and 19," he answered mockingly—then a quizzical frown:

"But maybe it's a good sign. When we look good in practise, we lose; when we look bad . . . we sure need those four points against New Westminster."

* * *

Sure, Reay was kidding to a point, as he later admitted that the same line-up which is unbeaten in the last three games would strip for tonight's contest with the Royals at Memorial Arena.

But he wasn't about the Cougars — "too long a lay-off," he suggested, "often makes a club relax"—and he wasn't some minutes later when he reiterated the importance of the double week-end date with the Royals and what he proposes to do about it in New Westminster Saturday.

"I may use three defensemen," he said.

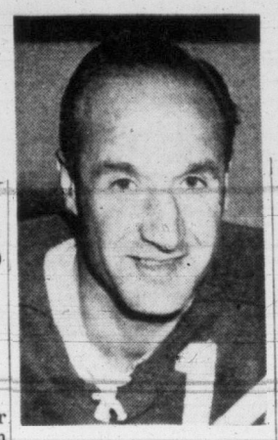
"What?", was the startled reply.

"That's right," Billy answered. "I figure to go with three defensemen and four forward lines. That'll keep the pressure on in that small rink. We need those points."

And so the Cougars do, for if successful against the Royals they'll hit Seattle, Sunday, in third place, and after that comes a Tuesday battle with the Canucks in Vancouver before a five-game home stand.

"Sure wish we didn't look so bad," Billy frowned. "Certainly would like to have one big game at home. See you tomorrow."

Tomorrow is now and game time tonight is 8.30.



BILLY REAY

Geoffrion Snaps Toronto Streak

Detroit 3, Boston 2; Montreal 1, Toronto 0

When Montreal Canadiens practically mortgaged their Forum for Jean Beliveau, the gold-plated rookie from Quebec, Bernie Boom Boom Geoffrion, then the Habs' glamor kid, was forced into second billing on the pre-season roster.

But as the National Hockey League show got rolling Beliveau seemed to develop an allergy to scoring and his usual colorful brand of hockey and finally bowed out temporarily with a fractured ankle.

The 22-year-old Geoffrion burst into the season like a sky rocket and showered the league with fiery performances and game-winning goals.

The native-born Montreal did it again Thursday night. His goal at 4.31 of the second period gave the leading Canadiens a 1-0 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs and snapped the Leafs' unbeaten string at eight games.

The loss sent the Leafs sliding into third place; Detroit Red Wings defeated the fourth-place Boston Bruins 3-2 to move into sole possession of second spot, two points behind Canadiens.

Geoffrion's goal was his eighth of the season and gave him 17 scoring points, the same as Dutch Reibel of the Red Wings. It came on an assist from Elmer Lach.

THIRD SHUTOUT

The shutout was Gerry McNeil's third this season.

Detroit's hometown victory over the Bruins came on a goal by Gord Howe in the last five minutes. The goal, plus an assist on rookie Bill Dineen's second-period marker, sent Howe's scoring stock up to a leading 22 points. Linemate Ted Lindsay, with Metro Prystai, assisted on Howe's goal to give him 19 points. Alex Delvecchio scored the other Wing goal.

Fleming Mackell and Ed Sandford gave the Bruins a 2-0 lead before the Wings took over.

Tonight, in the league's only action, the Bruins journey to Chicago where Black Hawks coach Sid Abel unveils his latest find, 19-year-old Fred Sasakamoose, a full-blooded Cree Indian and an honorary Indian chief.

McCullough Suspended, Refuses to Report

SASKATOON (CP) — Chuck McCullough, captain of Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League, has been suspended for not reporting to Edmonton Flyers, Norman Couch, manager of Quakers, announced Thursday.

McCullough was to have gone to Flyers in a straight player swap for Jim Uniac, captain of the last-place Edmonton club.

Campanella Named NL's 'Most Valuable'

NEW YORK (UP) — Roy Campanella, who is certain to go into the books as one of the greatest catchers who ever lived, became the first one of all time today to win the National League's most valuable player award twice.

He was chosen Thursday on his birthday by the baseball writers of America for the award after a season in which he batted .312, and set two new all-time marks for catchers with 142 runs batted in and 41 homers.

Those were the tangibles which the special committee of 24 writers, three from each league city, took into consideration. What didn't show in the records was his fine handling of the motley Dodger pitching staff, his brilliant all-around defense work, and his terrific good humor and spirit that kept the team relaxed and eager through the long pennant campaign.

Campy won by a comfortable margin over the new major league home run king, Ed Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves. On a basis of 14 points for a first place vote, nine for a second, eight for a third and so on down to one for a 10th, Campanella received 297 points and 17 first place votes.

Mathews received three first place votes and 14 second, running up 216 points. Third place went to Duke Snider of the Dodgers with 157 points. He got one first place vote. He edged Red Schoendienst of the Cardinals who was fourth with 155 points and two first place votes. Warren Spahn of Milwaukee was fifth with 120 points and Robin Roberts of the Phils sixth with 106 and one first place vote. Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati was seventh with 69 points, Stan Musial of the Cardinals eighth with 62 and Carl Erskine and Carl Furillo of the Dodgers tied for ninth with 54 points each.

Little League Soccer Schedule

Scheduled Little League soccer games for Saturday, home team listed first, follow:

UNDER NINE YEARS

Central Bombers vs. Oak Bay Golds, Central Canucks vs. Meadow Park Tigers, Hampton Eskimos vs. Lansdowne Huskies, Oak Bay Whites vs. Bullen Cougars, Reynolds Lions vs. Lansdowne Eagles.

10 TO 12 YEARS

Oak Bay Greens vs. Central Thistles, Meadow Park Albions vs. Central Rangers, Lansdowne City vs. Hampton Hotspurs, Bullen Wolves vs. Oak Bay Blues, Lansdowne Villa vs. Reynolds Rovers.

Kirby Farrell, former first-baseman, has been named manager of the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association.

Chiko Paces Vics to Prep Hoop Victory

Art Chiko pushed up 34 points to pace Victoria High School A team to a 56-53 victory over Oak Bay High in an inter-high school junior basketball league contest Thursday.

Jack Wellman was top scorer for the losers with 20 points.

Victoria High B made its debut by defeating Mount View, 36-21, at Victoria High. Waldo Skillings, Jr., hit for 16 points for the winners and Ross Rosskamp added 14.

Victoria High "A"—Chiko 34, Eng 4, Lore 2, Nex 9, Large 3, Christianson 2, Bond 2. Total—56.

Oak Bay—Showers 13, Wooster 12, Hamey 4, Christie 2, Wellman 20, Clark 2. Total—53.

Quakers Again Crush Flyers

Saskatoon 8, Edmonton 2

Saskatoon Quakers are taking giant strides toward the top of the Western Hockey League, and Edmonton Flyers are proving most obliging as stepping stones.

Quakers, who topped the league standings last year but started slowly this season, chalked up win number five in a row Thursday night with an easy 8-2 triumph over Flyers.

Three of those five consecutive victories have been taken from the hapless Flyers who, at the rate they're descending, will soon own clear title to the loop's cellar. The win vaulted Saskatoon into sole possession of fourth place, just one point behind New Westminster Royals.

SENICK STARS

Smooth-skating George Senick paced the Quakers to their latest win by scoring one goal and setting up four others with picture passes that put his teammates in the clear.

Jackie McLeod and Ray Manson each scored twice for the winners and defenseman Lou Fontinato, Eldie Kobussen and John Bailey got the others.

Enio Sclisizzi and Frank O'Grady were the only Flyers able to dent the armor of Chuck Rayner in the Saskatoon nets. Playing coach Bud Poile engineered both goals.

Tonight Seattle is at Vancouver and Calgary at Edmonton.

ENGLAND CHANGES REP TEAM

LONDON (AP)—Soccer selectors in a desperate bid to keep intact England's 90-year unbeaten home record against foreign teams, today named four new forwards for the game against Hungary at Wembley Stadium Nov. 25.

Of the team which defeated Ireland 3-1 Nov. 12, only Stan Matthews, 39-year-old maestro of English soccer, keeps his place on the forward line.

England team: Gilbert Merrick (Birmingham), Alf Ramsay (Tottenham Hotspurs), Bill Eckersley (Blackburn Rovers), Bill Wright (Wolverhampton Wanderers), Harry Johnston (Blackpool), Jimmy Dickinson (Portsmouth), Stan Matthews (Blackpool), Ernie Taylor (Blackpool), Stan Mortensen (Blackpool), Jackie Sewell (Sheffield Wednesday) and Tom Finney (Preston North End).

UBC Runners Offer Vics Stiff Challenge

Cross-country runners, who have been called "the lonliest athletes in the world," in that they have no spectators and hardly ever see their opponents, are in the spotlight Saturday.

A total of 36 pavement-pounders, representing nine city and mainland teams will set out at three Saturday at Royal Roads in the pursuit of the Admiral Nelles Trophy, currently held by the strong Victoria High School team, coached by Gordon Hartley.

Teams entered are HMCS Naden, two teams from the Royal Canadian School of Engineering at Chilliwack, Victoria College, Victoria High School, Mount View High School, Belmont High School, University of British Columbia and Royal Roads.

The UBC team, lead by Pete Harris, is rated as probably the strongest threat to Vic High's grasp on the trophy. Harris has been outlegging all opposition in Vancouver.

As well as the trophy, all competitors will be eyeing the standing course record of 21 minutes 19 seconds, set last year by Ken Murray of Mount View.

Royal Roads is the host school this year and the course is laid around the large service school estate. The course is 3.8 miles long and is considered to be one of the finest cross-country layouts in the province because it includes pavement, gravel, dirt and foot-paths.

In addition, a half-mile hill one-third of the way along the route, taxes the endurance of the weaker-limbed, and it is on this hill that the race is usually won or lost. The race starts in front of the college castle and finishes on the lower football field.

NO POP-OVERS ALLOWED IN BOXING BUILD-UP NOW

TV Camera Hurts Dan's Chances

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Television can be a cruel medium when it exposes to the public gaze such a travesty on the boxing game as was perpetuated by Danny Bucceroni and Freddie Beshore during the west coast cocktail hour the other evening.

Though he won by a knockout over an obviously washed-up opponent, Bucceroni did not further his claim to a shot at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight title, mainly because a great audience did witness the mismatch and evaluate it for what is was.

The TV screen is cruel to the men who would practice the time-honored custom of building up a challenger through a series of victories over pop-overs — preferably over fattened veterans such as Beshore — whose records show they once were capable of fighting the best in the business on fairly even terms.

Chances are that the entire history of the heavyweight division would have been radically changed if the country-wide telecast had been in operation about 20 years ago.

It is pretty safe to say that Primo Carnera could never have been manoeuvred into the title in 1933.

The Preem's board of directors was able to operate with freedom. In three years, 1930-32, the ex-wrestler piled up a grand total of 46 knockouts, most of them in the early rounds. Carnera learned something about fighting as he went along, too, and by the time he fought Jack Sharkey for the championship here he seldom stepped on his own feet.

Whether the Italian giant would have knocked out Sharkey if their bout had been televised we will never know. The point is that it can never happen again.

Bucceroni, we hasten to say, is no phony. The tall Philadelphian is a top-drawer heavyweight, maybe the second or third best in the world today. He did a workmanlike job of cutting Beshore down. But he will have to prove himself against much better opposition than that before there will be an effective public demand to see him fight Marciano.

ON THE OUTDOOR FRONT

With ROY THORSEN

Victoria's Arch Baillie had a bit of a red face when he sallied forth with some hunting pals at the start of the current duck season.

Arch, Andy Stewart and Allan McAnnally invaded Cowichan Bay flats on opening day and were heading for a good vantage point when things happened.

Arch was wading through tall marsh grass when he suddenly disappeared. He'd fallen into a hole. He emerged soaked from head to foot.

Thorsen

After spending most of that night drying out his clothes, Arch felt a little happier when the next morning dawned and he again joined his partners for the hunt.

"But, be careful where you step, Arch," advised his friends.

He was careful. Almost testing each piece of ground before putting his weight on it . . . when suddenly, he disappeared again. It was the same thing. He'd walked into another water-filled hole.

"Now, don't you tell this to anyone," he urged his friends. "It's terrible that this shouuld happen to the same man twice running!"

His grinning pals were assuring him that nothing would get out, certainly not from their lips, when Arch, teetering around after climbing out of the hole, suddenly again disappeared. It was his third dunking in two days—and my informant says Arch's companions laughed and laughed until tears dimmed their eyes.

Arch was somewhat mollified, too, in that he did manage to bring down one duck. His friend, Andy, scored his limit. (I cannot mention the name of my informant, but his initials are S. W.)

Through some clerical error there has been a bit of a mix-up in regard to the Christmas turkey shoots of the Rangers at their club grounds off Happy Valley Road. Original dates recorded are wrong.

Open Yule shoot on those grounds (wide open to all) will be on Dec. 6. The strictly Ranger-membership shoot will be held at the Luxton grounds on Dec. 13.

Saanich Inlet's offering of springs and bluebacks at this time is rated as medicore. Springs are mostly being taken deep. Bluebacks are big and in fair numbers, a lot being taken on the surface with bucktail flies. Tom Mack and abalone spoons and spinner and worm are other small-fish "killers." Waters off Bamberton, out from Brentwood, get the highest rating.

Latest word from up-island is that bluebacks, nice fat ones, are in prolific numbers off Crofton in the Cowichan area right now. Abalone spoons seem to be most popular.

ORFU All-Star Team Dominated by Imports

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Seven Americans were chosen today for the 1953 Canadian Press Ontario Rugby Football Union all-star team, the greatest representation of import talent in the Union since the poll was inaugurated 21 years ago. The sweep pointed up the trend to U.S.-born players in the country's oldest football union which year after year stuck to the theory of Canadian football for Canadians. In recent seasons, the ORFU gradually added Americans to the Rosters. This season each club was limited to four.

Sarnia Imperials, one-time power in the senior game, who have put emphasis on home-brew talent, bore the brunt of the American invasion. They placed six men on the mythical squad—five Canadians and one American, compared with nine men in 1952.

BEACHES PLACE FOUR

Toronto Balmy Beach, farm club of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, had four men selected, every one an American and one a repeater. Beaches became ORFU champions after ousting Sarnia and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in a play-off series. The three teams had finished in a tie for first place.

THE TEAM

Flying wing—Johnny Chorostecki, Sarnia.

Halves — Dick Gregory, Toronto; Jack Mancos, Kitchener; John Corky Duchene, Sarnia.

Centre — Bruce Mattingley, Sarnia.

Guards—Jay Fry, Kitchener; Dutch Davey, Sarnia.

Tackles—Oattem Fisher, Toronto; Maurice Dorocke, Sarnia.

Ends—Harvey Singleton, Toronto; Keith Fisher, Sarnia.

Esquimalt Bids for Soccer Lead

League rivalry will be revived in the Victoria and District Football Association this week-end with all six teams seeing regular league action.

Saturday, Esquimalt will be out to take over sole possession of first place when they meet Wood Motors at Windsor Park at 2.30. Esquimalt and Canadian Scottish are tied for the league lead.

Scottish tangle with Civil Service at Royal Athletic Park, Sunday, while Victoria West plays Heaney's at lower Beacon Hill Park. Both games start at 2.30.

Servicemen and Scottish recently reached the finals of the McGavin Cup series and are scheduled to meet in the finals Nov. 28.

Attendance Up In Pro Football

NEW YORK (AP)—Crowds at National Football League games this season are up 12 per cent over 1952 with 10 of the 12 teams sharing in the increase.

An Associated Press survey showed today that the American pro league has drawn 1,688,805 customers to its first 48 games. In the same number of games a year ago the total was 1,504,504.

Los Angeles Rams, making a battle for the western division title, show the greatest boost in business. The Rams topped the league in attendance for their first four games in each season but this year their total is 278,741, an increase of 84,024.

Dynamos Edge Danes

COPENHAGEN (CP) — Moscow's Dynamo soccer team came from behind to edge an all-star Danish squad 2-1 Thursday, in the Russians' first match west of the Iron Curtain since 1945. At halftime the Copenhagen team led 1-0.

UNITED COULD MOVE UP

Firemen Here To Test Hex

Victoria United will be out to extend the hex they hold over Vancouver Firefighters when they meet the Smokies Saturday at Athletic Park in a Coast Soccer League match that is important to both clubs.

United, the only club to beat Firefighters this year—they have done it twice—can move as high as second place Saturday with a victory over the Vancouver club and the right combination of wins and losses in other scheduled games on the Mainland.

The Vancouver club is in a three-way tie for second place with New Westminster Royals and Vancouver City at present.

United is currently working of three wins, four losses and a tie.

United's oft-changed forward line will have Cedric Robb at centre forward, flanked by insides Bill Milne and George Wright and wingers Jim Turner and Ab Travis.

The defense will be unchanged with Bill McAllister in goal, Bill Hope and Joe Robbins at fullbacks and Harry Carruthers, Herman Henry and Jackie Robbins on the intermediary line.

Spares are Coach Wally Milligan, Chick Newman, Roy Speller, Hec McIntyre and Timmy Walker. Bill McMillan injured his leg Thursday night and will not be available.

VISITORS' LINE-UP

Firefighters' line-up has Alan Butler in goal, Dick Kenny and Pete Proctor at fullbacks and Harry Smith, Dave Sullivan and Bob Hunter on the half-line. Up forward, Art Hughes is at centre, Dave Morton and Doug Grieg at insides and Frank Ambler and Doug Hemmerling on the wings. Spares are Alex McKay, Eina Crema and Ed Wild.

George Barnes, coming out of temporary retirement, will referee the match with Ed Ball and Denny Heineky on the lines.

Game time is 2.30.

Touring Pros Win

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Two touring American basketball teams racked up victories over local opposition last night.

The Harlem Globe-Trotters downed the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds 69-37 while the Boston Whirlwinds scored a 69-55 victory over the Vancouver Eilers of the senior "A" men's league.

FIGHT RESULTS

By the Associated Press

HERSHEY, Pa.—Harold Johnson, 177, Philadelphia, outpointed Chub Wright, 186, Reading, Pa. (10).

FALL RIVER, Mass.—Jimmy Slade, 180, New York, stopped Herman Harris, 173, Asheville, N.C. (4).

DETROIT—Pat Lowry, 149, Toledo, O., knocked out Ralph Alvarez, 143, St. Paul, Minn. (6).

WORCESTER, Mass.—Livio Minelli, 154½, Italy, outpointed Billy Andy, 154, Providence, R.I. (10).

McMorran's Win

McMorran's came from behind to defeat Sidney, 33-15, in a Saanich and Suburban Basketball League juvenile boys' contest at Lake Hill Hall Thursday night.

Bill Oldham paced the winners with 14 points, while R. Jacobson scored seven for the losers.

Carpet Bowling

Scheduled games for next week in the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League follow:

Monday—Beadles vs. CCF, Sherwood vs. Willows.

Wednesday—Bridges and Warrender vs. Greenslade and Dorey, Thomas and Jenkins vs. McKenzie and Smith.

Thursday—Drummond and Drummond vs. Colvin and McIntosh, McKenzie and Smith vs. Greenslade and Dorey.

AUSSIES TAKE DOUBLES TITLE

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The young Australians, Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad, came from behind today to beat Americans Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert, 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, for the doubles championship of New South Wales tennis tournament.

Lewis Hoad's Ailing Arm Causes Concern

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—Australian tennis officials were concerned today over the condition of Lewis Hoad's ailing right arm.

The 19-year-old Australian star admitted that the arm pained him and he was forced to slacken his service Thursday when he beat Tony Trabert of Cincinnati in the singles semi-finals of the new South Wales tournament.

In today's doubles final when asked about a red spot on his right arm, Hoad explained that he was using a special salve. He also said he had been taking heat treatments to ease the pain.

Hoad was forced to give up tennis for six months two years ago because of a "tennis elbow."

Elementary Swim Gala Draws Big Entry List

Tonight will be one of the biggest nights of the year for some 200 elementary school students participating in the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club-sponsored elementary schools swimming gala at Crystal Gardens.

Doors are scheduled to open at 6.45 with the first event getting under way at 7.15.

Among the entry list of 17 schools will be the two defending champions. Lampson Street School currently holds the VASC Trophy for schools housing from Grades 1 to 8, while Sir James Douglas School will be defending the Times Trophy for schools from Grades 1 to 6.

Where heats are required in various races, the first three finishers in each heat will be timed and winners will be named according to their times. Officials will use this system to ease strain on the youngsters as well as eliminate the necessity of running elimination heats.

Referee Threatens To Forfeit Game

Veteran Pete Wyrot broke up one of the liveliest games played in Glace Bay in some time on Thursday night when he pumped in an overtime goal to give the Halifax Atlantics a 7-6 decision in the only Maritime Major Hockey League game scheduled.

The game was nearly stopped in the second period when the referee threatened to give it to Halifax after four majors, a misconduct and five other penalties were called. Seven players were out with penalties at one time following duels between opposing players.

MORE THAN FREEZE-UP SAFEGUARD NEEDED TO GIVE ENGINES COMPLETE WINTER PROTECTION!

AMBULANCE DRIVER TELLS HOW HE LEARNED TO INSIST ON "PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE

Walter Darwin, independent ambulance operator of Toronto, Ontario, learned the hard way that there is no substitute for "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze.

Says Walter Darwin: 'One bitter night four years ago on the way to an accident I had one of those 'just as good' anti-freezes boil over. I had to stop and phone another ambulance to make the call. That cured me! There just isn't any other anti-freeze that gives the same complete protection as "Prestone" Brand. Ever since that night I've used "Prestone" Anti-Freeze and no matter how cold it gets, I've never had trouble.'

You're Set! You're Safe! You're Sure!

"Prestone" Anti-Freeze gives Extra protection against winter engine enemies

"PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE PROTECTS AGAINST RUST, CORROSION, FOAMING AND ACID CONTAMINATION

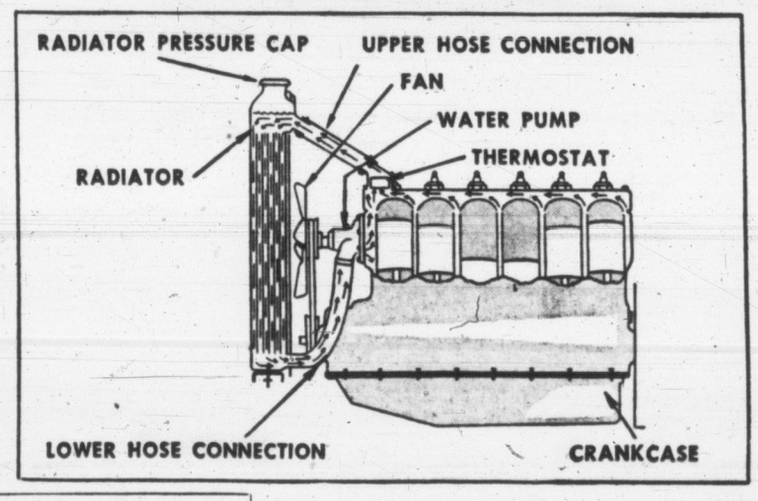
If freeze-up were the only problem connected with winter driving the answer would be very simple. As a matter of fact there are many fluids, solutions and chemicals which either by themselves or when added to water will resist freezing at low temperatures. Many of these substitutes for a scientifically compounded anti-freeze have been tried . . . nearly always with disastrous results to the car engine.

Many of these make-shift anti-freezes resulted in corroded, rusted and clogged cooling systems. Others boiled over, evaporated and foamed, causing serious engine damage.

No such problems worry the driver who uses "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. Product of this country's largest, most completely equipped automotive cooling system laboratory, "Prestone" Anti-Freeze has proved itself over millions of miles of driving under the most extreme winter conditions.

"Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze —the most effective anti-freeze ever developed for automotive cooling systems—is fortified with a combination of special ingredients to give much more than just freeze-up protection. "Prestone" Anti-Freeze gives car engines extra protection against rust, corrosion, acid contamination, clogging, seepage, foaming and deterioration of metal and rubber parts. No other anti-freeze can give the same complete protection.

INCREASES ENGINE EFFICIENCY AND GAS MILEAGE



This cutaway view of an automotive engine shows the vitally important role of the cooling system

In winter, 150-160 degree thermostats do not permit car engines to operate at temperatures required for maximum efficiency. Cold running engines develop oil sludge, carbon deposits and sticky valves.

Because "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze does not boil or foam at high engine operating temperatures it is possible to use thermostats opening at 180 degrees. The results of using "Prestone" Anti-Freeze with a high opening temperature thermostat are tangible indeed. There is a definite reduction in oil sludge, carbon deposit and engine wear. The engine operates with greater efficiency and delivers more miles per gallon of gasoline.

Fourteen Special Ingredients make "Prestone" Anti-Freeze Different from Any Other

More Anti-Freeze Lost Through Foaming Than From Evaporation

It is a popular misconception among drivers that evaporation is the only cause of loss of anti-freeze solution. The fact of the matter is that overflow loss through foaming of as much as a half-gallon of solution per thousand miles of driving can be caused by an anti-freeze that traps and holds air in solution.

Foaming loss occurs during high speed driving when air mixes with the solution at high circulating speeds. The trapped air takes up space and increases the volume of the mixture until some of it goes out the overflow pipe.

Although it is a serious problem with some anti-freezes there is no foaming problem with "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze.

There's Nothing Else Like It!

Made from a formula with fourteen special ingredients, "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze gives the extra protection that makes it different and superior to any other anti-freeze.

"Prestone" Anti-Freeze is the original 'one-shot' anti-freeze that is still ahead of the field. As automotive engines have improved, "Prestone" Anti-Freeze has kept pace through continued research, development and testing.

Proof of performance is shown by the overwhelming public preference for "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze over all other anti-freezes.

Is Your Car Less Than 8 Years Old?

Registered vehicles produced during the last eight years represent more than 50% of all cars in service. The newly designed engines in modern vehicles affect anti-freeze solutions in many ways. Increased horsepower; high speed engines; high compression ratios; radiator pressure caps—these and other refinements combine to place tremendous loads on cooling systems. The result is increased heat and pressure build-up on the anti-freeze solutions.

"Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze has demonstrated under the most severe conditions that it gives complete protection to the most modern car engines.

FATAL LAST WORDS

'THIS ANTI-FREEZE IS JUST THE SAME AS "PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE!'

Guarantee

National Carbon Limited guarantees that "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze, if used according to printed directions, in a normal water cooling system, will protect the cooling system of your car against freezing and clogging from rust formation for a full winter; also that it will not boil away, will not cause damage to car finish, or to the metal or rubber parts of the cooling system, and that it will not leak out of a cooling system tight enough to hold water.

ALL-WINTER ALL-WEATHER GUARANTEE

The guarantee shown here appears on every can sold. No other anti-freeze is backed by this guarantee—no other anti-freeze can give the same complete protection.

SOLD ONLY IN CANS BEARING BRAND NAME "PRESTONE"

Unwary car owners are often deceived by claims that such and such an anti-freeze is 'just the same' as "Prestone" Brand. The truth is that "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze is made only by National Carbon Limited who make no other brand of all-winter anti-freeze. Drivers should insist on and get "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. It is sold everywhere in Canada.

NOT 'POLITICALLY INSANE' BUT—

Come Now, Bert, We Could Be 'Wacky'

OTTAWA (CP)— A Social Credit member of parliament for British Columbia Thursday denied in the Commons that his province is in a period of "temporary political insanity."

Bert Leboe was referring to a comment in the House Tuesday by Edward T. Applewhaite (Lib., Skeena) on the election of the British Columbia Social Credit government.

Mr. Leboe said the people of British Columbia will not be "flattered" by Mr. Applewhaite's statement.

"To say the people of British Columbia have gone rather 'wacky' and thus infer temporary insanity because they do not agree with the honorable member's politics is to insult the intelligence of the people of that great area," Mr. Leboe said.

"I think they were exercising their democratic right when they did as they did, removing from office a government that had been guilty of very bad rule."

COPPER MOUNTAIN, B.C. (CP)—John Detterbeck 31-year-old miner, was killed at the Granby Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company plant here Wednesday. An inquest will be held Monday.

Coast Guard Not Planned, Says Chevrier

Vancouver Island Services 'Adequate'

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier said Thursday in the Commons that the government has no plans for a coast guard on the west coast.

He was asked by Colin Cameron (CCF, Nanaimo): "As we are dependent upon the United States Coast Guard for a sea rescue on the coast of British Columbia, has the government any plans for the establishment of a coast guard service on the Pacific coast in the near future?"

Mr. Chevrier replied: ". . . I do not think it is accurate to say that we have no service on the west coast. On the contrary, we have two modern life-saving stations on that coast, on Vancouver Island, with two modern boats operating at pretty fast speeds. Then, over and above that, we have a voluntary service covering the whole of the west coast of Vancouver Island. Under the circumstances, I do not think I can answer the last part of my honorable friend's question in the affirmative."

Carpenters Seek Pay Hike, Shorter Work Week in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Carpenters' Union (TLC-AFL) has asked two major British Columbia contracting firms for pay increases of 15 cents an hour and a 35-hour five-day week.

The contract demands for 1954 were presented to Morrison-Knudsen Company of Canada, Ltd., Wednesday on behalf of 400 carpenters at Prince George, Prince Rupert and Kemano. The same proposals are being placed before Kitimat Constructors today for another 200 carpenters employed by that firm.

Hotelman Fred Sick Dies at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Frederick Sick, 61, pioneer hotelman whose father founded Sick's Brewery company, died Thursday at his home here.

He was identified with the hotel business in Vancouver and Courtenay on Vancouver Island for many years, retiring in 1945 because of ill health. He also lived in Calgary some years ago. He was born in Tacoma, Wash.

NORWEGIAN EVANGELISTS — Rev. and Mrs. Birger Thornes of Oslo, Norway, are conducting special meetings at Glad Tidings Tabernacle, 842 North Park Street. Rev. Thornes has held special meetings in several European countries before coming to America. Mrs. Thornes accompanies her husband in his travels. She is a lyric soprano and an accomplished musician, playing organ, piano and piano-accordion in the services. The meetings continue next week at eight o'clock each evening except Monday and Saturday.

Boys' Hobby Booster, Stanley Jarvis, Named 'Mr. Optimist' by City Clubmen

He has a gay twinkle in his eye; his face has smile creases. He looks like an optimist . . . and he is Mr. Optimist of the year, Stanley E. Jarvis, 506 Niagara Street.

The Victoria Optimists Club named him Thursday for presentation of the Optimist creed by club president Fred Tanner. The award was made for Mr. Jarvis' work with boys at the Optimist Hobby Centre, 937 Fairfield Road.

Mr. Jarvis has been active in helping boys build models and has long campaigned for a model boat pool in the city.

Another presentation was made to F. S. Maddock, 4338 Cedar Hill Road, who though a non-member of the club had done much work at the hobby centre.

Speaker at the luncheon was Rev. G. R. Easter of First Baptist Church. He stressed the need for character building if the democracy is to stand.

The hamburger was invented by South Germans waiting at the port of Hamburg for ships to America. Although the sandwich was named in honor of the city, it was not popularized until it emigrated to the United States.

OPPORTUNITIES

For Men Who Want Adventure, Advancement and a Good Future

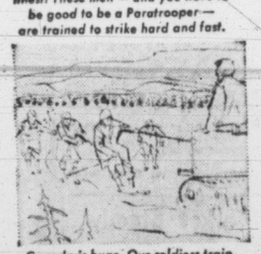
Canadian troops have been praised as second to none in Europe. There's plenty to see and do, when you serve in the Army.

In Korea, our soldiers played an important and proud role. Adventure and travel await the man who serves in such a theatre.

Soldiers of the sky — Canada's finest! These men — and you have to be good to be a Paratrooper — are trained to strike hard and fast.



Canada is huge. Our soldiers train for many climate conditions. The Arctic is one of the most important of these.

The Army uses the most modern equipment available. More men, to use and instruct others in these weapons, are needed immediately.

The Army finds out what you can do. Then, where possible, trains you in a field you like and where you are most apt to succeed.

If you want a life that is exciting and challenging — a job that is truly important, you'll find them in the Army.

Never before has the Army been able to offer so many opportunities for special training and advancement for men who can qualify.

If you are physically fit, like active outdoor life, can take spells of rugged going — then the Army is the place for you. There's no greater career opportunity for a red-blooded Canadian.

Above all, you build security for your future and Canada's in the Army.

To be eligible, you must be 17 to 40 years of age (skilled tradesmen to 45). When applying bring birth certificate or other proof of age.*

Apply right away — For full information write or visit the Army Recruiting Centre nearest your home.

APPOINTMENT of W. E. McLaughlin as an assistant general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada was announced today. J. W. Powell, manager at Ottawa, will succeed him in the managership of the bank's Montreal branch, a post Mr. McLaughlin has held for the last three years.

MARKETS SUMMARY

Western Oils, Golds Gain

TORONTO (CP) — Prices mixed in light trading toward the close of today's stock market session.

Industrials were lower. Western oils and golds were up, and base metals showed a nominal gain. Uraniums were mixed.

In industrials, papers, steels, banks, manufactures, and liquors gained but utilities and refining oils lost.

In golds Belleterre retained its $1 gain, but most juniors were lower. Seniors mixed.

Uraniums were steady at Thursday's closing level with little price changes.

Western oils moved ahead. Gains slightly exceeded losses in number and were well ahead in size. Canada Southern led the risers. Devon Leduc and Consolidated Peak were both down pennies.

Little Action On Big Board

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed today with attention focussed on stocks affected by dividend news. Prices moved small fractions either way.

Most major divisions were mixed and there was no significant group activity or movement.

Canadian stocks were mixed. McIntyre was ahead one point and Distillers-Seagram gained ¼. Dome Mines fell ¼, Canadian Pacific eased ⅛, and International Nickel and Hiram Walker were unchanged.

Canadian issues on the American stock exchange were higher. Lake Shore advanced ¼. Giant Yellowknife added ⅛, and Royalite Oil slipped ¼.

Few Price Changes On Quiet Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Few changes appeared on the stock market list today. Trading was quiet.

Papers and utilities were better while miscellaneous industrials, senior metals and senior oils were down. Beverages, steels and banks were mixed and carriers unchanged.

Trading in mines continued slow and prices were lower. Western oils were featureless and remained unchanged.

London Steadier

LONDON (Reuters)—London stock markets today generally gave a good account of themselves despite a rather poor start.

Hesitancy was largely overcome and with the possible exception of the industrial section markets took on a steadier note.

Oil shares tended slightly upwards. Mining issues were firm with interest in South African gold shares. Coppers and diamonds were better. Gilt-edged were quiet but steady.

Closing prices: Babcock & Wilcox 46s 10½d, Boots Pure Drug 21s 10½d, Canadian Pacific $41⅝, Central Mining £1 5/16, Courtaulds 46s 9d, Hudson's Bay Co. 90s, Imperial Chemical 50s 7½d; Imperial Tobacco 58s 9d, Metal Box 64s 6d, Mexican Eagle 22s 6d, Rand Mines 66s 3d.

Bonds: British 2½s Consols £65¼, British 3½s War Loans £85½, British Fundings 4s 1960-1990 £101½.

LONDON (AP)—Financial Times index of stocks: 129.5, off 0.8.

Bond Market Steady

MONTREAL (CP)—Government of Canadas were firm in steady dealings today on Montreal bond markets. On the corporate side trading was quiet with both convertibles and non-convertibles steady.

Coaster in Tow After Breakdown In Nootka Sound

Canadian Pacific west coaster, Princess of Alberni will be tugged into harbor here early Saturday morning following an engine failure at Nootka Cannery Thursday night.

CPSS officials announced this morning that a Union Steamship's vessel, Island King, will take over the Island's west coast run while engine repairs are carried out in Victoria.

The tug Island Sovereign was called to assist Princess of Alberni and took her in tow at 6 p.m. The engine trouble was not believed to be serious, but the ship has been stormbound for a week.

Expected time of arrival at Victoria is 4 a.m., Saturday.

The Island King will carry freight only. She is loading today in Vancouver for the Gulf Islands run and will leave Victoria midnight Saturday for the seven-day trip up the Island's west coast.

BUSINESS CAPSULE

By ED McLEAN

Disparity in Vancouver and Victoria rail freight rates to points east of Hope, B.C., has been narrowed slightly by a "joker" in the 5 per cent reduction in western rates that becomes effective on Canadian railways this week.

The reduction does not apply in centres where the railways provide pick-up and delivery service.

Vancouver, one of the cities thus affected, is protesting loudly that the railways thus have circumvented reduction ordered by Board of Transport Commissioners.

One of the side-effects is paring of a fraction from current disparity in tariffs applicable to Vancouver and Victoria. Vancouver rates are the same as before, but Victoria's are 5 per cent less.

Welcome though this small reduction is, it won't affect Victoria Chamber of Commerce freight rates committee's determination to bring about restoration of the freight rate parity with Vancouver which this city enjoyed for a quarter-century until mid-1949.

New representations now are being prepared by the VCC committee headed by Fred W. Hawes. These will be delivered to BTC at the month's end.

On Nov. 30 Transport Board will hear the arguments of provincial government in connection with equalized freight rates (i.e. rates based on mileage only, custom or trade necessity) scheduled to come into effect next year.

C. W. Brazier, QC, will represent B.C. at the Nov. 30 hearing.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trade was moderately active today on the Winnipeg grain exchange but prices moved narrowly, except in flax, where fair gains were noted.

There was no report on overnight loadings of Canadian wheat.

Prices for the top grades of Class Two, TWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans hit the $3 mark for the first time since May 20 in a late price run-up on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat was weak, leading the market downward in early dealings. Wheat rallied near the finish, although not recovering all the ground lost.

Wheat closed ¾-1½ lower, Dec. $1.97¾; corn unchanged to ⅜ higher, Dec. $1.51½-⅝; oats ¼-⅜ lower, Dec. 75⅞-¾; rye ¾-1⅛ lower, Dec. $1.18-$1.18¼; soybeans 1½ lower to 2¼ higher, Jan. $2.99¾.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Punch gets more mail than anybody. For instance:

Dear Punch:

I have an invitation for you and your Old man and his Favorite Wife. The Cats' Protection League is holding its annual Cats' Christmas Tree and Tea on Saturday, Nov. 28 at 3 p.m. in the Orange Hall, 725 Courtney Street. Of course, Punch, you must promise to control your enthusiasm if I should happen to walk in looking very smart in my white fur coat.

Perhaps you could suggest to the Old Man that he put a tinsel leash with a red bell on you for this occasion—no suspicion meant, of course.

There will be dozens of cans of cat food on the tree, Punch, but neither you nor I will have even a sniff of it because it is for cats belonging to pensioners who have sent in their names to my mistress, the secretary of the Cats' Protection League, at 646 Niagara Street. But the home-cooking stall may have its compensations, we can always hide underneath it and hope an accident will happen.

To get away from the party, Punch, I quite agree with you, possibly for different reasons, that our lovely trees should be conserved as much as possible.

Hoping to meet you by one of those big oaks,

Your purring friend,

PATRICK AND PERSIAN

Punch, having been brought up to mind his manners, hastens to reply to the invitation:

Dear Patrick:

Thank you for your kind invitation to the Christmas Tree party. I will be very pleased to accept.

However, I must say you will never catch me wearing a tinsel leash and a red bell. After all, I am a grown up dog, a respected journalist, and a candidate for mayor, and I have my dignity to think of.

As for touching any of the cat food on the tree, do not worry. I am strictly a meat and potatoes boy myself.

If you will allow me to make a suggestion, I think it would be wise if you arranged to have a VERY tall Christmas tree, for your own protection.

Although I have the Old Man pretty well trained, he has a tendency to get out of control when he sees a cat, and I cannot be fully responsible for him.

So we will be seeing you a week from Saturday. And remember, whatever happens, you brought it on yourself.

Before I close this letter, I would like to remind you of another very important date for all us four-legged people. The date is Monday, Nov. 23, the opening day of the SPCA's campaign for funds.

You know, Pat, all dogs and cats aren't as fortunate as you and I. Many of the poor little characters haven't an Old Man or Old Lady to take care of, which makes them lonesome indeed.

So the SPCA gives these unfortuate little fellers a place to sleep, and good food to eat, until someone comes along who gives them a good home.

Did you know, Pat, the SPCA needs at least $10,000 a year to operate? And the SPCA is supported solely by small donations from thoughtful people?

So pass the word to all your two-legged friends who have a few dollars to spare. Ask them to send it to the SPCA, 111 Wilson Street.

The Old Man and his Favorite Wife join me in extending kindest regards to your mistress, Mrs. H. M. Kerswell.

PUNCH.

SCIENCE SURE MORESBY BLAST NO METEORITE

Positive that the Tuesday night blast on Moresby Island, near Sidney, was caused by lightning, Dominion Astrophysical Observatory officials have canceled plans to visit the scene personally.

"If it had been a meteorite, as was first suspected, we would have investigated," said Dr. Andrew McKellar, astronomist. "All direct reports, though, indicate lightning had struck."

RCMP said today that police from Ganges who investigated the site and surroundings were satisfied that shattered and burning trees had been hit by lightning.

Mr. Morgan is twice as old as his wife was when he was as old as she is now. But this doesn't worry them at all. The thought of being 56 might be a little alarming, but it just happens that their two ages add up to that total. What do you make Mrs. Morgan's age?

Thursday's answer: Mike is clean-shaven.

'Do I Have to Go to Honolulu?'

Few Hawaii-bound travelers have woebegone expression of "Fan," Basenji that left Patricia Bay Airport today on first leg of ocean trip. Mrs. J. W. Anderson, 1972 Fairfield Road, who raised Fan and sold her to Honolulu buyer, said unique frown on Basenji is caused when ears perk up with interest. Natives of Belgian Congo, they have no bark, but can make all other doggy sounds plus "yodel" when highly pleased. Fan, properly known as "Glenairley Orange Fantan," is first Canadian-bred Basenji to make Hawaiian trip. (Times Photo.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL BUS LICENSE FEES RETURNED

The provincial government has remitted the 1953 license fees of nine Pentecostal church Sunday school buses.

The concession, a departure in policy, was made under a section of the Revenue Act which permits remission of taxes when such payments would work a "great hardship to the public."

The section says the provincial cabinet can remit any tax when deemed "right and conducive to the public good."

The remittance has been approved by order-in-council. The order noted the religious organizations operate buses in connection with their church and Sunday School work free of charge "for the benefit of the public."

The list of the churches which will have the fees remitted: Emmanuel Pentecostal Church, New Westminster; Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, Riverside Sunday School, Campbell River; Elim Tabernacle, Port Alberni; Full Gospel Tabernacle, Gibson's, B.C.; Glad Tidings Tabernacle, Mission City, and Calvary Temple, Kamloops (three buses).

Chamber to Explore Amalgamation Cost

Expert's Fee Immediate Problem Before Wider Study Undertaken

Cost of an independent expert's views on every aspect of Greater Victoria municipal amalgamation will be determined immediately by Victoria Chamber of Commerce civic affairs group.

Cost of such a study has been "guestimated" at $10,000.

Logan Mayhew offered some time ago to donate $1,000 to an amalgamation-study fund provided Oak Bay, Saanich, Esquimalt and Victoria businessmen contributed the rest.

Also suggested has been a per-capita levy of the four municipalities. Ten cents a head would create a fund of about $12,000.

DECISION REACHED

Decision to ask out-of-town experts to quote their fee for a full-scale study was taken Thursday night by chamber of commerce's amalgamation sub-committee.

Members are M. Aubrey Kent, civic affairs group chairman; R. H. B. Ker, Len Woodhouse, Forrest L. Shaw, J. Don Smith and Stickney Harris, Jaycee representative. All except Mr. Ker attended last night's meeting.

The group reviewed a mass of data—mostly favorable to municipal amalgamation — provided by authorities at Greater Toronto, Windsor and Kingston in Ontario, Stoke-on-Trent, England, and Kansas City, Mo.

In all these places municipal amalgamation, similar to that proposed for Greater Victoria, has been undertaken and, generally found acceptable.

Nevertheless, the chamber of commerce group is convinced a penetrating review of the Greater Victoria situation and a thorough-going analysis of amalgamation's likely effects on the individual municipalities, is a vital preliminary to public and official discussion of the question.

Therefore it ordered that exact cost of such a study be obtained, with a view to undertaking the survey, provided finances can be raised.

WOMEN'S VOTE BENNETT HOPE

Premier W. A. C. Bennett is strong in his belief that the women voters of Victoria are behind the Social Credit Party in the forthcoming Nov. 24 by-election.

He told a party rally Thursday night for Finance Minister Einar Gunderson that "The women of Victoria are going to see we have the biggest majority ever given a single candidate."

He said the women of the province were in the majority, "and we have been fair to them. It was the women who elected us two years ago, and this year the same."

Of the 75 persons present at the meeting, about half were women. They cheered.

Driver's Error Hinted Cause of Three Deaths

Trucker Testifies Demolished Car In Wrong Lane at Time of Crash

The death car which struck a trailer truck and claimed the lives of three Victoria shipping men Nov. 10, was about six inches over the highway centre-line at the time of the crash, truck driver John K. Dewar testified today.

Police added that the Austin car was bounced back 116 feet from the estimated point of impact.

Inquest into the death of Stanley John Cross and Donald B. Johnston was held this morning at McCall Bros. Funeral Home.

Mr. Cross and Mr. Johnston died instantly in the accident, and a third passenger, Lester B. Jones, died later in hospital without regaining consciousness.

SURVIVOR TESTIFIES

The sole occupant of the small car to escape death when it crashed into a tractor-trailer truck, Capt. Bernard McKay of Vancouver, gave a brief but dramatic account of the tragedy as he remembered it.

The deep-sea pilot stated he and the three who died left Cowichan Bay about 3 p.m. in Johnston's car with Johnston driving. Captain McKay was in the right rear seat with Jones beside him. Cross was in the front seat with the driver.

"My first idea that anything was wrong came when I heard Cross crying out 'My God, a truck!' I looked up and saw Cross throw his arms up in front of his face.

"Then I caught one glimpse of a truck. It seemed to be across the road. It appeared to be coming toward us broadside.

"My next recollection is of being out on the road and a man putting his arm around me and helping me into his car."

COULDN'T REMEMBER

On questioning, Captain McKay said he could not remember the actual moment of impact. He also said it was possible the truck was stationary, but "it seemed to me it was coming at us."

Captain McKay said in his opinion Johnston had been driving very carefully. He had no idea of the speed of the car at the time of the accident, but said they had passed no cars on the road and several vehicles had passed them.

He testified that no liquor had been consumed by any of the occupants of the car.

The truck driver, Dewar, said he was traveling between 30 and 35 miles per hour and that he first saw the small car about four or five car lengths away.

"I think I hit the foot break," he said. "I saw a look of terror on the face of the driver of the Austin. I swung the wheel and the small car flashed by the truck cab. Then there was a crash."

Mr. Dewar said he did not believe the tractor-trailer jack-knifed.

He said he had been driving that route for five or six years and considered the scene of the accident one of the most dangerous corners he had ever seen.

The jury went out at 12.40 today but no verdict had been reached by press time.

Corporal Joseph Shepherd, in charge of the RCMP detachment at Colwood, identified the scene of the accident as the point where Golden Gate Road joins with the Trans-Canada Highway.

He said the bodies of Johnson and Cross were pinned in the front seat of the car and the dashboard and steering wheel had to be removed before they could be freed. He said it had been raining earlier in the afternoon and there might have been a slight drizzle at the time of the accident.

DANGER RECOGNIZED

He referred to Goldstream corner as "a corner I have always respected. It is just as bad as any corner between Victoria and Nanaimo. It is equally dangerous for southbound and northbound traffic."

He said there was no evidence of high speed on the part of the truck.

Eighteen photos were introduced as evidence by Constable Robert W. Morley, RCMP.

Juvenile Escapees Caught in Nanaimo

Three youths who escaped from the Victoria juvenile detention home Wednesday night were caught early today by RCMP at Nanaimo.

They have been returned to the Cold Harbor Road institution.

Casey Wants Apology From His Accusers

Reeve Joseph Casey said today he will demand a "public apology" from ex-councillor E. P. Cummins and Thomas Nixon for accusing him making illegal payments to certain Saanich municipal employees.

The reeve's demand for a public apology follows a report from auditors Ismay, Boiston and Dunn, who cleared Mr. Casey and the council's finance committee of permitting irregularities in the finances of the municipality. They examined the books this week.

Mr. Cummins, who is contesting the reeveship in the December elections, and Mr. Nixon, a police commission candidate, had made the charges at a council meeting last Monday.

POSSIBLE LEGAL ACTION

The reeve also disclosed that some members of the council's finance committee are seriously considering taking legal action against the two men.

"The matter will be discussed at a special council meeting Monday, he said.

Meanwhile, H. K. Bate, chairman of the council's finance committee, announced that he is giving "serious consideration to the possibility of taking libel and slander proceedings" against Mr. Cummins and Mr. Nixon.

"People should be stopped from making statements at election time which have the sole purpose of blackening the character of their opponents and supposedly building up their own prestige," he said.

He said the matter would be considered at the special council meeting Monday.

Polio Recurs Here; Sidney Man Victim

A new case of polio was reported at Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

A 26-year-old Sidney man was admitted to isolation following a two-week lull in the incidence of the disease on lower Vancouver Island.

Total number of cases reported locally this year now stands at 97. Sidney cases are included in the Greater Victoria total. There have been 116 cases on Vancouver Island.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Is it required that married women, whether employed or not, pay the Victoria poll tax when they use the privilege of voting? Can you tell me the exemptions of both the poll and road tax? Mrs. J.M.H.

A.—If a woman is under 60 years of age and works and has an income, she must pay the road tax of $2 a year. When she has paid the road tax she is qualified to be put on the voters' list. For this registration she may apply, and when put on the list may vote for mayor, aldermen, police commissioners and school trustees, and on referendums, but not on money by-laws. There is no way she can qualify to vote on money by-laws except by acquiring property in her own name, apart from property held by her husband, who as a property holder is eligible to vote on money by-laws. However, even if she should acquire property now she could not vote on the $3,390,000 Greater Victoria School by-law in December, as the period for registering this year, September and October, expired October 31, approximately three weeks ago.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

CANDIDATES' PLATFORMS IN CAPSULE

Four Challenge Claude Harrison For Victoria's Mayoral Throne

For the first time in 22 years there are five candidates seeking election as Victoria's mayor.

Voters will make their choice in three weeks, on Thursday, Dec. 10.

Here are brief biographies and capsule summaries of their platforms:

Harrison, Claude L.—Born in Victoria, Sept. 20, 1886, son of Judge Eli Harrison. Barrister and solicitor. Served as city prosecutor for 40 years before retiring in 1951. Was elected mayor in four-way contest that year. Ran as independent candidate in provincial election in June. Is a noted outdoorsman and conservationist. Chief interests are mountaineering and yachting. Residence: 3510 Beach Drive.

Harrison's platform: Will work toward putting Victoria on sounder financial footing; will practice economy; continue pay-as-you-go, no-borrowing policy; will not allow heavier tax burden to fall on ratepayers; will conclude those things which he has undertaken while in office which he has not had time to conclude; will take a firm stand on every issue; promises "no pussyfooting."

Hunt, Charles W. — Born in London, Eng., 52 years ago. Came to Victoria as a boy and attended Boys' Central and Victoria High Schools. Enlisted in army in 1917 at age 17. Served with Canadian Scottish Reserve in peacetime; was turned down for active service in Second World War because of eyesight. Salesman for 28 years with Whitaker & Revercomb. Also has had own dance orchestra for 30 years. President of local 247, American Federation of Musicians, for 13 years. Member of Victoria Gyro Club, Fraternal Order of Eagles and Britannia Branch, Legion. Residence: 3176 Fifth Street.

Hunt's platform: Bring "harmony" into City Hall; restore confidence and spirit of esprit de corps among civic staff; have council decide policy; let manager and department heads carry out their work without interference; establish close, friendly relations with the public through "door-always-open" policy in mayor's office; favors amalgamation through gradual merging of various services without displacing any employees.

★ ★ ★

Scurrah, Percy B. — Born in Ontario. Educated at Welland, Ont., Queen's University, Kingston. President, Scurrah's Ltd. Elected alderman in 1949; re-elected, 1951. Is past president of Victoria Rotary Club; past district governor of Rotary, and a former director of Rotary International. Is a past director of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and a former chairman of chamber's retail merchants' section. Residence: 19 King George Terrace.

Scurrah's platform: Is independent; has no party affiliations; deplores party politics in City Hall; fears party man would put party policies before city's welfare; will press for capital city grant from provincial government equal to what province would pay if taxed on the $7,000,000 assessment of its holdings; would build new Point Ellice bridge; would develop facilities for handling increased traffic; develop Topaz Park for residents in northern area; improve Dallas Road waterfrontage if money available; favors establishment of metropolitan police and fire departments.

Skillings, Waldo McT.—Born, Sept. 9, 1906, at Port Elgin, Ont. Came to Victoria in 1910. Educated at schools here, including Victoria College and Victoria Normal School. Taught school for three years; was 16 years president and general manager of Victoria Baggage Co.; has been agent with Great West Life Assurance Co. during last seven years. Was school trustee from 1945 to 1948; first elected alderman in 1948; led aldermanic poll in 1951. Has five sons. Ran as Social Credit candidate in federal election in August. Residence, 1721 Rockland Avenue.

Skillings' platform: Seek a private act for Victoria; bring about co-operation between mayor, council and manager; use parking meter revenue for improving traffic conditions and solving parking problems; beautify Dallas Road waterfront; re-evaluate city parks to insure sufficient playing fields; co-operate with adjacent municipalities on protective services; designate city lands sale revenue for major development projects; put Victoria's affairs in such order that adjacent municipalities will want to amalgamate.

Smith, J. Donald — Born in Ontario 34 years ago. Educated Braemore School. Came to Victoria in 1942. Was elected alderman in 1951; returned in 1952. Is managing director of Financial Survey Ltd. Is past president of Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce; past vice-president of B.C. Junior Chamber, and vice-chairman of civic affairs committee of Victoria Senior Chamber. Ran as Social Credit candidate in provincial election in 1952. Residence: 1452 Fairfield Road.

Smith's platform: Restore harmony in council; let aldermen have a say in alloting committee work; draw up long-range plan for developing parks, beaches and waterfront; have an elected parks board and work toward establishment of an elected metropolitan parks board; allow firms to put benches at bus stops without license to the city; co-operate with municipalities on amalgamation if it is to be advantageous; administer impartially without political, racial, creed or religious prejudices.

ELECTION MEETINGS

Tonight's meeting in the November 24 by-election:

8 p.m. — Finance Minister Einar Gunderson and other cabinet ministers at Oaklands School.

8 p.m. — Liberal candidate George F. Gregory and Jack A. Neary at Quadra School.

8 p.m. — LPP (Communist) candidate Mrs. Doris Blakey, party leader Nigel Morgan and Tom McEwan, editor of the Pacific Tribune, at William Building.

Edgelow Sure Starter In City Council Race

Another hat went into the aldermanic ring today with the announcement of Geoffrey I. Edgelow that he will seek a place on City Council in December.

At the same time, Ald. Brent Murdock, who earlier signified he might be dropping out of the civic picture at the end of the year, revealed recent developments had caused him to reconsider and said "in all probability" would be seeking re-election.

G. I. EDGELOW
... tries for council

Other developments today included an acknowledgment from school trustee Austin Curtis that he is "still considering" running as a councillor, and a definite announcement by former-alderman Harold M. Diggon, that he would not be a candidate.

In all likelihood there will be about a dozen candidates for alderman this year. Persons intending to try for office have until 2 p.m. on December 3 to file nomination papers.

There are four two-year terms open to competition and one, one-year seat to be filled.

Mr. Edgelow said he will be trying for one of the two-year seats.

President of Admark Ltd., Mr. Edgelow owns property at 708-10-12 Johnson Street. He has been a director of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and has served as chairman of the chamber's tourist trade group.

He is presently a director of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and a director of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children. He has been Liberal candidate in Esquimalt in the last two provincial elections.

Mr. Edgelow said that if elected an alderman he would strive for a progressive Victoria, and would work toward co-operation with other members of council.

Others who have signified their intention for seeking election to council are: Ald. Margaret Christie, Ald. William Pinfold, Gordon Carter, M. H. Mooney, Fred Blakeney, Elgin Neish, Harry Haigh and W. A. Scott.

A probable starter, in addition to Ald. Murdoch and Mr. Curtis, is Fred V. Ramsdale.

Carmen Pascoe, 1683 Foul Bay Road, a young male motorist, was fined $25 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a violation of a driver's license restriction. He had driven a car not covered by insurance, a violation of the terms of his driver's license.

Well-Bred Budgies Chatter As Judge Goes His Rounds

One of the noisest spots in Victoria today is the Crystal Garden where over 200 budgerigars are competing for top honors at the annual show of the Vancouver Island Budgerigar Society.

The small, long-tailed parakeet, bred chiefly in England and now extensively in Canada, chattered noisely as G. J. Williamson of Vancouver went about his judging.

"They just love to talk," said Mr. Williamson. "They are really having a grand time meeting each other."

Mr. Williamson, who immigrated to Canada from Scotland 18 months ago, is regarded as one of the best authorities on the birds in the country. Since his arrival in B.C. he has already won 15 awards with 10 prized birds he brought with him from Britain.

"We have 17,000 budgerigar clubs in Great Britain," he said. "Its a big hobby over there."

The birds at the show have been entered by fanciers from Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle. They are of all colors; blues, cobalts, greens, mauves and yellows.

Winners of awards will be announced after the judging has been completed. The top award is the Brock Challenge Trophy for the best bird of the show.

The show is open to the public tonight and all day Saturday.

SHOPPING GUIDE

It's Just As They Say . . . Nuts to the Nutty!

By PENNY SAVER

Nuttin' doin! I ain't got nuffa dese nigger toes fer miself! Go buy soma yer own if yas wants some, see?

Puns and jokes aside, those Brazil nuts were good . . . dern good! And you can buy some for your own Christmas stock, at 45 cents a pound. Fresh? I'll say!

★ ★ ★

I was sort of wishing I was a squirrel. . . . I would have been in paradise, that's for sure! There were wonderful paper-shell pecan nuts selling at 59 cents a pound, and walnuts at 29 cents a pound. Filberts were 35 cents a pound.

Can't decide? The mix, including all nuts costs just 35 cents a pound. You can't go wrong that way! All are in their shells, incidentally.

★ ★ ★

Christmas tidbits are always a fascinating topic, and right now I'd love to go on and on about candied fruits and the like, but we must partake of wholesome food, too, worst luck . . . so methinks I'd best change the subject!

★ ★ ★

Let's see, now . . . how do you fancy some lovely green Brussels sprouts right now? Even if you don't, they cost 15 cents a pound this week. And parsnips . . . I'm sure you're just dying for some! Two pounds for 25 cents. Mustn't forget the vegetable marrow, seeing as it costs just 9 cents a pound.

★ ★ ★

Shopping for prices can be confusing, at times. I was all set to tell you that Delicious apples are priced at six for 25 cents and that McIntosh red apples are priced at five for 25 cents . . . that is, until I went on to the next store. There I found that the Macs were selling at six for a quarter and the Delicious were selling at five for a quarter . . . reversed completely! Now what am I to do? Guess you'd better buy your Delicious and Mac apples at different stores, that's all!

★ ★ ★

Before I go, let me get back to the subject of candied fruit for just a sec?

I've just got to mention the candied dates . . . great, big, plump ones . . . that are still on the vine and packaged attractively in oval boxes. Grown in France, they cost 49 cents a box.

Then there were some hydrated dates that were grown in California. They were big and meaty, too. For a small box of these you pay just 29 cents . . . bet you buy two boxes when you see them!

WHY GROW OLD?

Ask Doctor Before Doing Exercise for Sacroiliac

Q.—"Please give me an exercise for sacroiliac trouble. I remember that you published some of these quite a while ago."

A.—Of course you should have your doctor's advice before taking exercises. However, there are a few which my pupils have found most effective. Feel your way along carefully with these. Lie on the bed or floor on your back. Bend your left knee up. Move the knee outward a little. Move it back. Continue moving your knee out and back. Do not go very far at first. Now make circles with your knee. Circle out a while and then in. Do the same thing with the other leg.

Walking in place, lifting the knees high in front of you, is also a good corrective exercise for this trouble, as well as an abdominal firmer. Many women who do not suffer with this trouble have a weakness in the sacroiliac. These exercises are good preventative medicine for them.

Q.—"My doctor says that I cannot develop my bust through exercise. You say it can be done. Please explain this to me in your Friday Question Box."

A.—The bust itself cannot be developed through exercise but your bust measurement can be. If you develop the underlying chest muscles it will increase your bust measurement. It is sort of like wearing falsies underneath the bust rather than on top of it. You have seen wrestlers, or pictures of them, who looked as though they had busts because of the great development of their chest muscles. Does that explain it?

Q.—"Why do I have such large hips? I am the correct weight, in fact a little on the low side, and I am slim every place except in this spot. My bust is 34 inches and my hips measure 39 inches. You can imagine how I look."

A.—Weight distribution is dictated by your individual glandular make-up. Figure characteristics such as this often seem to run in families. For instance, all of the women in one family may have large hips while those of another may have thick ankles. Hip-slimming exercises will help you distribute your weight more attractively.

Q.—"Is a dry shampoo just as good as a wet shampoo?"

A.—No, not as a habit. The dry shampoo is usually employed in case of an illness or when you have a cold or when a wet shampoo is not possible for some reason.

When food burns in an aluminum pan, fill the pan with cold water, add a dash of vinegar and boil for several minutes. Your cleaning job will be half done.

Waves Replace Ringlets in Smart Hair Stylings Shown in England

LONDON (Reuters) — Short hair with waves replacing ringlets to give an air of chic casualness is the keynote of the newest winter hair fashions.

Monsieur Riche, one of London's leading hair-dressers who in recent successive years has introduced the popular "coolie cut," the "troubadour trim," and the "new Elizabethan," this year takes the music as his theme and produces a "symphony" in eight movements.

Showing eight basic versions of his new "symphony" style in London's West End today, he claimed that every type of woman can wear—and wear well—at least one of these "movements."

No hair in "the symphony" is more than three inches long, and if some looked it, M. Riche assured his audience that it was an optical illusion produced by the casual softness of the style.

NATURAL LINE

Hair curls softly round the nape of the neck in a natural line and several of the versions of the symphony have short bangs or fringes falling in soft waves over the top of the forehead.

One movement in the symphony features the "sling" effect with a part running from each side right round the back of the head. Hair inside the "sling" is brushed forward, falling in soft waves in a short bang on the forehead. The rest is brushed downwards, lying in a series of broken waves.

In another movement, the hair waves softly all over the head with a deceptively casual air, while in a third, the hair is brushed outwards from the centre of the crown all round the head, giving a circular effect.

Travel Skirt

Made from imported English flannel, this grey skirt retains crisp appearance when folded for traveling. Buttoned down front, it has a leather belt which goes through buttonholed waistband. (CP photo.)

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When storing away garden tools with wooden handles, hang them on wall hooks away from dampness. This prevents rotting and warping of the handle.

Take special care when ironing dynel fabrics. It is very sensitive to heat, so always use a pressing cloth. Only light smoothing is necessary.

Preserve the life of your leather handbag by polishing occasionally with a wax polish and by brushing the lining. And don't overload it.

Gloves this season are more decorative — and decorated — than in a long time. They are embellished with embroidery and beads, French knots, and almost anything a designer's ingenuity can conjure up.

Newest thing in swim suits for next summer (or winter resorts) is built-in "life preservers" that prevent the wearer from sinking in the water. Suits are padded from rib to thigh with a half-inch of buoyant substance. They're made for kiddies, too.

International Marriages Can Be Very Successful

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

A man does not have to marry the girl next door to have a happy marriage. Some of the happiest marriages are between people of different nationalities. That is the advice I am giving the young man who writes:

Hurlock

(Q)—"Before I went into the service, I was going with a girl who lives in our neighborhood. While in Germany, I fell in love with a girl who lived where I was stationed. I have been home for nearly a year and I can't get her out of my mind.

"My folks don't want me to marry her as they say foreign girls are usually unhappy away from their families and friends. They are always showing me newspaper reports of GI's brides who get divorced or leave their husbands. I feel that my girl is different and she says she would love to live in America. What is your opinion of my problem?"

(A)—I think you should give yourself and this girl a chance to see if she really would "love" to live in America before you are married. After you are married, it could make great complications for you and for her if she decided she hated America.

Try to persuade your parents to co-operate with you by inviting the girl to visit for six months to a year. If she speaks English at all, help to get her a job so she'll have something to do during the time you are at work and the opportunity to meet other people.

If your parents refuse, perhaps you have a relative or friend who would give her a home.

During her visit she can see how she likes things. If she is happy, if you and she are still in love, go ahead with your plans to marry. Otherwise, she can return to her home and settle down to the familiar life of that country. In the long run, you will never regret this wait as it will show you if you are laying the groundwork for a happy marriage.

Dr. Hurlock is the author of a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15 cents in coin with a stamped self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

You can clean your iron by running it over waxed paper.

Films Shown To Junior League

Don McLeod showed films taken at Uncle Ed's Christmas party held at the Solarium last year at meeting of Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League. This year's party will be on December 20. League members will decorate the Solarium on December 13 with Molly Davey convening.

League members will model at a fashion show to be held in the tearoom at T. Eaton Company Ltd., in which gift ideas for Christmas will be featured. Proceeds are to go to the Solarium and tickets are available from members. Mrs. Doreen Ross is to convene the snowball frolic, an annual dance held on Boxing Day. The dance will be at the Sirocco.

Mrs. Doris Usher reported that $70 was realized at the farmerette box social.

Auxiliary Bazaar Realizes $3,074

Hard-working members of St. Joseph's Ladies' Auxiliary raised the sum of $3,074 at their annual Christmas bazaar and tea held Thursday in the Nurses' Home.

The affair was opened at 10 a.m. by president Mrs. A. Johnsen. Tea was served from 3 to 5 p.m. in the lounge. Mrs. A. Brunet, Mrs. Claude Harrison, Mrs. G. F. Amyot and Mrs. F. M. Bryant poured tea. Serviteurs were student nurses. A large spray of pink, yellow and white chrysanthemums centred the lace-covered head table. The floral arrangement was flanked by green candles in silver holders. Individual tables were centred with vases of bronze chrysanthemums.

Conveners of booths were Miss Mary King, aprons; Mrs. M. Preiswerck, babies' wear; Mrs. F. Kriegle, fancy work; Mrs. E. Hornsby, home cooking; Mrs. J. Pickford, candy; Mrs. J. A. Cooney, white elephant; Mrs. J. R. O'Brien, contests.

Women were permitted to enroll for the first time in the Yale University Graduate School in 1892 as candidates for the Ph.D. degree. The Yale School of Medicine first accepted women medical students in 1916 and every class since that time has included at least one distaff member.

Receive Special Honors in Ceremony

At the investiture in Government House yesterday afternoon, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, left, pinned the insignia of a Dame of Grace of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem on his wife, Mrs. Clarence Wallace. At the right, the Lieutenant-Governor congratulates Mrs. W. C. Woodward, a former chatelaine at Government House, after presenting her with the insignia of a Dame of Grace.

International Day Marked By United Nations Pageant

A program arranged by Miss J. E. M. Bruce was presented at meeting of Lakehill Women's Institute, to commemorate International Day. President, Mrs. Roscoe Myles welcomed members and guests.

The program was presented in the form of a pageant with Miss Bruce acting as commentator.

Participants included, Mrs. Gilbert Howland who outlined work of United Nations; Miss Dorothy Cox representing the United States of America; Mrs. Matilde Johanssen, wearing a embroidered national fiesta costume, representing Norway. Mrs. Johanssen sang two Norwegian songs.

An old-time Dutch milk-vendors' costume was worn by Mrs. L. Sekreve, who represented Holland; Mrs. P. L. Bissley and her small flaxen haired daughter spoke for France. Mrs. Busby was a Red Cross Ambulance driver and Mrs. Anastasio represented Latvia, wearing her national costume. She sang a Latvian lullaby.

Mrs. J. Baines, wearing a gold and peach sari, spoke for India. Mrs. W. Carpenter carried in the Union Jack for the United Kingdom and the participants grouped together in a miniature United Nations tableau to complete the pageant.

Mrs. Myles thanked Miss Bruce and her assistants for their efforts.

Afternoon tea was served by Mrs. R. W. Mercer, Mrs. A. A. F. Rey, and Mrs. M. Cowan. A selection of china, pictures, silver and handwoven articles and needlework from the different countries was on display.

Chapter Sponsors Confederation Tea

An attractive arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums, yellow marguerites and purple hydrangea in an antique pottery bowl, centred the lace-covered tea table at Confederation tea held Thursday by Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, IODE.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. T. Williams, Mrs. J. L. Gates, Mrs. Swire Mitchell and Mrs. A. Bumpas.

Chapter regent, Mrs. R. L. Brain, received guests and introduced Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wife of the Premier of British Columbia, who officially opened the affair. Mrs. Bennett was presented with a bouquet of red and white carnations by little Miss Janis Brain, a granddaughter of the regent.

Tea arrangements were in charge of Mrs. A. Drysdale, assisted by Mrs. S. Thomas, Mrs. R. Brain and Mrs. K. E. Smith. Mrs Isabel McAllister was at the door; Mrs. A. Cradock conducted a raffle; Mrs. G. A. Vantreight had a fancywork table; Miss M. Walter, home cooking, and Mrs. S. M. Leigh, touch and take.

Among guests were Alderman Margaret Christie and Mrs. Rebecca Macintosh. Provincial archivist Willard Ireland spoke briefly on Confederation and Mme. Agnes Gilson gave piano solos.

Church Institute Well Attended

Average attendance at the three-day Presbyterian Training Institute held in Victoria earlier this week was 50, representing auxiliaries and groups from St. Andrew's, Knox, Erskine, Gorge and Sooke churches.

Adult group leader was Miss Grace McKay who discussed program planning; Mrs. A. Murdoch, Shauvavon, Sask., was in charge of children's work, church school, mission bands and explorers; Mrs. A. L. Sutherland, Rocky Mountain House, Alta., the teen-age church school.

Miss Hazel Reaveley, a returned missionary on furlough from Jhansi Field, India, showed slides and spoke on the work and customs and religions of India. At the opening session Rev. M. Lyttle brought greetings from Victoria Presbyterial.

Auxiliary Honors B.C. President

A social evening was held following meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Fraternal Order of Eagles, in honor of provincial president Lynda Wright, when 40 visitors from Nanaimo, Ladysmith and Vancouver were present, including other provincial officers. The honored guest, who was presented with a corsage of red roses by local president Molly Brown, gave an address on phases of auxiliary aims and accomplishments.

Reports were given by Amy McKay, Eleanor Lacey, Eva Barry, Lil Jones, May Bennett. The auxiliary has adopted a plan to provide wheelchair assistance to the Solarium. Beatrice Revoy, Hope Crovits, Edith Lowe, Gladys Winship, Helen Forshaw, Elva Litherland and Rita Sherber were the new members initiated.

CLUB CALENDAR

Women's Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital will meet on Wednesday at 2 instead of 2.30, at the Nurses' Home.

Outdoor Life; Rescue of B.C. History Among Interests of Free lance Writer

By KITTY DIXON

"Anything interesting!" was the reply of one of British Columbia's foremost freelance writers, when asked what subjects she prefers to write about.

"Although I guess I lean a little towards outdoor life," added Mrs. Philip Douglas, or "Gilean Douglas" as she is better known in writing circles. Mrs. Douglas has four additional non de plumes, but uses "Gilean" most frequently.

In her home at Whaletown on Cortez Island, 100 miles north of Victoria, off Campbell River, Mrs. Douglas creates non-fiction material for an impressive number of publications, including Chatelaine, Saturday Night, Canadian Home Journal, The New York Times, The Christian Science Monitor, The New York Herald Tribune, The Beaver and two large Vancouver newspapers.

"I write for approximately 40 other magazines in Canada and the United States," said Mrs. Douglas, "and that number includes even mining journals!"

Mrs. Douglas has written two books, "Now the Green Word," a book of serious poetry, and "Poetic Plush," a book of light verse. The latter proved to be so popular that it is now practically sold out.

"I prefer factual writing to fiction," she says, although she has written a dozen or more short stories and all have been published.

Although the amount of material she produces would be enough to keep any hard-working individual going, Mrs. Douglas finds time to do publicity work for the Federated Women's Institute of Canada. She is a member of the executive of the national board, convener for British Columbia and director on the provincial board. She also represented B.C. at the conference of the Assosiated Country Women of the World in Toronto, last August.

Mrs. Douglas began to write when she was five years old, and her first poem was published when she was 11. She was educated in private schools and attended Columbia University in New York.

For a time she was educational editor of the New York Sun, after which she took a job writing ads for a well-known soap manufacturing company. Since then she has been doing free-lance writing.

MRS. PHILIP DOUGLAS . . . a visitor to Victoria this week.

At present, she is working on three books.

"I like to keep several going at once," she said. "Then, if I tire of one, I can leave it and work on another until the first is fresh again."

One is a mystery novel and another is about nature in B.C. The third, which she hopes to have published next year, concerns people and places on the "salt chuck," as Mrs. Douglas prefers to call the coast of B.C., north of Victoria.

"To write this book, I have had to travel by mission boat to such Indian settlements as those of the Kwakiutls and the Tsimsheams," says Mrs. Douglas, who finds profitable pleasure in following her desire to "rescue history from oblivion."

Liberal, CCF MPs Approve Mrs. Graydon

OTTAWA (BUP) — Liberal and CCF members of Parliament apparently were willing today to go along with a Liberal's suggestion that the widow of the late Gordon Graydon be given a seat in the Commons by acclamation.

The Rev. Dan McIvor (L, Fort William) suggested in the House Tuesday that if Mrs. Daisy Graydon were nominated to run for the seat left vacant by the death of the Conservative foreign affairs critic, no Liberal should be nominated to oppose her.

Liberal backbenchers and a strong group of CCF members pounded their desks in approval.

B.C. Christmas Trees Go South by Carload

A twinkling bit of Canada will be one of the main attractions in thousands of homes in southern states of the U.S.A. this Christmas.

Thirty-five carloads of B.C. Christmas trees are now headed for Oklahoma, Iowa, Kansas, Texas, Alabama and Florida.

Other shipments of trees are being shipped to Canadian centres where they are in short supply.

RCAF Reserve Members Get Coronation Medal

Three members of Victoria RCAF (Reserve) were flown to Vancouver Thursday for presentation of Coronation medals in a ceremony at 19 Auxiliary Wing.

Sqdn. Ldr. W. Martin, Flt. Sgt. W. R. Edwards and Cpl. E. J. Dalzell received the decoration from Air Cdr. W. A. Orr, air officer commanding No. 12 Air Defense Group. The trip was made in a service aircraft.

Preparing for Church Bazaar

Mrs. C. C. Warren, decorating convener; Mrs. D. McPherson, representing the guild, and Mrs. J. L. W. McLean, left to right, pricing donations for various stalls arranged for St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church bazaar and Christmas tea on Saturday from 2 to 5. Afternoon tea is in charge of Mrs. C. W. Paulin and Mrs. Tom Taylor. General conveners are Mrs. G. D. Tyson and Miss Gladys Irving. The bazaar will be opened by Mrs. F. E. H. James at 2 o'clock. There will be mincemeat, Christmas cakes, aprons, white elephants, gifts, a post office and miscellaneous articles for sale.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

Langford—Mrs. G. W. Pottinger, Victoria Parent-Teacher Council officially opened the Langford PTA bazaar. She was accompanied by Mrs. J. Beckwith. General convener was Mrs. E. Hatcher. Home cooking was sold by Mrs. F. Booth and Mrs. M. Stevenson; candy, Mrs. J. E. Braithwaite and Mrs. A. C. Muralt; needlework and aprons, J. Tweedhope and M. Emery; lady with a 1,000 pockets, Mrs. E. Tudge; white elephant, Mrs. G. Hall and Mrs. L. M. Murphy; calendars and memberships, Mrs. A. Bayles; hot dogs, A. Knight; contests, Mrs. Knight Mrs. and Mrs. Murphy. Tea arrangements were in charge of Mrs. R. Matthias and Mrs. J. Kunhert, assisted by Mesdames H. Palsson, McKay, H. Beebe, M. Smith, A. Arthur and R. J. Mawle.

Esquimalt—The ninth anniversary of Esquimalt PTA was celebrated at a recent meeting in the high school auditorium. Mrs. C. Kelly cut the birthday cake. Plans for a New Year's dance were made. R. Reeve, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, explained the school by-law. C. Kelly showed the film "Invest in Canada." Refreshments were served.

Reports Given — All officers and conveners gave reports at the recent municipal IODE meeting. Primary chapters made plans to send Christmas parcels and hampers to Korea and Great Britain. Mrs. T. B. Lumsden presided. There will be no meeting in December.

A pillow case pinned to your baby's bath table is a space-saving substitute for a hamper.

Cashmere sweaters are a bit expensive for the budget, but for the fashion-wise, they're invaluable. With care, a cashmere will have a long life.

Broken screens can be temporarily mended by placing a strip of tape on the outside and inside of the hole.

TODAY'S RECIPE

DATE BARS

One cup pitted dates, 1 cup nuts, 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon melted Crisco, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt.

Put dates and nuts through food chopper or dice in small pieces. Blend with sugar and beateneggs; add melted Crisco, lemon juice, flour and salt. Mix thoroughly. Place in 10"x6"x2" pan which has been rubbed with Crisco. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.) 30-35 minutes. While still warm, cut into 1"x3" strips. Roll in powdered sugar, if desired. Makes 18 to 20 1"x3" strips.

MINISTER OF FINANCE

Your Social Credit Government Kept Its Promises
1. REDUCTION OF DEBT
The Budget Speech of Liberal Finance Minister dated March 4th, 1952 shows the net debt under the Liberal regime would have now reached $207 million.
Under the Social Credit Government the net debt is now only $157 million or $50 million less than it would have been if the Liberals had been elected in 1952.
2. SECURE MORE REVENUE FROM NATURAL RESOURCES
These taxes placed on the PROFITS of our resources are deductible as an expense from Federal Income Tax and make it possible for your Social Credit Government to reduce taxes on all of the people in British Columbia.
3. REDUCTION OF TAXES IN THE SIXTEEN MONTHS SINCE SOCIAL CREDIT HAS BEEN IN OFFICE
Your Social Credit Government reduced sales tax on meals.
Your Social Credit Government reduced car license fees.
Your Social Credit Government reduced Hospital Insurance premiums.
THESE REDUCTIONS SAVE THE PEOPLE OF THE PROVINCE OVER $3,000,000 PER YEAR.
Yes, your Social Credit Government is a people's Government, do not be misled by the false propaganda of the powerful self-interested lobbies of political machines.
Your Social Credit Government is a free enterprise Government, securing the benefits of Free Enterprise for all of our people.

Australian Blue Ensign To Be National Flag

CANBERRA (Reuters) — A bill proclaiming Australian blue ensign as the national flag—first such legislation in the British Commonwealth—was introduced today in the House of Representatives by Prime Minister Robert Menzies.

Menzies called the bill largely a formal measure to give legislative effect to what has already become established practice in Australia.

The measure is expected to be reserved for the Queen's personal assent when she visits Australia early in the new year.

Bodies of Man, Woman Found In Howe Sound

Believed Drowned In Escaping Boat

VANCOUVER (CP)— A desperate but futile attempt to escape from a foundering fishboat in wind-swept Howe Sound was revealed Thursday with the discovery of the pyjama-clad bodies of an elderly couple on the beach at Cates Bay, Bowen Island.

The man was identified as William Manson Duff, believed to be from New Westminster, but RCMP were unable to immediately identify the woman.

Their bodies were found side by side near an overturned dinghy which had apparently been used in a gamble to reach shore after their 32-foot gillnetter struck a reef.

It is believed that the couple anchored their boat off Cates Bay Wednesday night, and that the anchor slipped during the night, allowing the craft to drift onto a jagged rock 30 feet from shore.

The bodies were brought here by the RCMP boat Little Bow. Cates Bay is about 20 miles northwest of Vancouver.

Evangelist Speaks To Business Group

Evangelist Harold Wildish addressed 85 persons Thursday night at a supper meeting arranged by the Victoria Christian Businessmen's Committee in Terry's private dining room.

Theme of his address was "Christ Liveth Within Me."

The speaker was introduced by Herbert Harris, who knew Mr. Wildish some years ago when living in Jamaica.

ANCIENT SPORT

Bull-fighting has been a popular sport in Spain since the 11th century.

The Spirits Are Speaking

Sam Payne, as a greying-fortyish lover named Gary Essendine doesn't seem too impressed with the carryings-on of Dorothy House, playing the part of a Swedish maid spiritualist, Miss Erikson, in the Noel Coward comedy "Present Laughter." The play, presented this week and next by the Totem Theatre, revolves around a triangle within a triangle—a take-off on Coward's own life. Adding zip to the sparkling offering is Thor Arngrim as the mad playwright.

FIDO LIKES THEM, TOO

Lifelike Guion Canvasses Nearly Went to the Dogs

The canvases of Molly Guion now being shown at the Greater Victoria Arts Centre may not be lifelike enough to fool a man, —but twice they have fooled man's best friend.

She tells of a visit she made to the home of a Royal Archer, Lieut.-Col. George I Malcolm of Poltalloch. (She spent two years touring the British Isles to record the pageantry of coronation.)

She painted the figure with the bow in full size which so completely baffled the family dog that he was found one day licking the painted hand of the portrait.

Another example of the realism of her work was noted when she had completed a painting of a Scottish waif clutching a black cat.

A boxer wandered into the room and almost tore the canvas in a vicious leap at the cat in the child's arms.

Miss Guion's exhibition shares the limelight with a collection loaned by British firm of art dealers which is valued at $80,000.

Originals by many of England's masters, they include works of Sir Joshua Reynolds, Sir Henry Raeburn, Constable, Cotman, Crome, Augustus John and others.

ONT. LEGISLATURE PLAN

2 Illegimiate Children Would Mean Sterilization

TORONTO (BUP)—Sterilization of women who have two or more illegitimate children was considered by some legislators here today following a suggestion that adultery be made a crime in Ontario.

After members of the legislature's select committee on reform institutions considered the case of a woman who had six children by five different fathers, the Rev. A. W. Downer (PC, Dufferin-Simcoe) suggested that women who have two or more illigitimate children should be sterilized.

"Perhaps stetilization after the second child would be the answer," CCF house leader W. J. Grummet said. "If a woman persists in having children there is no use of us going along in a rut because it happens."

T. M. Moore, Ontario county solicitor, estimated it would cost the county $9,000 to keep such children until they reached the age of 16.

In the case the committee reviewed two of the children had to be given away by the mother, who is now in Mercer reformatory on a charge laid under the Female Refugee Act. One born in the reformatory is in Toronto, and the three others are public charges.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

One of the nice things about playing tournament bridge is that you don't need to get upset over a hand that breaks very badly. The hand will be played at many other tables, and everybody will encounter the same bad breaks. You are therefore no worse off than anybody else.

Suppose you played today's hand at rubber bridge. You would win the opening club lead in dummy, cash the ace of spades, and then lead a low diamond to your king in order to draw some more trumps.

You would be a very unhappy bridge player when you discovered the 5-1 trump break. It takes as bad a break as this to beat you, and the odds are 5 to 1 against getting that bad a trump break.

When the hand was actually played in the recent New Orleans tournament, it was bid to all sorts of slams in spades, diamonds, and no-trump. The bidding shown with the hand was that of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burden, of New Orleans. They were disappointed at the bad trump break, to be sure, but they got a very good score for being minus only 50 points on so troublesome a hand.

Most of the other North-South pairs were down to two tricks at six no-trump, or badly set at some hopeless grand slam contract. In one or two cases, West doubled a final contract of six spades. All such contracts led to a deficit of more than 50 points on the North-South cards.

The contract of six spades, if you consider only the North-South hands, is best. It will succeed if the spades are no worse than 4-2, whereas six no-trump needs a 3-3 break in either spades or diamonds.

An interesting point in the bidding is the response of five clubs to the Blackwood bid of four no-trump. In expert circles, the response of five clubs is used to show either no aces at all or four aces. If your partner can't tell which is the case, he shouldn't be allowed to use the Blackwood Convention.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

BY BILL PARKER

Hitting the high spots for week-end listeners:

On the CBC . . . tonight . . . "Songs of My People" at 6.30, and the Toronto Symphony "Pops" Concert at 7.30.

Saturday is, of course, "Hockey Night" in Canada with Foster Hewitt and a play-by-play of the game between Toronto and New York.

Although it will probably appeal to some people, this week's presentation on Stage 54 does not sound like an all-round pleaser. "We'll Hear No More About It," is the title of the play, and according to the CBC times, is a story of a "strong-minded woman and two sons, whose personalities come into sharp conflict.

Let us hope that it isn't presented in the same manner as some of 54's recent attempts at emotional production.

Locally, CJVI on Sunday night is well worth tuning in on, if only to hear the Rev. William Hills and his "Padre Hills" show. Some highly controversial subjects, an active and very much noticed participating audience (both postal and telephonic) combine very nicely with the diplomacy of the Reverend Hills to produce a most listenable program.

By the way, my apologies to the good man for listing him amongst all the comedians in last Friday's "Highlights."

Keep sending in those letters, folks, especially about daytime shows, and next week we'll devote some time to discussing the pros and cons of some of the better programs.

HIGHLIGHTS FOR THE WEEK-END

All those we've already mentioned, plus:
Here's Juliette, on CBU tonight at 8.30.
Share the Wealth, on CBU at 8 on Saturday.
Bing Crosby, on KIRO at 9 on Sunday.
New York Philharmonic on CBU at noon on Sunday.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — Much chit-chat with foes, friends, partners, mate, colleagues reveals real crux of present problems and offers way out so that meeting of minds can take place.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Looking directly at your current money needs, property necessities, shows how, by spending a few hours daily to make it more efficient, artistic, you can brighten your environment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Make it a point to use this Saturday to get away from dreary duties, dull comrades. Have fun at sports, recreation, entertainment, picnics, parks, romance; perfect your hobby.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Working quietly to make your dwelling more as all there desire produces excellent results in establishing sense of co-ordination and well-being. Be out-giving.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Quick-acting, brilliant, highly aware friends really can show you jolly day if you just communicate with them and go off on pleasant jaunt together. Be happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Taking steps to impress those who have power in affairs with your fast thinking, care in credit matters and conscientiousness cements all to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Dynamic, definite urge to get out in the world should be heeded right now. Make new contacts, by letter as well as personally. Make new friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Get right down to facts this day and find out where your money is going and how to lop off some expenses to free needed cash. This requires you to delve deeper than you had thought necessary. Find errors.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Get in touch with all with whom you are connected. Talking over mutual aims, desirable aims brings correct solution quickly. Good friend greatly assists you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Spending your free hours making real estate, personal possessions more attractive, efficient, greatly enhances their value so you own more than you did yesterday!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — This is your day to be overflowing with all sorts of wonderful ideas, inspiration, imagination. Take full advantage of good influences to reduce ideas to workable basis via accepted principles, P.M., have wonderful time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Make a point to show family your affection despite some untoward situation at home. Then take some present, show your plans for co-operative enjoyments in feature to delight those at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY . . .

Saturday's child is a very energetic youngsters who will never seem to grow tired. You would be wise to cultivate an interest in games, sports in early years. The alert and ingenius mind suggests you arrange courses in such interests as salesmanship, acting, writing, lecturing. Your child's lovable nature, combined with mental brilliance, shows promise of real success, which will make you very proud, in such vocations.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Look at how you are doing in mental studies, business trips, salesmanship needs; take jaunt to see any who can help you attain your over-all ambitions.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Getting a better picture of your possibilities in money-making, allowance-increasing, property-improvement starts added abundance flowing in.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Your judgment is so keen, your intuitions so accurate that you'd be wise to put ideas on paper so that you forget none of them in the intense activity now or in the near future. Expand.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Next year is one of your most vital periods for gain in long while, but it is necessary that you start envisioning just what you want, quietly, if probable great success is to be actually yours.

LEO (July 22 to August 21)—You always have either a generous or very deriding outlook; be sure you start those big plans right now. The planets give you added boost toward fame, devoted admirers through today's magnanimous.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22)—Mak it a point to contact, be in path of all in power. By so doing you have chance to state your views and gain support. Then your popularity, good name will be on lips of powerful patrons.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)—Make it a point to contact newcomers to this country, those of very different background from yours, since they can give you ideas that make your life satisfactory. Scan newspapers for ideas.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)—Money is extremely important at this time if you are to back helpful individuals, make the showing expected of you and have the abundance vital to your sense of well-being. It's around, so get it!

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)—Today brings a chance to confer with some extremely helpful associates to mutual advantage, so put less vital matters aside for the day and concentrate on these colleagues. Make plans.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Getting higher realization of where you can go through closer application to everyday duties on highest plane of expression zips up your hours in interesting new system, attitude, expressions.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—This is your day to get in touch with all who can give your special aptitudes a chance to be marketable or attachments that delight you. Take them to attractive place and wow them with your charm. Get their backing.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Chance now present to eliminate all discord from home and to include more that is of mutual benefit to all there. Bring more charm, efficiency, there too.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY . . .

Sunday's child is one of those extremely interesting and unusual youngsters who seems to have a pretty accurate sense of time and direction so that there will be little doubt in his or her mind just where ambitions and goals lie. However, owing to sense of well-being present in the makeup of this child, it is necessary the ambitions be stirred up by family, etc. Otherwise, there is a tendency to sit back and enjoy the good things of life and to have an inflated sense of importance. Religious training is fine, for it can teach "of myself I am nothing."

BIDAULT

with an intestinal illness which has plagued him since the Second World War.

A Socialist deputy urged that he be given a 20 minute "breather."

Bidault was helped from the assembly chamber to the office of Premier Joseph Laniel where he was examined by assembly doctors.

They said he was exhausted after having worked throughout the night on his address—which he regarded the most important of his career. He completed his text, they said, at 8 a.m. after keeping himself awake with medicine.

Bidault's speech made these important points in support of EDCA and the European army:

1. Every Frenchman, except the Communists, would agree that the defense of France should be as far to the east as possible. "Indeed," he said, "one cannot imagine fighting in Germany without the active participation of German forces."

2. The French chiefs of staff, including Marshal Alphonse Juin, France's No. 1 soldier, have given the most "categorical assurances" that the security of central Europe is inconceivable without German participation.

3. France's right to protect its empire by unilateral decision once the European defense community is in being is guaranteed by the special protocols negotiated with Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Bidault, in making his appeal, turned his back on the job of president for which he was once a prime contender. He staked his political life on an all-out fight to get a vote of support for the EDC from the divided assembly which has stalled on the issue for 19 months.

The crucial vote probably will come late tonight.

'I KISSED THEIR LITTLE HANDS'

Ax Murderer of Little Children Brings Jurymen, Court to Tears

QUEBEC (CP) — Defense testimony was expected today on the mental state of Georges Hebert, 45-year-old cement worker, charged in the axe-slaying of his four children.

Hebert is standing trial for the murder of his nine-year-old son, Rene, whose body was found last April in the family's suburban apartment along with those of his sisters, Lousette, seven, and Nicole, five, and his brother, Gaetan, three. The blunt edge of an axe had been used to crush the skulls of all four.

Hebert, whose testimony Thursday left many spectators and Jury men in tears, was to be cross-examined again this morning by Crown prosecutor Noel Dorion.

It was believed doctors examined Hebert during the night to see if he was physically able to continue his testimony. He sobbed continually during his testimony and appeared near exhaustion.

Hebert testified Thursday his wife, Gemma, 34, who faces trial for neglecting her children, "went out" and "never wanted to come back to the house."

NEEDED MONEY

He said he tried to explain to his children last April 21, only a few hours before they were killed, that he would have to place them in a home because "I had to earn money for them."

"My little girl reached for her little broom and said 'I can keep house, papa', while the others held me and said 'papa, we're staying with you, don't put us in a home."

Later he described what he said happened during the night.

"I was discouraged to find I did not have enough money to buy fuel oil," he told the court. "I fell asleep crying. I got up in the middle of the night. I discovered that I had my axe beside my bed and was cutting my throat . . . I realized that my children were all dead and that I was alone in the house. I got up and made the rounds of the beds and I said my beads . . ."

The next day he spent alone in the house: "I said my beads, I took their little hands and kissed them."

Hebert said that the next day he went to see an undertaker about funeral arrangements. He was arrested shortly after.

Details of Increases In Servicemen's Pay

OTTAWA (BUP)—Increases in pay and subsistence allowances ranging up to $85 a month were announced today for members of the active and reserve forces.

The increases, corresponding to civil service pay boosts now being worked out, become effective Dec. 1.

Defense Minister Brooke Claxton said the increases would improve the prospects for servicemen to achieve "higher incomes with length of service and development of earning power through trades training."

The increases will boost the pay and allowances of married men of the lowest rank—private, ordinary seamen or aircraftsmen 2nd class—from the present $208 per month to $2.13. The basic pay of untrained recruits will be $92 a month under the new scale.

Proportionate increases will go to officers and married commanders, lieutenant-commanders and wing-commanders with six years in rank will get the biggest increase. Their pay and allowances, including subsistence and marriage allowances, will jump from $611 a month to $696.

Under the new rates a married warrant officer — the highest non-commissioned rank —will be able to reach a total pay and allowance income of $426 per month, depending on skills and time in the service.

The new rates:

Rank (Married)	Basic Pay	Standard Pay and Allowances
Ord. Sea., Pte., AC2	$92	$213
Ord. Sea. (trained), Pte. 2nd Class, AC1	96	217
Able Sea., Pte. 1st Class, LAC	107	228
Lead. Sea., Cpl., Cpl.	127	248
PO II, Sgt., Sgt.	144	265
PO I, S/Sgt., F/Sgt.	165	286
PO II, WO II, WO II	195	316
CP I, WO I, WO I	224	356

Under the old rates corporals and below received $3 after three years and an addition $3 after six years. Sergeants and above received $5 after three years and an additional $5 after six years.

In the new rates a private first class will get $10 additional after three years and nothing further in that rank after six years.

OFFICERS

Rank (Married)	Basic Pay	Standard Pay and Allowances
Midshipman	$117	$248
A/S Lt., 2nd Lt., P/O	185	316

CANADA PROTESTS

He noted that Clark, who was attorney-general at the time, has been named by former President Truman and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover as a key participant in the 1946 conferences which led to Mr. Truman's decision to keep White in the government despite FBI reports linking him to a Red spy network.

Hendrickson said he will urge the Senate internal security subcommittee at its next meeting Monday to "invite" Clark to testify. He is a member of the subcommittee, which is investigating the White case and other instances in which the Truman administration allegedly permitted suspected spies to remain in high federal posts.

Clark last week rejected a subpeona from the House Un-American Activities Committee on constitutional grounds, but said he would "consider" answering written questions. The House group has not taken him up on this offer, and Chirman William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) said earlier this week that the Senate subcommittee was "not ready to take up the Clark angle yet."

SPOT CHECKS BEING MADE

RCMP Cracks Down On Road Offenders

Colwood detachment of RCMP, in co-operation with the B.C. inspector of motor carriers, is cracking down on car and truck drivers who fail to comply rigidly with the law.

Not only speeding and traffic violations will bring trouble to motorists, according to an official of the detachment. Trucks will be "spot checked" to make sure they carry the required flares and flags; and that windshield wipers, rear view mirrors and all other requirements of the law are met.

The official expressed appreciation to motorists who report violations by trucks. "These reports are always followed up," he said.

He said there had been several accidents recently because truck drivers failed to pull their vehicles completely off the road when making deliveries.

Police also plan a renewed drive against drivers of private cars who break the traffic laws.

BLUE GOOSE

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—For the first time on record, a blue goose has been sighted here. Miss Ruth Schumaker, member of a bird club, spotted the unusual visitor to the Berkshires. The blue goose, smaller than the Canada goose, with a bluish head and neck, breeds on Baffin Island in the Far North, spends its winter in Louisiana, and rarely is sighted in the east.

CAMPBELL RIVER—About 20 persons from the Campbell River area attended Wednesday night a showing of films on Russia, by Mrs. F. Durland, Vancouver, a recent visitor to the Soviet nation. The meeting was arranged by the Canadian-Friendship Society. Mrs. Durland advocated development of pen-pal relationships between Canadian and Russian children to foster better understanding between the two nations.

STUDENTS GET FACTS OF LIFE

Altar Bound? Well - - - I Dunno

By DAVID ANDERSON

Anyone can tastefully furnish a three-room flat for $1,800 . . . anyone with $1,800, that is.

Victoria High School students of effective living heard David Oliphant, draper and decorator, talk on furnishing problems Wednesday.

It doesn't cost much to learn something about color schemes. A basic knowledge of harmonies is the secret, Mr. Oliphant said.

He illustrated pictorially how identical rooms, painted in different ways, gave the illusion of changed shape and dimensions.

Then he talked about costs. Romantically - inclined young gentlemen fingered what was left of their allowances thoughtfully when they learned that $1,800 should suitably and comfortably furnish a three-room flat.

But that sum provided only furniture, rugs, drapes and decoration . . . neither stove, washing machine nor electric refrigerator.

Mr. Oliphant allocated $1,000 to the living room, $350 of the total for a chesterfield suite and $250 for rugs. In the bedroom he spent $600. In the kitchen $200 for linoleum, drapes and a chrome suite.

Mr. Oliphant's figures were approximate. Depending on the size of rooms and the social activities of the occupants that $1,800 figure might go up or down.

WINS U.S. AWARD Flt.-Lieut. Grant H. Nichols, 28, of Sarnia, Ont., was one of four RCAF jet fighter pilots to receive U.S. air medals for "distinguished combat operations in Korea." The quartet was among the RCAF pilots who flew F-86 Sabre jets against Communist MIG-15 planes over Northern Korea while on exchange duty with U.S. air force.

Japanese Baloon Bomb Found in B.C.

EDMONTON (CP) — A Japanese aerial bomb, one of a number released against North America by balloon during the Second World War, has been exploded near the abandoned settlement of Centreville in northern British Columbia, Western Army Command said today.

Liberal MP Asks $5 Million Subsidy for Merchant Fleet

OTTAWA (CP) — A Liberal member from the Maritimes Thursday suggested the government provide $5,000,000 a year in subsidies to help maintain a Canadian merchant fleet of at least 50 vessels.

S. R. Balcom, member for Halifax, said in the Commons that Canada should have the nucleus of a merchant marine in case of emergency. A merchant fleet was the backbone of seapower, he said, and its loss would reduce Canada to the status of a second-rate, dependent power, with no means of supplying its forces overseas in case of war.

Speaking in the Throne speech debate, he said there were 215 ships under the Canadian flag in 1947. By June 30 this year, he said, the number had been reduced to 39.

Mr. Balcom said the high cost of operating Canadian ships made it impossible for them to compete with foreign vessels, that it cost $100,000 more a year to run a Canadian merchantman than a similar British vessel, the major factor being crews' wages.

On this basis, the government could help maintain a fleet of 50 ships by providing $5,000,000 a year in subsidies, he said.

A week ago, Transport Minister Chevrier announced government rejection of a request for operting subsidies made by the Canadian Shipowners' Association.

Mr. Balcom also suggested more federal aid for civil defense. He said such target areas as Halifax-Dartmouth should receive special consideration and that civil defense should be tied more closely to operations of the three armed forces.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's. 54

Four Die in U.S. Air Crash

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—A B-29 plane crashed at Biggs Air Force Base here today, killing four men. The plane crashed on a landing attempt.

The four-engined plane was flying a target-towing mission. Four other airmen were injured in the crash.

U.S. Air Force officials said the crash occurred as the aircraft set down on one runway at the base. It burst into flames.

Lieut. Don Atwater, public information officer at the air base, said the plane apparently had difficulty with its landing gear and only one wheel was down when it hit the runway.

Seattle Tug Reaches Freighter

SEATTLE (AP) — Coast Guard headquarters reported Friday the Seattle tug Agnes Foss reached the disabled freighter Margo about 9 a.m. some 1,100 miles off the Oregon coast.

Heavy seas kicked up by 25 to 40 miles-an-hour winds hampered efforts of the tug to get a line aboard the Margo, which lost a propeller a week ago inbound to Portland.

Originally Planned Suicide

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—Georges Hebert, 40-year-old laborer who killed his four children with an axe last April, originally planned to take his own life after the slayings, a "suicide" note introduced at his trial disclosed today.

"My wife has gone and wants to take my children away from me and I have promised that she shall never have the children," the note said. "I prefer to die right away with my children than stay on this earth and always suffer." (See story, Page 26.)

B.C. Reports Teacher Shortage

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rural areas in Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia continue to be plagued with a shortage of qualified teachers, delegates said today at the fifth annual western conference of the Canadian Teachers' Federation.

"We have a shortage of 500 teachers in rural sections of Manitoba," said Adrian Ashley, vice-president of the Manitoba Teachers' Society.

Europe Army Backed By U.K. Says Bidault

PARIS (UP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, in a stirring appeal for French approval of the European army plan, told the National Assembly today that Great Britain has agreed to link itself by treaty to the six-nation European defense community.

The frail and ailing Bidault, who had worked throughout the night to complete his speech, faltered and paled midway through his three-hours long text and was assisted from the assembly chamber.

His foreign office deputy, Maurice Schumann, completed reading the address to the packed chamber.

Bidault's disclosure that Britain has agreed to link herself formally with the EDC answered the complaints of many French deputies who have objected to the army plan largely because of Britain's refusal to ally herself closely to the European army.

Until now Britain has insisted that her commonwealth commitments made it impossible to tie herself militarily to the continent. Bidault's disclosure thus marked a major policy switch by Britain.

The Assembly is expected to vote on EDC on Tuesday.

FBI CLAIM MYSTERY TO ST. LAURENT

OTTAWA (BUP) — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said today that to his knowledge no Canadian official had ever given the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation "any information" about Harry Dexter White.

The prime minister promised the House of Commons that a full statement on the case would be made soon.

Culpable Neglect

An inquest jury investigating the death of three men in a Malahat car crash Nov. 10 found truck driver John Keith Dewar, who survived the collision, showed culpable neglect in a verdict returned this afternoon.

It added a recommendation that all such trailer-trucks as he was driving be equipped with a system of synchronized truck and trailer brakes. (See story on Page 17 for evidence presented at inquest).

CANADA PROTESTS U.S. REVELATION

Ottawa Linked to U.S. Spy Probe by FBI Letter; Ambasador Makes Inquiries

WASHINGTON (UP)—Canada has protested informally about the administration's action in making public a hitherto "top secret" FBI letter that involved information from Canadian sources, it was disclosed today.

Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., declassified the FBI letter and made it public for the first time on Tuesday afternoon before the Senate internal security subcommittee at a hearing on the Harry Dexter White "spy" case.

Canadian Ambassador A. D. P. Heeney called at the State Department and "expressed surprise" over publication of "certain matters offered in testimony before a congressional hearing."

State Department press officer Henry Suydam said Heeney made some inquiries about the matter and the State Department has taken his views under consideration.

Heeney acted under instruction from his government, Suydam said.

The FBI letter which "surprised" the Canadian government was written by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover to the White House on February 4, 1946, two days before White was confirmed as U.S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund.

Hoover's letter said his confidential, highly placed sources in Canada had advised him that White, as either president of the International Bank or as an executive director, "would have the power to influence to a greater degree deliberations on all international financial arrangements."

85,000 Servants, All Services Affected

OTTAWA (CP)—Pay boosts, estimated at about $57,000,000 a year, are being granted to Canada's civil servants and armed forces personnel effective Dec. 1.

The civil service commission today announced increases to 85,000 federal employees—about 75 per cent of all classified civil servants under government employment.

Involving about 600 classes of workers in practically all federal government departments across the country, the increases were estimated to average about nine per cent and will amount, roughly, to about $30,000,000 a year.

Classifications, Page 26)

At the same time the defense department announced pay boosts for all armed forces personnel, ranging from $5 a month for the lowest rank to $100 a month for a major-general or equivalent.

These increases, amounting to roughly 10 per cent from other ranks and 8½ per cent for officers, will total about $27,000,000 annually, bringing the total civil service and defense department boosts to about $57,000,000 a year.

BIG PAY BILL

The boosts will bring the government's annual pay bill for civilian and service personnel to about $687,000,000 a year. This bill may be increased still further later.

The commission said that the remaining 25 per cent of the classified civil servants, not covered in the current increases, are "receiving immediate consideration" on salary changes.

The increases mark the first civil service salary revision and the first basic defense forces pay boost since Dec. 1, 1951.

The civil service order includes "almost all professional classes as well as most of the employees in the larger departments," the commission said.

Gets 18 Months

TORONTO (BUP) — Business man Benjamin Wul, 41, of Toronto, was sentenced to 18 months in reformatory today for trying to blackmail a Vancouver woman antique dealer by threatening to tell her husband about an "affair."

STRIKE THREAT FACES BRITAIN

LONDON (Reuters) — The government may act within the next few days to prevent a 24-hour shutdown by 2,000,000 workers in Britain's vital engineering and shipyard industries, it was learned today.

The strike, called for Dec. 2, was approved Thursday by leaders of the neutral Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions to back claims for a 1" per cent pay increase. It would be the biggest industrial stoppage since the general strike of 1926.

All-Candidate Debate Set For Monday

The stage was set today for an all-candidate debate at a Social Credit rally at the Royal Theatre next Monday night.

The debate is an upshot of a challenge by Liberal candidate George F. Gregory. He challenged Finance Minister Einar Gunderson to a debate on the government's record on a neutral platform.

Mr. Gunderson rejected the challenge because he had meetings every night this week. He made a counter-proposal that all candidates participate in a debate, under an impartial chairman, at the Socreds' final rally next Monday.

In a letter to Mr. Gunderson, accepting the invitation, Mr. Gregory said:

"I have attacked you from the platform and over the radio for what you have done as minister of finance. But for you as an individual I have the very highest regard.

"You have assured me of a fair hearing, and I accept your assurance without question."

Mr. Gregory asked Mr. Gunderson to inform him of the agenda for the debate.

U.S. Spikes Kidnappers' Plans to Wed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The government today quickly spiked the possibility of a death-house marriage for the condemned kidnap-killers of little Bobby Greenlease.

Carl Austin Hall, 34-year-old play boy, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old alcoholic, sentenced Thursday to die Dec. 18 for their crime, both were quoted as saying they wanted to marry.

The justice department announced in Washington that such a marriage will not be permitted.

Hall and his paramour will be executed side-by-side in the two-chair gas chamber at the Missouri state prison in Jefferson City as soon as possible after 12.01 a.m. CST Dec. 18.

They showed little emotion Thursday as they heard a federal judge, carrying out a jury's recommendation, sentence them to die.

But an Espiscopal priest who visited them later said the kidnappers appeared remorseful.

APPEAL UNLIKELY

There is a small chance of an appeal against the death sentence. Roy Dietrich, court-appointed counsel for Hall, said he saw nothing to warrant appealing the decision of Judge Albert L. Reeves.

NO ONE LEFT TO STAB HER

He Gave Carmen the Aria And Headed for the Showers

CHICAGO (UP)—A temperamental tenor, who stopped in mid-aria during a performance of "Carmen," stalked off the stage and left the startled heroine with no one to stab her, apologized today "for this bitter thing I have done."

It was, perhaps, the first time in the history of opera that Carmen ever died of natural causes.

Near the climax of the fourth and final act of Bizet's masterpiece, Thursday night, tenor David Poleri of the New York City Opera Company stopped singing and shouted "Finish the opera yourself."

The stunned audience was silent as Poleri, who was appearing in the role of Don Jose, stalked off the stage.

The most dismayed person in the huge Civic Opera House, however, was soprano Gloria Lane, appearing as Carmen.

In a memorable display of showmanship she limped on to the climax and final curtain, singing to an absent hero and falling dead with no one to slay her.

Miss Lane even managed to keep a straight face when she sang "leave me, Don Jose." By this time Don Jose already had gone to the showers.

The feud that touched off Poleri's departure was between the tenor and Joseph Rosenstock, conductor and general director of the New York company, which is here for an extended series of performances.

As Miss Lane later put it, "the tenor was in one tempo and the conductor was in another." Poleri addressed his remarks to Rosenstock in the orchestra pit.

Canada Protests U.S. Revelation

"SURPRISED"

Heeney acted under instruction from his government, Suydam said.

The FBI letter which "surprised" the Canadian government was written by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover to the White House on February 4, 1946, two days before White was confirmed as U.S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund.

Hoover's letter said his confidential, highly placed sources in Canada had advised him that White, as either president of the International Bank or as an executive director, "would have the power to influence to a greater degree deliberations on all international financial arrangements."

Hoover's letter also said:

"This (Canadian) source, which is apparently aware of at least some of the charges incorporated in the attached memorandum against White, commented that the loyalty of White must be assured, particularly in view of the fact that the USSR has not ratified the Bretton Woods agreement.

FEAR EXPRESSED

"Fear was expressed that facts might come to light in the future throwing some sinister accusations at White and thereby jeopardize the successful operation of these important international financial institutions."

Hoover's letter said the "comments" on White "originated with sources high placed in the Canadian government."

Meanwhile, Rep. Morgan Moulder (D., Mo.), a member of the House un-American activities committee, protested against the group's decision to call off questioning of former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in the White case. An un-American activities subcommittee had planned to go to South Carolina to hear Byrnes, who declined to honor a subpoena "commanding" him to appear in Washington.

Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R., N.J.), a member of the Senate internal security subcommittee which has taken over the White and related espionage investigations, called on Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark to come forward voluntarily to tell what he knows about handling of the White case.

AND BETTER RED-EYE

Operators Want Music in Pubs

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's hotel owners want music for their beer parlor patrons and a better system of serving them "red eye."

In resolutions passed Thursday by the annual meeting of the B.C. Hotels' Association, the hotelmen recommended that "controlled mechanical music be allowed in public houses for the benefit and enjoyment of patrons."

Under present regulations, all forms of entertainment, including music, are prohibited.

Another resolution asked that beer parlors be allowed to serve a customer with one glass tomato juice with two glasses of beer.

Existing rules, which stipulate that patrons can be served a maximum of only two glasses at a time, mean that patrons must take one glass of tomato juice to one glass of beer, the hotelmen said.

They said many customers did not want their "red eye" mixtures to contain 50 per cent tomato juice.

At the same time the defense department announced pay boosts for all armed forces personnel, ranging from $5 a month for the lowest rank to $100 a month for a major-general or equivalent.

These increases, amounting to roughly 10 per cent from other ranks and 8½ per cent for officers, will total about $27,000,000 annually, bringing the total civil service and defense department boosts to about $57,000,000 a year.

BIG PAY BILL

The boosts will bring the government's annual pay bill for civilian and service personnel to about $687,000,000 a year. This bill may be increased still further later.

The commission said that the remaining 25 per cent of the classified civil servants, not covered in the current increases, are "receiving immediate consideration" on salary changes.

The increases mark the first civil service salary revision and the first basic defense forces pay boost since Dec. 1, 1951.

The civil service order includes "almost all professional classes as well as most of the employees in the larger departments," the commission said.

All-Candidate Debate Set For Monday

The stage was set today for an all-candidate debate at a Social Credit rally at the Royal Theatre next Monday night.

The debate is an outshot of a challenge by Liberal candidate George F. Gregory. He challenged Finance Minister Einar Gunderson to a debate on the government's record on a neutral platform.

Mr. Gunderson rejected the challenge because he had meetings every night this week. He made a counter-proposal that all candidates participate in a debate, under an impartial chairman, at the Socreds' final rally next Monday.

In a letter to Mr. Gunderson, accepting the invitation, Mr. Gregory said:

"I have attacked you from the platform and over the radio for what you have done as minister of finance. But for you as an individual I have the very highest regard.

"You have assured me of a fair hearing, and I accept your assurance without question."

Mr. Gregory asked Mr. Gunderson to inform him of the agenda for the debate.

U.S. Spikes Kidnappers' Plans to Wed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The government today quickly spiked the possibility of a death-house marriage for the condemned kidnap-killers of little Bobby Greenlease.

Carl Austin Hall, 34-year-old play boy, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old alcoholic, sentenced Thursday to die Dec. 18 for their crime, both were quoted as saying they wanted to marry.

The justice department announced in Washington that such a marriage will not be permitted.

Hall and his paramour will be executed side-by-side in the two-chair gas chamber at the Missouri state prison in Jefferson City as soon as possible after 12.01 a.m. CST Dec. 18.

They showed little emotion Thursday as they heard a federal judge, carrying out a jury's recommendation, sentence them to die.

But an Espiscopal priest who visited them later said the kidnappers appeared remorseful.

APPEAL UNLIKELY

There is a small chance of an appeal against the death sentence. Roy Dietrich, court-appointed counsel for Hall, said he saw nothing to warrant appealing the decision of Judge Albert L. Reeves.

Wedding Anniversary Brings Warm Wishes

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh observed their sixth wedding anniversary quietly today preparing for their six-month tour around the world.

The Queen requested that it be a quiet day so she could attend to some important family details before they depart Monday to resume the tour interrupted by the death of her father.

Members of parliament joined in wishing the Royal couple Godspeed Thursday and with their wives went to Buckingham Palace tonight for the traditional eve of departure sherry party.

CRUCIAL FRENCH VOTE TONIGHT

European Army Backed By U.K. Says Bidault

PARIS (UP — Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, in a stirring appeal for French approval of the European army plan, told the national assembly today that Great Britain has agreed to link itself by treaty to the six-nation European defense community.

The frail and ailing Bidault, who had worked throughout the night to complete his speech, faltered and paled midway through his three-hours long text and was assisted from the assembly chamber.

His foreign office deputy, Maurice Schumann, completed reading the address to the packed chamber.

Bidault's disclosure that Britain has agreed to link herself formally with the EDC answered the complaints of many French deputies who have objected to the army plan largely because of Britain's refusal to ally themselves closely to the European army.

Until now Britain has insisted that her commonwealth commitments made it impossible to tie herself militarily to the continent. Bidault's disclosure thus marked a major policy switch by Britain.

"The negotiations carried out by the interim committee," the foreign minister said, "have led our English friends to reconsider their position that their envisaged association (with EDC) should be merely a unilateral declaration, but should lead to a treaty between the United Kingdom and the member states of the EDC and binding the military commitments made by Great Britain in Europe to its co-operation with the EDC," Bidault said.

Socialist deputies who have led the fight for such an association between Britain and the European defense community hailed the announcement as "highly pleasing."

Bidault's masterful presentation of his case was interrupted when he apparently was seized

Last Link in Highway Outlet Under Way Before Christmas

enders have been called for construction of the second portion of Victoria's new Island Highway outlet, Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi said today.

The six-mile stretch from Burnside to Goldstream will complete the project.

Work will start before Christmas. Deadline for bids is Dec. 4.

Completion of the job will take about 18 months. Engineers report a considerable amount of rock removal will be necessary.

Work on the first portion, from city limits to Burnside Road, is rapidly reaching completion.

The outlet is being built to Trans-Canada Highway standards, and half the cost paid by the federal government. The pavement will be 24 feet wide, with 10-foot shoulders.

Here's a rough description of the route of the second section:

The highway will go over the CNR track, head up towards Thetis Lake, passing it at the south end, then go in a fairly direct line through virgin country across Millstream Road and Brock Road.

It then will skirt the south end of Florence Lake and proceed through a saddle just north of the highway along the side of Langford Lake. The new road will join the old in the vicinity of the berry farm at Goldstream.

Only 34 Out At Advance Poll

Only 34 Victorians turned out Thursday to vote in the advance poll at the YMCA for the Nov. 24 by-election.

The poll is for persons who will be out of town on election day.

Voting is from 1 to 9 p.m., today and Saturday.

Culpable Neglect

An inquest jury investigating the death of three men in a Malahat car crash Nov. 10 found truck driver John Keith Dewar, who survived the collision, showed culpable neglect in a verdict returned this afternoon.

It added a recommendation that all such trailer-trucks as he was driving be equipped with a system of synchronized truck and trailer brakes. (See story on page 17).

STRIKE THREAT FACES BRITAIN

LONDON (Reuters) — The government may act within the next few days to prevent a 24-hour shutdown by 2,000,000 workers in Britain's vital engineering and shipyard industries, it was learned today.

The strike, called for Dec. 2, was approved Thursday by leaders of the neutral Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions to back claims for a 15 per cent pay increase. It would be the biggest industrial stoppage since the general strike of 1926.

He Gave Carmen the Aria And Headed for the Showers

CHICAGO (UP)—A temperamental tenor, who stopped in mid-aria during a performance of "Carmen," stalked off the stage and left the startled heroine with no one to stab her, apologized today "for this bitter thing I have done."

It was, perhaps, the first time in the history of opera that Carmen ever died of natural causes.

Near the climax of the fourth and final act of Bizet's masterpiece, Thursday night, tenor David Poleri of the New York City Opera Company stopped singing and shouted "Finish the opera yourself."

The stunned audience was silent as Poleri, who was appearing in the role of Don Jose, stalked off the stage.

The most dismayed person in the huge Civic Opera House, however, was soprano Gloria Lane, appearing as Carmen.

In a memorable display of showmanship she limped on to the climax and final curtain, singing to an absent hero and falling dead with no one to slay her.

Miss Lane even managed to keep a straight face when she sang "leave me, Don Jose." By this time Don Jose already had gone to the showers.

Earlier in the day the opera company was faced with another crisis when its leading soprano quit her job because she was "scared to death of the Chicago critics."

The feud that touched off Poleri's departure was between the tenor and Joseph Rosenstock, conductor and general director of the New York company, which is here for an extended series of performances.

As Miss Lane later put it, "the tenor was in one tempo and the conductor was in another." Poleri addressed his remarks to Rosenstock in the orchestra pit.

"Impossible behavior," fumed Rosenstock after the opera. "An insult to the public and other performers."

He did not indicate whether he would fire Poleri.

The distraught tenor repented at his hotel.

"If I, only in some way, could apologize to the public for this bitter thing I have done," he said.

"It has always been my intention, and my only intention, to sing, sing, sing!" he said. "The frame of mind between conductor and performer is something I can't explain at this moment."

During Miss Lane's enforced solo another tenor offstage finally took up the aria and sang Poleri's part from the wings.
